CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — A powerful Dutch Mill Telestars Fayette daughter topped the 11th annual Blue Halter Calf and Bred Heifer Sale at the Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders' Association's Convention.

Penn Del Fayette Gail, a tall two-year-old, brought $12,200 to consignors Raymond F. and Louise A. Witmer of Penn Del Farm, Willow Street.

"This was the highest price in at least 20 years," said auctioneer John Merryman of Sparks, Maryland.

Gail is backed by two generations of excellent dams, a 90 point dam and a 90 point granddam. She was purchased by Bud Hamilton for John DuPont of Liseter Farm, Newtown Square.

The highest-selling calf was Walnut Lane Frank, a nine-month-old Spring Walk B T Frank SAYRE (Bradford Co.) — Component milk pricing is at the heart of two resolutions approved Friday by the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Jersey Cattle Club during its annual meeting here.

Additionally, the organization awarded its first scholarship and presented a number of production and activity awards. The group also re-elected its officers to another one-year term.

About 150 members attended the meeting, out of the 183 paid members in Pennsylvania.

According to David Norman, secretary-treasurer, the Jersey Cattle Club passed resolutions in

PFA Pushes For Deposit On Cans, Bottles

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Farmers are tired of picking up trash in their fields — bottles and cans — that can disrupt or destroy their equipment and create hazards to farming.

"Agriculture has been taking it on the chin as far as the bottle and can issue is concerned," said Keith W. Eckel, president of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association (PFA), at a banquet Monday night.

The banquet capped off a day in which members of PFA met with county legislators to address vital farm issues. Eckel spoke to more than 600 farm leaders and legislators about the need for bottle and can recycling legislation, Senate Bill 1360.

PFA is urging the passage of the bill, which would place the bottle deposit issue before the voters in a nonbinding statewide referendum.

Ayrshire Breeders See Bright Future

GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

LEWISTOWN (Mifflin Co.) — The first Pennsylvania Ayrshire Convention was held March 30-31 at the Holiday Inn in Lewistown.

On Friday night, events began with a banquet followed by the crowning of the Pennsylvania Ayrshire Princess. Heather Becker from Narvon Valley Farms was voted to represent Pennsylvania Ayrshire Breeders as their dairy princess. Amy Wolfgang from Bechtelsville will serve as alternate.

Mr. Richard Witter, president of Taurus Service Inc., spoke to the 87 attending Ayrshire breeders of the positive things happening in the Ayrshire business.

He emphasized the good genetics of the breed, pointing out that "when you look at the average of all Ayrshire bulls, all active bulls,

Pennsylvania Poultry Industry Prepares For Banquet

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Tom Bross, III, president of Round Hill Foods, Inc., and Don Horn, president of Pennfield Corporation, report that plans are completed for the largest poultry banquet in the Northeast. Bross and Horn are serving as co-chairmen of the banquet this year. Close to 2,000 poultry industry people and their suppliers are expected to gather on May 3, 1990, at the Hershey Convention Center for the gala event. The banquet co-chairmen report that careful planning has always been the key to the success of this annual fund raising banquet.

Some 50 salespeople and their spouses actually test the meal and review the entertainment six months prior to the night of the banquet. If all is not right - changes are made. Guests who purchase entire tables receive maps of the table location in advance and are also assisted by table signs dis-

Beef Expo: Good News For Producers

BY JUDY PATTON
Centre Co. Correspondent

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Two highlights of the first Pennsylvania Beef Expo in State College March 28-April 1 were the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association (PCA) Banquet and the Performance Tested Bull Sale.

Dr. Helen Wise, department chief of programs in the Pennsylvania governor's office, spoke at the 16th annual PCA Banquet March 29 at the Penn State Days Inn.

Citing a 15 percent growth in Pennsylvania cattle production in the last three years, Wise listed three initiatives in state agriculture programs she believes will help continue the growth trend:

- The Animal Health Commission, which will identify health problems, oversee research money allocation and facility renovation, and revamp testing and vaccination programs.
- Improvement of ag product processing and marketing as part of the state's economic development program.
- Awarding grants under the Farmland Preservation Act.

Other issues involving the state government important to farmers, said Wise, are having clean water for livestock and guaranteeing food safety for consumers.

John Zimmerman, Marysville, presented the Cattleman of the Year Awards. Glenn Eberly, Bellefonte, won the Commercial Cattleman of the Year title. Eberly is the current PCA president and is an active sales manager and auctioneer in the central Pennsylvania area. He also received the Top Hand Award for the second consecutive year for recruiting the most new members, 14, to PCA.

Prices were unchanged to lower. Trading was spotty and usually fill-in. Buyers were cautious and although inquiring, most were not ready to make commitments. Raw materials were readily available but further processors worked limited schedules as they attempted to fill orders without building inventories.

Northeast Chicken Parts

Wednesday, April 4, 1990

Trucklot buying interest was limited. Seller offerings of skinned boneless breasts were fully adequate. Whole breasts, particularly line run, increased in availability and were generally adequate to fully adequate. Leg items were readily available and offerings were noted on leg quarters in the upper 20's for prompt delivery. Wings were tighter as demand increased and sellers generally held stocks with confidence. Thighs remained closely cleared at 38 to 39 while drums were fully adequate at 36 to 37 cents. Giblets were fully adequate.

Delmarva Broiler Fryer Report

Wednesday, April 4, 1990

Movement of ready-to-cook whole fryers was generally fair and about as expected for a Wednesday. Supplies were adequate for current needs. Less than trucklot asking prices were steady at 55-64 cents. Live supplies were adequate with average live weights in a desirable range. Processor schedules were moderately heavy. The trade sentiment was generally steady. In the parts complex, supplies of whole breasts were in close balance, cutlets were at least adequate, dark meat items were fully adequate for the sluggish buyer interest, and wings were about adequate but improved buyer inquiries were noted.

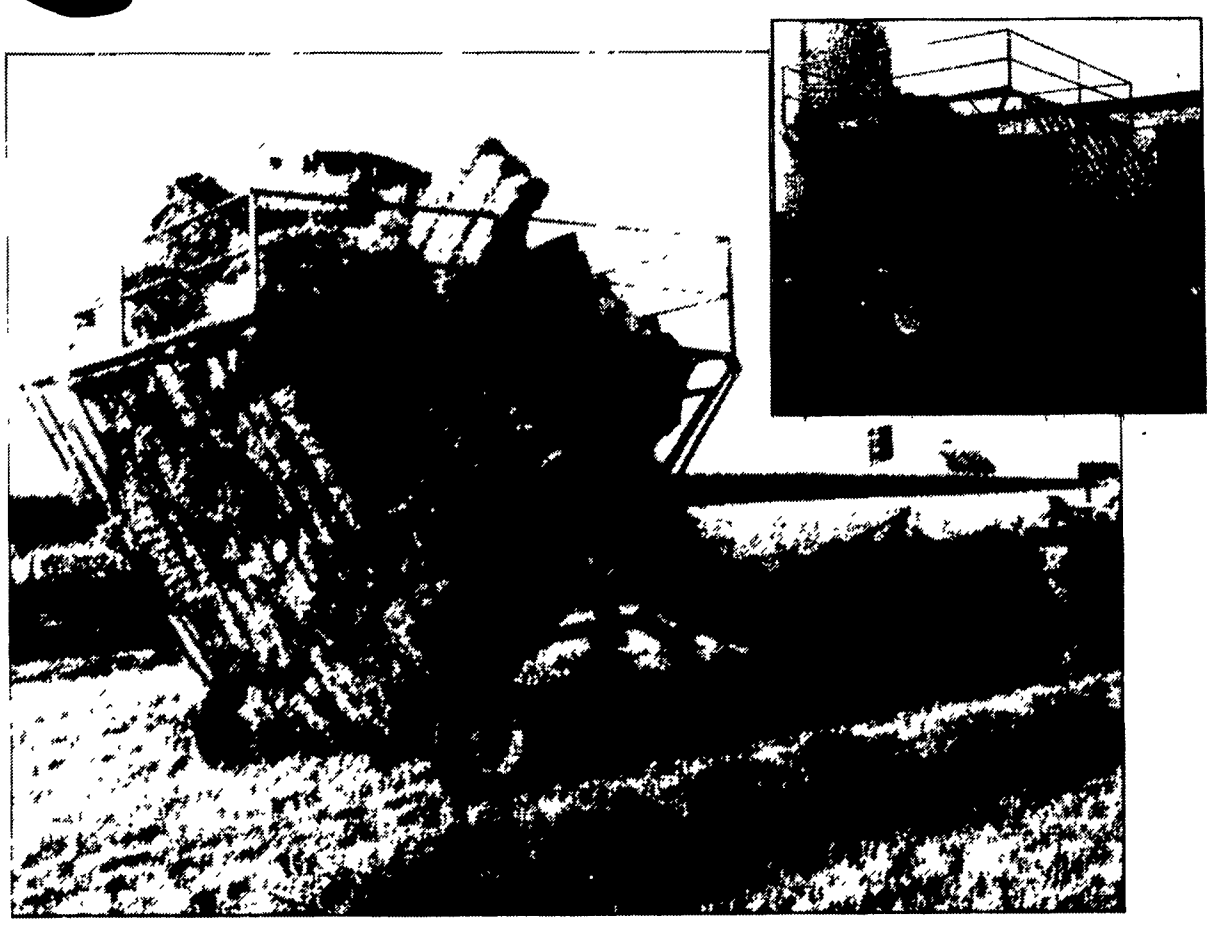
ONE OF A KIND IN ITS FIELD

AGRI-LINK

HAY BASKET



THE PRACTICAL WAY TO HANDLE SQUARE BALES FROM THE FIELD TO THE BARN.

ADVANTAGES OF "HAYBASKET"

- Reduces baling time by up to one-half since you can unload at the barn with the flip of a lever.
- Reduce the number of broken bales caused by a bale thrower.
- Eliminate maintenance cost of a kicker/thrower.
- If you presently are not using a kicker or need a new baler, eliminate the entire cost of a kicker.
- Eliminate the aggravation and back breaking labor of unloading tangled, wedged bales from a slippery floor three feet off the ground.
- Replace three hay wagons with two haybaskets since unloading time is so fast.
- Eliminate the "Swaying" problem with 4 wheel wagons on the road. Increase transport speed.
- The Haybasket acts like a "Two-Wheel" Trailer. Since the front wheel casters, it is easy to maneuver.
- The Haybasket is priced close enough to a new kicker wagon that it is very affordable.

QUESTIONS MOST FREQUENTLY ASKED.

- HOW MANY BALES DOES IT HOLD?
  The Haybasket will hold from 95-100 full size bales.
- WHAT ABOUT CORNERS?
  Owners report that they can follow average raked corners with no problem. One owner said he can make a 90 degree turn.
- WHAT ABOUT HILLS?
  With a 10' Wheelbase and a very low center of gravity the haybasket is much more stable on hillsides than a wagon with a 72" treadwidth and high center of gravity.
- WHERE CAN I GET ONE?
  Your local equipment dealer can supply you with a haybasket. Ask him for details on pricing and availability.

For more information return the coupon to the address listed and check the appropriate box.

☐ Send me literature and the name of my nearest haybasket dealer.

☐ Send me a VHS tape ($10. Plus C.O.D. Charges) and literature on the haybasket.

National Grain Market

St. Joseph, Mo.
Wednesday, April 4, 1990

USDA DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN MARKET SUMMARY GRAIN PRICES MOSTLY HIGHER ON WEDNESDAY AS FUTURES PRICES CONTINUED TO RISE. WHEAT PRICES MIXED, MOSTLY HIGHER AS OLD CROP STOCKS TIGHTENED AND CONCERN CONTINUED OF FROST DAMAGE IN THE PRODUCING AREAS. CORN PRICES MOVED HIGHER SUPPORTED BY GOOD EXPORT DEMAND AND BUYING STRENGTH. SOYBEANS CLOSED SHAPRLY HIGHER SUPPORTED BY TECHNICAL BUYING AND STRENGTH IN MEAL AND OIL.

EXPORT NEWS: SALES WERE REPORTED OF 100,000 TONNES OF U.S. CORN TO UNKNOWN DESTINATIONS FOR DELIVERY DURING THE 1989-90 MARKETING YEAR WHICH BEGAN SEP. 1.

WEATHER: UNITED STATES: RAIN AGAIN SLOWED FIELDWORK IN THE SOUTHERN GREAT PLAINS, DELTA AND SOUTHEAST. RAIN ADDED TO SOIL MOISTURE SUPPLIES IN PORTIONS OF THE CORN BELT. LACK OF MOISTURE STRESSED WINTER WHEAT AND PASTURES IN THE NORTHERN GREAT PLAINS AND PORTIONS OF THE WEST. USSR: WINTER GRAINS CONTINUE BREAKING DORMANCY. SPRING GRAIN PLANTING IS UNDERWAY IN THE SOUTH. EUROPE: MUCH NEEDED RAIN REDUCES DRYNESS FOR WINTER GRAINS IN SECTIONS OF THE SOUTH. SOUTH ASIA: DRIER WEATHER HELPS NORTHERN WHEAT. RAINFALL BENEFITS EASTERN RICE AREAS BUT CAUSES LOCAL FLOODING. EASTERN ASIA: WIDESPREAD RAIN COVERS ALL BUT NORTHERN CHINESE CROP AREAS. UNSEASONABLE WARM AND DRY WEATHER ALLOWS SPRING FIELDWORK IN MANCHURIA. SOUTHEAST ASIA: HOT, DRY WEATHER RETURNS TO THAILAND. SOUTH AMERICA: PERIODIC SHOWERS CONTINUE TO SLOW EARLY HARVESTING THROUGHOUT ARGENTINA AND SOUTH CENTRAL BRAZIL. SOUTH AFRICA: DRIER WEATHER FAVORS MATURING CORN. HEAVY RAIN COVERS NATAL'S SUGAR, CAUSING LOCAL FLOODING. AUSTRALIA: HEAVY RAIN ALLEVIATES DRYNESS BUT CAUSES FLOODING AND HARVEST DELAYS IN EASTERN QUEENSLAND. NORTHWESTERN AFRICA: BENEFICIAL RAIN FALLS OVER MOST CROP AREAS, EASING PROLONGED MOISTURE STRESS. HOWEVER, SUBFREEZING TEMPERATURES MAY HURT CROPS IN ALGERIA.

Ask the Old Farmer: An old Down Easter living down here in Florida carries a small canvas bag containing his food, thermos, shells, etc , on fishing and hunting trips Why does he call this his "wanagan"? L.W , Fla

"Wanagan" — Algonquin Indian. It meant a traveling institution — chest, bag, kitchen, houseboat, but especially a grub bag

Home Hints: To counteract the "cabbage smell," place one whole walnut (shell and all) in the pot while cooking The walnut will absorb the odor

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Rain, with snow in the North Country, then clearing, but look out! Cold snap, followed by rain and snow. There's still a long way to go.

Greater New York-New Jersey: Warmer as the rains clear, then cooler turning to cold and rainy. Better days are here as sunny skies appear.

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Rain in the north, then sunny and warm changing to rain and cool, finishing warm. That's what we call "variable."

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: Still cloudy with rain in the west A warming trend settles in, but brings more showers. It's April, after all.

OPINION

Fight Growing Tractor Theft Problem

Theft of agricultural and construction equipment is estimated to be a nearly $1 billion annual nightmare. And the ramifications on individual farmers and contractors can be devastating -- putting some out of business permanently or severely affecting their bottom line as they try to recoup the loss without all of the tools of their trade.

A concerted effort among law enforcement officials, industry associations, manufacturers, equipment dealers, contractors and farmers is critical to stemming this debilitating crime wave.

With theft prevention a front burner issue, we can collectively communicate and demonstrate to thieves that heavy equipment theft is not a safe business for them. This requires every person and organization affected by equipment theft to proactively take measures to discourage these crimes.

A main deterrent to equipment theft is the certainty of apprehension. If thieves know they are likely to get caught, they are less likely to attempt the crime. And there are a number of proactive measures that can be taken by individuals and organizations to ensure that equipment theft is perceived as an increasingly risky business.

All the major farm equipment manufacturers now have hot lines to help farmer's and dealers with the problem. But the farmer must be prepared before the on farm theft occurres. Here are some ways to stop theft of farm equipment:

Use security devices offered by equipment manufacturers and after-market distributors to help prevent theft. Ignition locks, stabilizer arm locks and fuel shut-off valves can be effective and are small investments compared to the sizeable investment they protect.

Record your equipment's Product Identification Number (PIN) and all component and attachment serial numbers on a document, and keep the document in a safe and accessible place.

Take pictures of your equipment, making sure to photograph features that are unique to your machine, like dents, scratches and decals. They can help identify your equipment if it is stolen.

Put decals on your machine that offer rewards for stolen equipment or indicate that there are hidden or recorded identification numbers. If they make just one thief think twice, they may save your business.

Avoid leaving equipment in remote or unlit areas that are away from public view — easy targets for thieves.

Take frequent inventories of your equipment. Know the location of your machines at all times.

Take extra precautions on weekends. Studies show that 90% of all equipment thefts take place between 6 p.m. Friday and 6 a.m. Monday.

Never leave keys in equipment — even if it's parked next to a police station! Not only do you make it easy for a thief to take the machine in which he finds the keys, but you can also put an entire fleet in jeopardy since keys will often fit similar pieces of equipment.

And don't forget the obvious — lock your machine up whenever it's idle!

NOW IS THE TIME

To Check Pastures

Before turning cattle or other livestock out onto pastures each spring, a little time should be taken to check the condition of the pasture. Winter storms and the activities of man can be hard on pasture fences. A complete check of the fence line will reveal those broken or missing sections of wire, trees across the fence which would allow livestock to simply walk out of the pasture, and other problems associated with the fence. If a single or double strand of electric fence is used to confine livestock, a close look for objects which would short the system is also necessary.

Those sections of the pasture which are located along property lines or roads should also be checked carefully for foreign objects which could be hazardous to livestock. Look for glass, metal, and plastic objects which have been discarded by passing motorists. Another category of objects to be on the lookout for is shrubbery trimmings and tree branches. Many of the plant parts are toxic to cattle and sheep. Your city neighbors may think they are helping you feed your livestock, but in reality, they may be killing them.

To Control Weeds In Pastures

A variety of weeds will grow in pastures, some may even provide some nutrition to livestock. One weed which is a problem for dairy cows on pasture is wild garlic or onion because of the flavor it gives milk. That flavor is a less than desirable flavor for many people. Both can be controlled along with many other broad leaf weeds by the use of Banvel or 2,4-D or a combination of these materials. Treatment should be done in advance of the pasture season with careful consideration for the number of days between the application of the herbicide and the start of pasturing. According to the Pennsylvania "Agronomy Guide, 1989-1990" the following restrictions apply: 2,4-D Amine, 7 days for dairy cows; 2,4-D Ester, 7 days for all livestock; and Banvel, 7 days if less than 1 pint per acre is used; up to 60 days if over 4 pints is used for lactating dairy animals. Always read and follow all label directions when applying pesticides.

To Sign-up For 1990 Acreage Reduction Program

Lancaster County farmers have until April 13 to sign-up in the 1990 ASCS Acreage Reduction Program. In order to receive benefits, producers must reduce their corn and barley plantings by 10% of their crop acreage base. The limitation for wheat and oat acreage is 5% of those crops acreage base. Farmers participating in the program are eligible for benefits to include crop loans and the purchase and payments for the 1990 crop.

Participants in the acreage reduction program must devote eligible cropland to Conservation Reserve. The acreage must be protected from wind and water erosion throughout the year. Crops cannot be harvested from diverted acreage.

Producers may request an advance portion of the projected deficiency payment at sign-up which is payable in cash. The advance will be made on the basis of 40% of the projected total deficiency payment. Additional program details are available at the ASCS Office.

Farm Forum

Editor,

I am expressing my support of the opinion presented by Ron Frederick in your last issue of the Lancaster Farming. As a teacher of Vocational Agriculture for 20 years in Pennsylvania, I have seen many changes. Most of these occurring when Agriculture was securing a firm grip on being Pennsylvanias number one industry and employer.

I have had the opportunity to spearhead many meetings with Bureau of Vocational Education Directors, Secretaries of Education and Legislators in Pennsylvania about the diminishing importance of Agriculture Education to

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

LEARNING TO DIE

April 8, 1990

Background Scripture: John 19: 17-42

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 52:13 through 53:12.

Leonard da Vinci is reported to have said shortly before his death, "All these years I thought I was learning to live, but instead I have been learning to die." Actually, a Christian must learn to do both. That may seem somewhat ironic, because it is obvious that we die, ready or not. But the question has never been if we die, but how.

That is what makes the death of Jesus so different and instructive for us. Here was a man who knew both how to live in a way that was different and to die in a manner that was unique. As Jesus refused to play by the world's rules in his ife, so he also refused to play by the world's rules in death. Although he was condemned to die, he died, not as a victim, but as a victor.

STILL IN CHARGE

Look at his last moments on earth. Although he hangs nailed to a cross, it seems to me that he is still in charge - if not of others, at least himself and the situation. Crucifixion was an extremely painful way to die. Nevertheless, in the midst of the pain, Jesus was enough in control of himself to take care of his mother and the beloved disciple: "Woman, behold your son!" Then he said to the desciple, "Behold your mother!" (John 19: 26,26). Jesus had every reason to focus solely on his own needs in this terrible experience, but his love was greater than his pain and concern for others overcame everything else.

His last two statements from the cross, according to the fourth gospel, are simple and to the point: "I thirst," and "When Jesus had received the vinegar, he said, 'It is finished;' and he bowed his head and gave up his spirit." His tormentors probably felt cheated. Jesus had not railed or cursed against his enemies, he had not made ominous prophecies against them, or whined about the unfairness and injustice of it all. Jesus was a victor even, perhaps especially, in his death.

L.P. Jacks, the British theologian, once wrote: "Most of us die of something; of disease, accident, old age. But occasionally there appears in our midst a man who resolves to die for something..." That is a good description of the death of Jesus: he died, not of something, but for something. And more than something, he died for someone - you and me and all humankind.

A DEATH-CONQUEROR

That is something to which we too are called. That is why we must, as a part of our Christian living, learn to die. We need to learn to die for something and be a death-conquerer as Jesus was. Jacks says: "Christianity... came into the world as a death-conquering religion. It centered in the figure of a death-conqueror..." We will all die; the only question is how? Will we be the conquerer or the conquerors?

Jacks also said: "No religion is worth its name unless it can prove itself more than a match for death." That is why Christians make so much of the death of Jesus. As I see it, by the time Jesus was resurrected from the tomb, he had already conquered death - for him and for us.

Super Flow Seeder Spreaders. First by choice.

Vicon seeder spreaders lead the field. They've been the farmers first choice for years.

And now the new SuperFlow range puts new technology to work to give you even more accuracy, more versatility, more reliability and a wider range of capacities.

Add the new Varimeter, Vicon's electronic application rate control system, to increase yields and save costs. Available on all models.

Unverferth cross auger fills your planter fast!

Unverferth's new hydraulic cross auger fills all your planter boxes from a single position. You enjoy a lot more convenience while using a lot less time.

The cross auger is driven by a reliable hydraulic motor with a readily accessible control valve and handle. With an auger featuring rigid, interlocking nylon flighting segments on a stainless steel shaft and a rugged 6" ABS cross tube, the unit is virtually impervious to wear and corrosion.

All Unverferth cross augers include safety grates to prevent contact with the auger, hopper lid hold-down straps, and all necessary mounting hardware.

Ask your dealer for details today. Or contact us.

ATTENTION GROWERS OF PENNSYLVANIA TYPE 41 TOBACCO

As we finish receiving the 1989 crop, Lancaster Leaf wishes to thank all the growers who sold their tobacco to them.

For the 1990 crop, we believe prices will remain strong because of a continuing demand for Type 41.

We will continue to make our purchases from the grower, on the farm, and hopefully be able to help growers by giving sound advice in growing and stripping practices.

We value your confidence in Lancaster Leaf and welcome doing business with every grower of Type 41. Our dedication to a better market and better prices is assurance to you of our faith in the future growing of Pennsylvania tobbaco.

Dairylea Cooperative Supports School Nutrition

SYRACUSE, NY — It is critically important to improve the nutritional intake of school children, said Ellen LaBerge, corporate counsel for Dairylea Cooperative Inc., in support of government-funded school nutrition programs.

Testifying March 13 before the New York State Assembly Standing Committee on Education and the Task Force on Food, Farm and Nutrition Policy, LaBerge said that Dairylea is a strong proponent of measures aimed at bettering nutrition for school children, a segment of society shown to be digesting too many "empty calories" and not enough foods from the primary food groups of dairy, meat, grains, and fruits and vegetables.

The Cooperative supports New York Assembly Bill A.9113, which would expand the school breakfast program to all schools with a lunch program. LaBerge noted that studies have shown nutrition can affect an individual's capacity to think, reason, remember and attend to information, and that skipping breakfast weakens the problem-solving performance of even well-nourished children.

LaBerge said Dairylea also supports continuing nutrition education in schools, beginning at the earliest grades. "Even if children have access to nutritious foods, they must be educated about the importance of choosing those foods over less nutritious items," said LaBerge.

Although Dairylea supports the intent of the proposed legislation, the cooperative cautions against establishing, by statute, guidelines for reducing fat and cholesterol. "There is still disagreement at the national and state levels as to what acceptable, or even realistic, standards are or shoudl be. The enactment of piecemeal legislation only fuels this disagreement," said LaBerge.

Dairylea's corporate council also stressed that each child's inherent uniqueness affects his appropriate nutritional standards. "If guidelines are to be adopted, they should be developed voluntarily by the association of school boards or school dieticians and should not be the product of legislation that may become inflexible," LaBerge said.

Dairylea is an active member and participates in the policy-making of several organizations that also have recently reaffirmed their support for government-funded nutrition programs such as the National Milk Producers Federation, the Food Research and Action Center, the New York Farm Bureau, and the Northeast Farm Policy Council.

In addition, Dairylea President Clyde Rutherford chaired the National Commission on Dairy Policy, which recommended to Congress that feeding and nutrition programs be continued.

Poster Contest Set For Earth Day

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.)— This year's theme for the 1990 Poster Contest sponsored by the Franklin County Conservation District is "Earth Day, Every Day -- You Can Make The Difference."

The Education and Youth Committee of the Pennsylvania Association of Conservation District Directors, Inc. established a policy to utilize the annual theme of National Wildlife Week (April 22-28, 1990) as the theme for state and local poster contests.

Deadline for submitting posters is Friday, April 27, 1990, before 3:30 p.m.

"In the past years, a lot of interest and participation by county schools has helped to make our poster contest a great success," said Donna W. Hays, secretary-treasurer. "We would like to emphasize that, even if a particular school chooses not to participate, interested students may submit posters to us on their own. The same rules would apply for both schools and individual students. There are five categories this year."

daughter. Consigned by Rodney and Darlene Stuff of Mercersburg, Frank was purchased by Ray Lindsay of Walnut Corner Farm, Hoopeston, Illinois for $2,700.

Second-highest selling animal of the sale, held March 31 at the Chambersburg Rod and Gun Club, was Walnut Lane Serg Emeline, a Spring Walk Ettas Sergeant-ET daughter. This deep-pedigreed two-year old is backed by two generations of Very Good dams who produced more than 20,000 pounds of milk and more than 800 pounds of fat. Carl Hollenbach of Bernville purchased her for $3,200 from consignors Rodney and Darlene Stuff.

The sale averaged $1,775 for 28 head of calves and bred heifers.

All-Breed Calf Sale Is On

MEADVILLE (Crawford Co.) — The 17th annual Northwest All-Breed Calf Sale is set for April 14, 1990 at 11:30 a.m. in the Youth Show Arena at the Crawford County Fairgrounds.

There will be approximately 40 animals representing the six major dairy breeds.

When the sale was originally started, it was to provide an opportunity for 4-H or FFA youth to purchase a last-minute project animal. The sale is open to anyone who would like to buy some foundation stock to add to their home herd. The sale committee, consisting of extension, 4-H dairy leaders, and representatives of each breed, have selected calves which are full-aged for their respective classes, showing good type, and have a productive pedigree.

"In the last few years, it has taken on a new meaning," said Blaine Schlosser, county agent. "It is now a learning-by-doing experience for the county youth."

From the time the calves arrive till they leave, the youth are primarily responsible for getting all the animals ready for the sale. They do all the clipping, bathing, feeding, and keeping them clean.

At the time of the sale, the youth bring the animals to the ring, present them in the ring, help to take bids, and return the animals to their stalls.

"It is a lot of work, but the youth seem to really enjoy and learn the responsibility that is expected of them," said Schlosser.

Dairy Farming Brings Them Closer Together

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

SMITHSBURG, Md. — At one time, Eva Martin resolved to never marry a farmer.

But about 30 years ago, Eva moved to Washington County, Maryland with her husband, Marlin — a farmer.

She has not regretted the decision, as so many others sometimes do because of the long, hard hours that go into running a dairy farm.

But through the years, the farm operation and the work the Martins have been able to do for the dairy industry have drawn them closer together.

225-acre farm

The Martins operate a 225-acre dairy farm, purchased by Marlin's father in 1955, a few miles from Smithsburg. They grow corn, alfalfa, barley, and wheat. In addition, the Martins raise 120 head of Holsteins and 400 hogs.

The dairy operation is run by sons Kenlin, 25, and Kevin, 20. Eva is active in crafts and Marlin is president of the Maryland Holstein Association.

Their daughter, Kaylena, 23, a recent graduate of Messiah College, helps her mother with a small local bookkeeping and tax preparation business.

In the past, Marlin had little help in running the huge dairy and hog farm. But since his sons have grown, he's spent more time with the association. Eva has spent a great deal of time making crafts and exhibiting her crafts at state and local dairy shows.

Breeding operation

In February 1989, Kenlin and Kevin purchased Spectacular Valiant Mary/E.T. for $30,000, and embryos were collected. From the resulting pregnancies, one ET calf will be sold at the Maryland Blue Ribbon Sale on Friday, April 13 in Timonium, Maryland. "Mary" had a 365-day lactation report of 34,000 pounds of milk, 1,100 pounds of butterfat, and 1,150 pounds of protein.

According to Marlin, sales of the remaining calves are yet to be determined.

Eva was raised on a farm close to Smithsburg. In 1956, her family moved to Lancaster, Pennsylvania, "because I had a deaf sister. When she graduated from the Maryland State School for the Deaf, we moved to Lancaster. My parents helped start the First Mennonite School for the Deaf."

The school was renamed the First Deaf Mennonite Church, located on the Old Philadelphia Pike in Smoketown.

Lived on farm

"Until I was 13 we lived on the farm," she said. Their family ran a farm on Route 30 near Lancaster. Her father was a salesman for a feed company. They returned to Smithsburg on weekends and that's how she met Marlin.

The Martins purchased Spectacular Valiant Mary/E.T. in February 1989. And after producing 34,000 pounds of milk, 1,100 pounds of butterfat, and 1,150 pounds of protein in 365 days, embryos were collected. From the resulting pregnancies, one ET calf will be sold at the Maryland Blue Ribbon Sale at Timonium, Maryland on Friday, April 13. Sales of the remaining calves will be determined at a later date. "I've done various things,' said Marlin. "I carried mail. Then I was a manager of a supermarket, and, about 25 years ago, we started dairying and have been since."

For 11 years, Marlin has been active with the Maryland Holstein Assocation at the county and state level. The association has about 800 members in Maryland to promote the Holstein breed to industry and, especially, youth.

"With farming being what it is, it's getting harder and harder to get young people interested," he said. "So the Holstein Association supports our young people through 4-H and in all the shows."

'Grow Into' business

Marlin is happy that his sons have taken up most of the work on the farm, and he recognizes how important it is to allow youth to "grow into" the farm business.

Eva said, "There's just no way they can do it without us letting them take what we had, because there's just no farms around here for sale." As in many counties being taken by development, many are being priced too high to farm.

"It's been rewarding to see our children follow our footsteps," said Marlin.

The Martins spend a great deal of time working for the association and attend many functions in different counties, including banquets and shows.

Results of efforts

"You work hard and you see the results of your efforts," he said. "If you're willing to put that extra effort in, you can see the results.

"The difference between an average farmer and a good farmer is the cow that milks 70 pounds and the cow that milks 100 pounds.

"But farmers, even though they have a lot of obstacles, are their own boss," he said.

In her spare time, Eva is a craftmaker — her specialty is quilting and pillow making with a special Holstein design. Her work is special in that it realistically depicts the "look" of a Holstein, with realistic features, as contrasted to the cartoon-like impressions sometimes found on commercial work.

Other crafts

She also designs decorative clocks and other crafts with the Holstein impression.

"She can go to a ball game and quilt while everyone else is watching a game," said Marlin, with a laugh.

"It's a hobby because it's something I do not have a lot of time to get done here at home but I can take with me wherever I go," Eva said.

The only regret Eva has in not having the time away from farm chores and other responsibilities to create more crafts.

Would still farm

Given another chance, they would still farm.

"There'd be some things we'd do differently," said Marlin. "There's be some mistakes that we made that we'd try to avoid, but I guess we'd make some other ones to take their place."

"Most of everything in life we've done together," said Eva. "What we enjoy most is probably being able to work together. That has been an asset to our marriage."

Farmers Have Right To Operate Produce Stands

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Senate Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee has approved legislation that would protect farmers' rights to operate produce stands and to safeguard state residents against dangerous dogs, according to Senator Edward Helfrick (R-27), committee chairman.

Helfrick said Senate Bill 986 would amend the Right to Farm Law to enable farmers to operate roadside stands to sell their products without fear of repercussions.

"Farmers should be able to sell fruits and vegetables directly, without fear of nuisance suits or zoning ordinances," said Helfrick.

The senator added an ammendment to the bill that would allow farmers to sell up to 50 percent off-farm commodities under special conditions, including drought, flood, and vandalism.

Helfrick said that two other bills concerning dogs were also released from his committee.

House Bill 820 would enable anyone attacked by a dog to file a complaint with the local district justice. If the dog is deemed dangerous, the owner must register the animal with the Bureau of Dog Law Enforcement, pay a fee, dangerous dogs to children who confine the dog, post a warning sign, and maintain liability insurancle on the animal. Violation of the law would result in a penalty to the owner or confiscation of the animal.

The senator added an amendment to protect children from vicious dogs by requiring the state to adopt the "Ugh Dog" symbol as the standard symbol to identify are too young to read posted signs. The symbol was developed by Animal-Vues, a Danville-based non-profit educational organization.

House Bill 159 would increase the penalties for taunting or torturing law enforcement dogs and prohibit the denial of public accommodations, such as theaters or hotels, to anyone working with a police dog.

30 YEARS AGO
THIS WEEK

-Kenneth C. McCauley of Drumore R1 has been appointed a field Investigator in the Bureau of Animal Industry, Department of Agriculture.

Duties of the position require that McCauley inspect livestock at the terminal markets in Lancaster, Lebanon and York Counties. McCauley will report health and sanitation rules infractions at the New Holland and Vintage auctions and the Lancaster Stockyards as well as the Mason-Dixon sales stables at Stewartstown and other markets in the three counties.

-Maria Frey, Quarryville R2, was named president of the Kirkwood 4-H Community Club Tuesday evening at a meeting in the Kirkwood Odd Fellows Hall.

Other officers elected were Martin Greenleaf, Oxford R1, vice president; Mary Anna Johnson, Quarryville R2, secretary; James Fredd, Christiana R1, treasurer; Joseph Weicksel, Kirkwood and William Rhoades, Quarryville R2, game leaders; Lois Johnson, Quarryville R2, song leader; Barbara Maule, Quarryville R2, news reporter and William Maule, Quarryville R2, County Council representative and junior leader.

-Easter was the theme of the April 2 meeting of Farm Women Society 6 meeting at Wheatland Farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Risser.

Easter hymns were sung by a quartette composed of Mrs. Charles Rife, Mrs. Charles Nissley, Mrs. Ray Hixon and Mrs. Lloyd Risser. Scripture was read by Lucille Risser and Katie O. Miller had prayer.

Julia Risser played a piano solo and Kthy Risser entertained with a poem.

The speaker, Carol Ginder, showed slides of her trip tp Puerto Rico.

Hostesses were Mrs. Paul Hess, Mrs. Clayton Riser and Mrs. Lloyd Risser. Corresponding secretary is Mrs. C. R. Frey.

-The 199-acre farm offered for sale at public auction Tuesday, April 5, by Jonas Zook of New Holland R2, was bought by John Yost, Narvon R2, for $86,394 or $726 per acre.

Three cows in the 50 cow Zook herd topped the $500 figure. One grade cow and calf brought $540. Seven cows brought $400 or over. The average on thirty-three cows was $386.00.

Other farm items sold by Carl Diller, auctioneer, included an elevator, $185; corn picker, $300; forage harvester, $1,660; hay fan, $390; pair of horses, $467.50. Four other horses averaged over $200 each, and a grain drill, $310.00.

65th Dairy Expo Set

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — The 65th Dairy Exposition will be held Saturday, April 21, 1990 at 8:00 a.m. at the Penn State Ag Arena, University Park.

The Exposition is a fitting and showing competition open to all Penn State students. Those who will be competing in this year's Expo drew their animals by lottery in the middle of March. Since then they have been training them to lead and grooming them.

Professional and amateur champions will be chosen in each breed category. At about 2:00 p.m. the overall champion and reserve champion will be chosen. Approximately 50 students will be competing in the contest.

The 1990 Dairy Expo will be dedicated to Dr. Lester C. Griel, Jr., a Penn State graduate in Dairy Production. He is employed as the University veterinarian for Penn State and is responsible for herd health of all animals maintained by the College of Agriculture. He was chosen by the club for the honor because of his continuing support of Dairy Science Club activities.

Phil Taylor, a 1984 graduate of Penn State in Dairy Production, was chosen as the 1990 Outstanding Young Dairyman. He is a dairy extension agent for Centre and Clinton counties and has also supported the Dairy Science Club in many ways.

Ernie Buhl, a senior majoring in Dairy Production, is the overall Expo chairman. He is the son of Robert and Carol Buhl of Erie, PA. Vinton Smith is the assistant overall Expo chairman, Vinton is a sophomore majoring in Dairy and Animal Science, and is the

Sleeping On the Job

DICK BARTH
General Manager
Pennsylvania DHIA

"There were hundreds, probably thousands," my wife said to me.

"Thousands of what," I asked.

"Geese. Last night, about 1:30 a.m. Didn't you hear them?"

"No," I said. "I was sleeping."

"They made a terrific honking noise," she said. "Even though you couldn't see them you could tell they were there. I can't believe you didn't hear them."

What she said got me thinking. I'm usually a light sleeper and I hear even the smallest noises in the house at night. But I didn't hear those noisy geese, and it bothered me. After all, I would have heard them if I had been awake.

But I was asleep, as anybody ought to be that time of day! -- and that was the problem. I missed the geese, thousands of them, because I was asleep.

There were 51, and most people didn't see them either.

Those that missed them were asleep, like I was with the geese.

Also missed was the fact that they cost DHIA members $5,000 apiece to replace them.

Let's see, that's $5,000 times 51, or $255,000. A big chunk of money.

What are the 51? DHIA supervisors.

The most important asset the association has and we lost about that many statewide in 1989.

Some retired, but most quit outright. There were 51 replacements hired, each costing $5,000 to recruit and train.

And amazing as it may seem, by January 1, 1990 eleven of those new hires had quit. They didn't even make it a year on the job.

Three Reasons For Leaving

Why do supervisors leave DHIA?

They tell us because of poor pay, poor working conditions and lack of opportunity for advancement.

Those with ambition realize soon after hire that there is no structure for promotional opportunities and they are in a dead-end position. So they look for greater pastures elsewhere.

If they really want to earn a good income, they start breeding cows for a living because the average income for an A.I. technician is about $10,000 per year higher than the average income for a DHIA supervisor in Pennsylvania.

Fifty-one out of 246 total supervisors, that's a 21% turnover rate, too high for an organization whose overall success depends directly on the contributions those people make.

Making the matter worse, though, 180 replacements have been hired in the last four years across the state, adding up to a whopping 73% average turnover rate in 48 months.

Can this hemorrhaging be stopped?

It can and it must be if we expect to provide the records services that PA DHIA members need to remain competitive.

In fact, stopping this manpower (and womanpower) drain on the organization is one of the primary reasons for reorganizing into a single, statewide, direct-member organization.

REORGANIZING CAN HELP

PA DHIA's plan will provide a field staff organization of assistant supervisors (entry level position), supervisors, senior supervisors, and region managers.

All field personnel would be employees of the state association and, therefore, eligible for promotion to the next level of responsibility if they so wish: ass't. supervisor to supervisor, supervisor to senior supervisor, etc.

Through an organized development program, employees can be deliberately trained for additional responsibility at the next level. Then as vacancies occur, there would be a group of trained replacements to compete for the position.

Solving the income problem is somewhat tougher, but it's just as important as promotion opportunity to most supervisors. The solution is obviously more pay, but it must become available in a manner affordable to members.

There are only two ways that happens: one is by improving the value of services to members, which in turn allows them to increase their profitability; the other is by improving supervisor productivity.

Both methods require a well coordinated combination of three things: service development, supervisor hiring and training, and member education.

Under PA DHIA's proposed reorganization, all three would be coordinated by state association

DHIA Tightens Limits To Achieve Equality

COLUMBUS, Ohio — DHIA announced new quality limits on its national network of milk testing labs effective June 1. Phil Dukas, director of technical development, presented new performance limits at the March 12th National DHIA convention in Greensboro, N.C.

"Dairy producers should expect consistent results regardless of their location," said Dukas. "Our control sample program has revealed a few deficiencies in our program because not all of our 200 machines are performing as they should. We have already identified a certain condition that was affecting 11 similar machines," he said, "now we go to work to find the cause of the problem."

These deficiencies can and will be corrected by documenting the quality of the DHIA System. First of all, the Quality Certification (QC) program will need to be more balanced with greater emphasis of accuracy at the field level.

One of the goals set forth by Dukas is to simplify the QC manual.

"We need to cut this manual in half and take it to a broader level and let the states decide on how to implement the guidelines which are outlined in this document. We have good people at the state and regional level and I think it's time for the quality, drive and motivation to be at that level," he said.

Secondly, the Verified Records Program (VRP) should be adopted in areas covering at least 50 percent of the cows by the end of this year, yet not as a requirement of QC.

"States that have adopted VRP internally look at the results and determine why differences exist between meter weights and bulk tank weights. This is a sound principle that should eventually be in 100 percent of our system," said Dukas.

In the past few months, state and regional presidents have been receiving updated reports for their state on what is happening in the labs.

"We view it as the president's legal responsibility to ask their manager about the quality of the lab program," said Dukas.

"We also intend to bring 42 quality officers into the DHIA System. Every DHIA should have a key individual that is responsible for quality issues," he said.

National DHIA, headquartered in Columbus, Ohio, maintains a database of monthly results of blind samples analyzed by the 54 milk labs across the country. The database is programmed to identify specific problems that may be encountered by an individual lab or a group of labs.

Farmland Dairies Suggests Processor Promotion Fund

Washington, DC — The President of New Jersey-based Farmland Dairies has asked Congress to consider mandating industry-financed efforts designed to bolster milk advertising, promotion and product development.

Marc Goldman said in testimony before panels of both houses of Cogress that, up until now, "federal and industry policies have focused almost exclusively on trying to examine and regulate the output of the cow's udder while ignoring the input of the consumer's mouth."

Goldman outlined several problems facing the dairy industry.

Citing milk's decline in beverage market share, Goldman called for a "Processor Promotion Fund" which would finance a $500 million annual advertising budget. The fund would be based on a 35 cents per hundred weight of milk charge to processors.

Since milk's decline in the market has come as soft drink advertising efforts have exploded, Goldman feels the dairy industry needs a boost in promotion of the product with the best return to the farmer, fluid milk.

"Milk can and should be positioned as a more fashionable product 'of choice' to the consumer," the Farmland president testified.

Another feature of this plan for expansion of the fluid milk market would come with a research and development fund financed by a nickel-per-hundred weight of milk charge to the farmer.

This money would be used for development of new fluid milk-based products to meet consumer preferences.

"New variations of each brand of soda and even bottled water varieties have increased sales and shelf space. Dairy should be making the same efforts," Goldman said.

Implementation of the proposal will mean an immediate gain of 10 cents per hundred weight of milk to the farmer, since farmers now foot the entire 15 cents per hundred weight levy for all advertising and promotion.

"In the face of predictions of falling prices, this should be good news for the farmer. When sales of fluid milk products rise from our promotional and R&D efforts, all segments of the dairy industry will profit and we'll ensure a bright future for local dairy farms," Goldman added.

The Processor Promotion Fund and research efforts proposed by Goldman have won support among industry observers and legislators. "I'm heartened by the positive reactions I received from farmers and members of Congress."

Goldman predicted success in getting his ideas incorporated into legislation now being considered.

Goldman's testimony came before the full Senate Agriculture Committee on March 7 and before the Subcommittee on Livestock, Dairy and Poultry of the House Agriculture Committee on the following day.

Honey Production Down

Production of honey in 1989 from Pennsylvania producers with five or more hives totaled 1.6 million pounds, down 23 percent from the previous year, according to the Pennsylvania Agricultural Statistics Service (PASS).

An unusually wet spring limited production, PASS reported.

An estimated 41,000 colonies were reported statewide with an average yield of 39 pounds per colony, compared to 46 pounds in 1988. Total stocks of honey as of December 15 were 560,000 pounds.

Pennsylvania honey producers received an average price of 63 cents a pound last year, and the value of honey produced is estimated at $1 million. The state ranks 24th in the nation in production.

Nationally, 1989 production from producers with five or more hives totaled 169 million pounds, down 21 percent from the previous year.

Although the number of honey-producing colonies, at 3.3 million, was three percent more, the average yield per colony fell from 66.3 pounds in 1988 to 51.1 pounds last year.

The drop was attributed to adverse weather, restrictions on movement early in the year, and disease and mite infestations.

Prices for the 1989 U.S. honey crop averaged 48.4 cents per pound, down 1.6 cents from the previous year. Honey prices are based on retail sales by producers and sales to private processors and co-operatives. Government payments to producers are excluded.

Sauder's Eggs Co. Uses Recycled Packaging

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — The nation's recycling movement got a shot in the arm on March 20 with the announcement by Dolco Packaging Corporation that it had received approval from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration to use recycled polystyrene packaging materials in the production of egg cartons.

Dolco is the largest U.S. manufacturer of polystyrene egg cartons, a product used by the truckload by egg processors such as Sauder's Eggs, based in Lititz, Pa.

Packaging materials that can be recycled include meat trays, fast food containers, school lunch trays, foam beverage cups, and previously used egg cartons.

Dolco CEO Larry Rembold said he was encouraged by the FDA approval because it means the federal government has assigned a high priority to the opening of new markets for recycled products.

In the March issue of "Sunnyside" — a newsletter for Sauder's Eggs employees, producers, and customers — Paul Sauder discussed his company's concern about plastics recycling.

Sauder is president of the family-owned egg processing and marketing business employing more than 200 full-time workers at its Lititz plant. Many of the eggs packed in the plant are shipped in plastic foam cartons.

Sauder pointed out that plastic foam is an ideal packaging material because it is economical, sterile, relatively unaffected by moisture, and does not support the growth of bacteria.

Recognizing that plastic foam is a minor ingredient in the landfill mix, Sauder nevertheless voiced concern about the growing environmental impact of all the waste produced by Americans. He pointed out that plastic foam is one of the most recyclable of all our discards.

There are no collection and marketing systems presently in place to allow the economical recycling of plastic foams. But those systems are on the not-to-distant horizon, a statement made before the FDA ruling that gave Delco the go-ahead to begin polystyrene recycling.

In the newsletter, Sauder said his company is encouraged by the prospects for plastics recycling, and pledged that the firm would be a part of the movement.

In the same issue of "Sunnyside," there was a story about the 99.5-out-of-a-possible-100 score for a Sauder's entry in the egg competition at the annual Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg. No one associated with the company, or the Farm Show, or with the egg competition could recall an entry that had ever come so close to absolute perfection.

Other stories talked about creation of a new product just in time for Easter — eggs already hard-boiled and colored. Nutritionist Pat Barton talked about changing ideas in nutrition for "Sunnyside" readers, and there was a story on an intriguing husband-and-wife team of egg producers, Leroy and Judy Esbenshade, who market their eggs through Sauder's.

Milk Price Not Related To Production

THOMAS JURCHAK
Lackawanna Co. Extension Agent

Last year was the year of record breakers on the up side when the Minnesota-Wisconsin Price Series set new records for four consecutive months from September to December.

Now it's setting records on the down side with drops of 99 cents in January and now $1.72 in February. Never before has the M - W dropped so far so fast for a total of $2.71 in two months largely on a drop of 29 cents in cheese prices half of which came on the first Friday in February.

If you had cheese in storage that Friday afternoon it was worth nearly 20 percent less than it was that morning. It was the crash of the cheese market still referred to as Black Friday by cheese makers and dealers.

Fortunately, the cheese market has held since then at $1.26 but the damage was done and butter and powder prices were of no help. In fact the Commodity Credit Corporation was back buying powder for the first time since June 1988.

Now the February M - W is down to $12.22, the lowest since last July, but still $2.34 above the support price but expected to drop more as milk supplies increase and powder prices go down to the support price where butter has been since August 1988.

Once again the importance of cheese prices in the M - W has been demonstrated and, outside of an aberration last year provided by unusual world trade prices for powder, continues to be the dominant dairy product.

Twenty years ago producers changed the pricing formula from the butter powder snubber to the M - W price because it was higher. Perhaps now we can change again to cheese prices but certainly the air will be full of suggestions for replacing the M - W.

The full impact of the $1.72 drop in the M - W won't be felt in your check for February milk because it will hit only the Class II price in February and the Class I price in April.

Even so the Class II price for February will be down $1.73 from January but the Class I price will be 24 cents higher making a uniform or blend price of $14.22 for February. That's 95 cents less than January but still $1.67 more than a year ago.

How much lower it goes will depend mainly on how much milk production increases this spring particularly in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Help Coming

With the dramatic decline of $2.71 in the Minnesota-Wisconsin Price Series in two months, the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board scheduled a hearing for March 21 in Harrisburg to lessen the blow to producers shipping to handlers regulated by state orders.

Normally the PMMB Class I price would go down or up each month as much as the M - W price but the Board can change that to spread out the differences over a longer period. Also on the agenda, at the request of farm organizations, was the $1.05 disaster assistance increase on Class I milk that would end on May 31.

The choices, of course, would be to extend it at the present or a lower rate or let it expire and provide higher Class I prices by modifying the use of the M - W price.

PMMB producer prices for Class I milk peaked at $18.68 in February in northeastern Pennsylvania and had been scheduled to drop to $17.69 in March and $15.97 in April reflecting the $1.05 disaster payment and the 99 cents and $1.72 drops in the M - W price.

The April and later Class I prices would be affected by the Board's action and may reflect on premiums received by producers shipping to Order 2 handlers.

Milk Equivalents

Speculation runs high in what changes, if any, will be made in the dairy price support program in the new farm bill but the one most likely to happen will be the method that the Commodity Credit Corporation uses to calculate the milk equivalent of the butter, powder and cheese that it purchases to maintain the support price.

For as long as anyone can remember the CCC used the average butterfat in milk to determine these equivalents because it was the one component of milk that all handlers and producers were using for marketing and pricing purposes.

And, over the years, no one complained and it worked out well for most producers when CCC stocks of skim powder accumulated to 600 million pounds and nearly all the sales were for animal feed.

Using butterfat to determine milk equivalents at that time distorted the situation but worked in favor of the producer.

More recently the demand for skim powder in foreign markets has increased, partly because of mandatory production quotas on European farmers, and we exported 350 million pounds last year, more powder than ever before.

Meanwhile, between a declining demand for butter and the need to make even more butter to get the skim powder, CCC stocks of butter are now over 200 million pounds and growing.

Once again the use of butterfat to determine milk equivalents distorts the true situation but in the opposite direction. Now it works to trigger a January drop in the support price even when the market price for manufacturing grade milk was $3.00 above the support price and changes are being suggested.

Dollars Make Sense

It's true that using butterfat for the last 30 years wasn't always a true reflection of market conditions but most of the time it was because purchases of butter, powder and cheese by CCC were nearly evenly divided among the three products.

That isn't true anymore and markets can change. So far USDA has been reluctant to make a change so it may be included in the 1990 farm bill.

Suggestions from industry have included all the possibilities from no change, to using solids not fat to total solids but very few so far have considered the possibility of using a dollar value for CCC purchases. Dollars would be clearer to everyone especially Congressmen who understand dollars a lot better than milk composition.

All the information on the average components of milk and their value at a given price support level are available and any trigger you choose can be converted to a dollar value.

For instance the present trigger of five billion pounds of milk equivalent at the current support price of $10.10 would cost $260 million if all CCC purchases were butter.

If purchases were all powder costs would go to $320 million and for all cheese to $540 million.

Jersey Cattle Club Urges Pricing Change

an effort to change milk-pricing:

- To urge the state Dairy Herd Improvement Association to consider receiving reports of individual cows for component pricing and income-over-feed costs.
- To strongly urge Congress to involve component milk pricing in the 1990 farm bill.

Norman said the Jersey Cattle Club, similar to statements issued by the state Holstein Association, feels current federal milk pricing does not fairly represent demand for production.

"With butterfat having a negative connotation in price and consumer acceptance, we have to put more emphasis on protein; which is perhaps where the emphasis should have been all along," Norman said.

"Another factor any more, with the higher utitlization of cheese, is that the protein (component of milk) is more the product that is producing the cheese," he said.

"Our recommendation is that it (component pricing) be included for all federal orders," Norman said. "We would like to encourage the government (Congress) to encourage them (the U.S. Department of Agriculture) to do it," he said.

First Scholarship Awarded

Shelia Bissett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bissett, Washington County, became the first recipient of the organization's new scholarship program.

Bissett is an agricultural engineering student at a Penn State University branch campus in her freshman year.

In a related matter, the club board of directors passed a resolution to attempt to increase the seed money that finances the scholarship program from $2,000 to $10,000.

Members plan to support this effort through direct and in-kind contributions from individuals and industry. Members are asked to encourage youth to apply for the scholarship.

Sale Results and Awards

A sale on Saturday resulted in an average price of $446 with a high price of $660 paid by high school senior Roger Alexander, of Mansfield. Alexander bought an animal consigned by Merle Lawton, of Lawton Jersey, Newark Valley, N.Y.

Those receiving awards for having the high producing herds comprised of 20 to 49 cows were:

For protein, Gerald Moose, showing a 581 pound protein average on 36.8 cows; high fat award, Debby Moose, with 763 pounds fat on 20.3 cows; total milk production award to By-Way Jerseys dairy operation which posted an average 15,395 pounds on 37.8 cows ave.

Those with herds from 50 to 99 cows who took awards: for both high protein and milk, Dean Moose to awards with an average 65.3 cow herd that showed an average 16,277 pounds milk, and 606 pounds of protein.

The award for highest fat content went to Van De Jersey's, of Mercer Co., who posted an average 754 pounds fat on 81.8 cows.

Among herds with 100 or more cows, Kenny Jersey Farm, of Lawrence County showed the highest fat content with an average of 640 pounds on 101.4 cows.

The award for average protein production ended in a tie, with honors equally shared between Bill Ulrich, of Quarryville, with 497 pounds on 103 cows and Ray Sheppler, of Harvestore Hill, Jefferson County. Sheppler also took the award for the most milk production among the large herds with and average 12,959 pounds.

The new Jersey Queen is Janie Cole, of Milan, Bradford County. Others who comprised the queen's court were Jennifer Hutchinson, of Towanda, and Rossa Bristol, of Troy.

In other recognition, a distinguished service award was presented to Eugene and Alice Harris, of Milan.

The David Norman family presented a high CPI index to Vantage Jersey, owned by Don Koontz, of Fredonia.

In the youth awards, Lisa Rankin, of Berg, took honors for showing 4 percent fat corrected milk.

First year member award went to Mark Norman, Liberty; the scrapbook award went to Roberta McConnell, Volant; and the FFA youth award was presented to Paul Rauhauser, of Dover.

In other business, in addition to Norman being named secretary-treasurer, members re-elected: John McConnell, president; Leon Sollenberger, first vice president; and Glenn Kenny as second vice president.

State Guernsey Breeders Give Awards

BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — Guernsey breeders from across Pennsylvania gathered at the Chambersburg Holiday Inn March 30-31 for their annual convention. Activities included the 59th Annual Awards banquet, a junior awards breakfast, the crowning of the 1990 Pennsylvania Guernsey Queen, and the 11th Annual Blue Heifer Calf and Bred Heifer Sale.

At the awards banquet Friday evening, Axel Linde and Millie Widmann of Oxford received the awards for the High Herd in 1989 and the High Cow for Milk and Protein.

The brother and sister milk 53 cows with an RHA of 16,928 pounds of milk, 757 pounds of fat and 599 pounds of protein. Lindenhof J. Bonus Xenia milked 27,173 pounds of milk, 867 pounds of fat and 877 pounds of protein.

Receiving the award for the High Cow for Butterfat was Rutter Brothers Dairy of York County. Rutter Brothers B.T. Lotty produced 21,458 pounds of milk, 1069 pounds of fat and 689 pounds of protein.

Beth Clark, Bedford, was crowned the 1990 Pennsylvania Guernsey Queen by Angelique McDonald, outgoing state queen and a national Guernsey Princess. (See article in Section B.)

The George W. Snyder Award went to Carrie McKenzie of Clinton for showing the grand champion at the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show. The award, presented by Lee Yost, is given yearly by the Columbia-Northeast Guernsey Breeders Association.

Receiving the Sewickley Trophy, presented yearly by the Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeder's Association, was Kristi Snyder of New Enterprise. She showed the grand champion female of the Youth Show at the 1990 Pennsylvania Farm Show.

The Paul Brachman Award went to Berneta Gable, New Enterprise, who showed the Grand Champion at the 1990 Pennsylvania Farm Show. The award is sponsored by the Bradford County Guernsey Breeders Association.

guide the General Assembly in handling the issue. PFA, according to a 1990 Priority Issues statement, supports the "passage of legislation that would encourage the use of returnable or biodegradable packaging and would require fast food outlets to only use biodegradable food containers."

But Eckel insists that the passage of the Solid Waste Planning Recycling and Waste Reduction Act In Pennsylvania will not "solve all of your problems regarding trash being dumped in your fields.

"The recyclilng act is important but it's not going to reach into the countryside to solve our problem," he said. Communities of 5,000 to 10,000 people and a population density greater than 300 per square mile will be involved in the protection of wetlands is a far more complex issue than many would let programs of reducing solid waste thorugh recycling.

"That's about 400-plus communities, but that also eliminates many rural Pennsylvanians," Eckel said. "Even if it reached into the countryside, recycling does not solve the problem of bottles and cans being dumped in our fields."

Deposit on bottles, cans

Eckel insists that a deposit on bottles and cans "would provide that incentive" to help curb the dumping problem. He urged voters to "express themselves at the polling place" in the referendum.

The PFA is concerned with wetlands preservation, and is urging the passage of S.B. 1326 to establish a comprehensive wetlands preservation program in Pennsylvania.

"The PFA contends that the you believe," said Eckel. He spoke about the so-called "destructors" of wetlands. "Those organizations, including PFA, and persons who support S.B. 1326, legislation designed to develop a comprehensive wetlands preservation program in Pennsylvania," he said.

According to PFA, provisions of the bill important to agriculture would establish a Wetlands Trust to purchase "exceptional value" or important wetlands. Provisions would allow permit waivers for limited value wetlands.

The legislation would establish timetables for decisions on permit applications and would allow wetlands used for agriculture within the past 25 years to be put back into farming, according to PFA.

Beef Expo: Good News For Cattle Producers

The Industry Service Award went to Mildred Bunting of Lancaster, who edits the "Lancaster Livestock Reporter."

For the Pennsylvania Simmental Association, President Bill Shoemaker, Pittsburgh, presented the yearly awards. Simmental Family of the Year was Wayne and Brenda Stough and children Jay, Joyce, Raymond, and Wayne Jr.

The Stoughs, who started the Pennsylvania Junior Simmental Association in 1981, raise show cattle and donkeys for halter breaking show cattle on Winter Spring Farm at Seven Valleys in York County.

Beginning with heifers they bought for 4-H projects, the Stoughs have had the Grand Champion at the Pennsylvania Simmental Show and Sale twice and the Grand Champion Steer in York Couonty in 1979. Wayne is a past president of the PSA, and he and Brenda are leaders in 4-H and in their church. They believe strongly in the value of youth and family activities to provice children every opportunity to grow and expand their knowledge.

Tom Whalen, who manages Rolling Ridge Farm in Karns City, Butler County, was the Senior Member of the Year for PSA. After having an Angus and Brahma herd for 20 years, Rolling Ridge switched to Simmentals seven years ago. Whalen is now vice president of PSA and his wife Nancy is secretary/treasurer. With a bachelor's degree in biology, Whalen has managed herds in New York, Indiana, and Georgia before coming to Pennsylvania. He feels Simmentals would be better converters than other beef breeds if pastured on idle land in Pennsylvania which was previously used for strip mining, so he expects the fast population growth of Simmentals in Pennsylvania to continue.

PSA Junior Member of the Year was Jamie Cowell of Frosty Springs Farm, Waynesburg. Only 13 years old, Jamie has already shown a Junior Grand Champion Simmental at the Pennsylvania Farm Show and was second in her class with the same heifer at the 1989 Eastern Expo in Springfield, Ohio.

Also at the Eastern Expo, she placed third in showmanship and fifth in individual livestock judging, and she was a member of the second place Beef Bowl team. In addition to her PSA activities, she is in livestock judging, market hogs, market lambs, and breeding sheep in 4-H. Jamie's family, including her parents Jim and Billie Mylan Messick was awarded the Seedstock Cattleman of the Year at the Beef Expo.

Cowell and sister Alissa, owns 20 breeding cows.

Pennsylvania Beef Council Executive Director David Ivan announced the 1990-91 veal ambassadors (VAs) and beef industry representatives (BIRs). Lori Cash of Centre Hall and Gwendolyn Gray, Philadelphia, are the BIRs, while Barry Sands, Montrose, and Susan Eshelman, Lancaster are the VAs. Ann Granberry, Zelionople, is the state coordinator of the program.

1989 Pennsylvania Cattleman's Queen Kelly Mankamyer of Somerset turned over her promotional duties to the 1990 queen, Faye Kreval of Cherry Tree, Indiana County. Faye's task will be to educate consumers, environmentalists, and animal rightists about the value of beef in the diet and techniques of beef cattle handling.

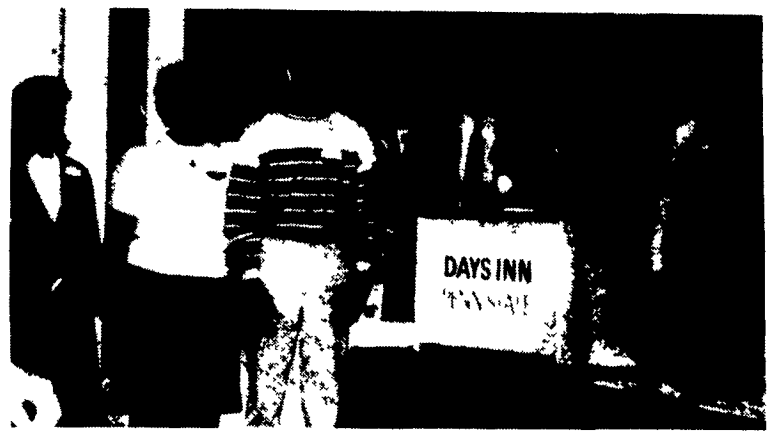
Performance Tested Bull Sale

Pennsylvania's 17th Performance Tested Bull Sale was held March 30 at the Penn State Ag Arena. The top seller was a Simmental from Messick Farms, Middletown, purchased by Kenneth Foust of Hidden Oaks Farm, Gettysburg, for $5,400.

At the annual sale, jointly sponsored by Penn State University, the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association, and the Pennsylvania Beef Breed Associations, auctioneer Mike Young sold 56 bulls for an average of $1,965. Total sales came to $110,000. Glenn Eberly read the pedigrees.

Glenn Eberly won the Commercial Cattleman of the Year Award at the Pennsylvania Beef Expo.



Mylan Messick and family were awarded the Simmental Family of the Year at the Beef Expo.

The breakdown by breed was 13 Polled Herefords, total $25,900, average $1,992; 19 Black Angus, total $38,050, average $2,005; 1 Red Angus, $1,050; 17 Simmentals, total $35,700, average $2,100; 3 Charolais, total $4,700, average $1,570; 1 Chiangus, $1,600; 1 Salers, $2,000; 1 Shorthorn, $1,000.

Other Events

Other events at the Pennsylvania Beef Expo were the cattle Feeders Symposium, the PCA Annual Meeting and Fun Auction, the Pennsylvania Angus Association Female Sale, the Junior PCA Sock-Hop, the Breed Association Female Sales, and the Cattlemen's Barbecue and Hoe Down.

In upcoming events, the PCA and the Pennsylvania Polled Hereford Association will sponsor a field day on July 28 at the Stoneybrook Farm in Troy, Pennsylvania. Keystone Ribeye will be served, and there will be demonstrations, a dance, and other activities.

Grange Week Set By Gubernatorial Decree

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Join the thousands of Grangers who will nationally celebrate Grange Week April 22-28.

In recognition of the Pennsylvania State Grange, Gov. Robert P. Casey has proclaimed the week of April 22-28 Pennsylvania Grange Week.

Recently, Casey signed a proclamation designating this week-long celebration. Prior to his signature, he said that the Keystone State takes pride in its rich agricultural heritage; that over the years, the Pennsylvania State Grange has been an important part of the strong tradition, working to ensure that our agricultural legacy is preserved and promoted for future generations.

He also said that since the Grange was founded, its members have dedicated themselves to improving farming and rural life in the interest of all Pennsylvania.

Casey said that the state recognizes the important services provided by this grassroots organization. Local Granges often serve as hubs of community activity, and they have provided convenient forums for community and regional planning in rural communities.

Members have also taken active roles in government and the legislative process. Committed to the ethic of honest labor, the Pennsylvania State Grange maintains standards of productivity and patriotism, to ensure that Pennsylvania agriculture keeps growing better and that rural America remains vibrant.

The Pennsylvania State Grange will celebrate its grassroots on Monday, April 23, at the Holiday Inn, Grantville. The Pennsylvania Grange Week Banquet will begin with a social hour at 5 p.m., followed by dinner at 6 p.m.

Tickets are $11 and can be purchased by calling the Grange office at (717) 234-5001, or toll free 1-800-552-3865.

BY R. YONKERS
Ag Ec Ext.
Food Safety
And Milk Demand

Recent media reports about drug residues found in retail milk samples have raised concerns about impacts on consumer milk demand. Such impacts are difficult to assess immediately. Let's look at two recent examples. First, concern over the use of fungicides, especially Alar, in apple production resulted in considerable consumer reaction. However, when the presence of dioxin, a known carcinogen, in paperboard milk cartons was disclosed by the media, no perceptible consumer reaction occurred (a result of the paperboard milk carton manufacturing process, this threat to retail milk has been eliminated).

As for the current scare in milk, the FDA and medical experts agree that the overwhelming majority of the population has little to fear from short-term exposure to trace amounts of sulfa and antibiotic drugs in milk. Therefore, little impact on consumer demand for milk is expected. This is not a reason for dairymen to become complacent. The consuming public is often unpredictable. The safe course is to follow all drug label directions regarding animals eligible for treatment and milk withdrawal periods.

Just a brief note about how this might relate to BST. FDA and medical experts do have some health concerns regarding long-term exposure to sulfa and antibiotic drug residues in milk. On the other hand, FDA, with the nearly-unanimous support of the scientific and medical communities, has found milk from BST-supplemented cows to be absolutely safe for human consumption. Unlike laboratory tests for sulfa and antibiotic drug residues, no testing procedure exists which can determine whether milk comes from a BST-supplemented cow or not. No media source could conduct a test for BST like the one conducted by the Wall Street Journal for drug residues.

staff. Only then can a planned program of supervisor income and benefit improvements be implemented and affordable.

But, getting on with that work requires reorganization of the entire system in Pennsylvania.

Can you see them, those 50+ supervisors who will leave DHIA this year? Can you see them well enough to recognize what they will cost DHIA members in training their replacements, or the lost opportunities for improved member services?

Or are you asleep?

The one to start with ...the one to stay with:

Viking Ship® Calcium Nitrate Fertilizer

Fruit tree research and grower experience attest to the growth, yield and quality benefits achieved with Calcium Nitrate fertilizer (15.5-0-0-19Ca).

Faster growth, early production; nitrate nitrogen is the choice

Calcium Nitrate supplies nitrate nitrogen and 19% water-soluble calcium; a proven combination of nutrients for optimum orchard production.

For example, USDA work by Shear and Faust[1] describes the effects of various nitrogen sources on apple trees. "...Growth was greatly inhibited by NH_4 (ammonium), as compared to nitrate applications." It was also noted, "...depending on various cultural factors...ammonium-N applied to soils...may persist for months before converting to nitrate."

Calcium requirement of apple trees is unbelievably high

In another study[2], the need for calcium in apples was shown. "...The above-ground woody portion of a 35-year-old tree contained 5.6 pounds of calcium. This was more than the content of N.P.K. and Mg combined. And, in terms of crop health "...an adequate level of calcium in apple fruit can reduce the incidence of fruit disorders."

From early growth through years of heavy yields, Calcium Nitrate fertilizer is the one to start with, the one to stay with!

As with any fertilizer application, consult your extension office or other advisory service for recommended practice that meets local crop and soil conditions.

DHIA Services To Continue

COLUMBUS, Ohio — After reviewing the on-going projects and new opportunitites available for DHIA Services Inc., the 106-member delegate body gave their vote of confidence to continue with the operation and programs of the National DHIA's subsidiary.

This decision came during the March 12-13 annual conference of National DHIA in Greensboro, N.C.

DHIA Serevices Inc. is a subsidiary of National DHIA and is headquartered in Columbus, Ohio. The purpose of the subsidiary is to promote the development of new agricultural technologies for more efficient production and profit, along with providing service and support to the DHIA System.

"I feel that our delegates, presidents, and managers believe in the purpose of DHIA Services," said Terry Ellingson, chairman.

"The subsidiary wasn't totally set up to just make money, but to help state and regional DHIAs and DHIA members," he said.

"The ProStaph test, which tests cows for Staph. aureus mastitis, is revitalizing itself now after its introduction last May," said Ellingston. "We're doing this program for the good of the dairy producers."

In Greensboro, delegates were also briefed on future tests that will be made available with ELISA technology — the basis of the ProStaph test.

"With this kind of technology in our DHIA labs, we are setting outselfs up to offer a complete battery of tests to DHIA members," said Phil Dukas, director of operations for DHIA Services. "Some of these future possibilities could include diagnostic tests for Strep. mastitis, Jone's, and milk residues."

DHIA Services is also involved with other services and programs besides the ProStaph mastitis test. They include: Fearing eartags, the DHIA credit card, and director and officer liability insurance.

Maryland, Virginia Milk Co-op Cite Progress

KARL BERGER
Special Correspondent

HAGERSTOWN, MD. — "Another good year of progress and growth for your association."

Officials of Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative Association have used that phrase so often in the last few years it must be permanently lodged in the computer files of the typesetters who prepare the organization's annual report.

President Russell Wachter, a Keymar, MD., farmer, used it once again while describing 1989 operations to members attending last week's annual meeting of the dairy cooperative in Hagerstown, Md. He cited profitable performances by the cooperative's equipment, fluid milk and manufacturing divisions as key elements in a year that saw record milk sales and equity payments to members.

Wachter and Bob Vaughn, the cooperative's general manager, outlined these and other accomplishments in characteristically low-key fashion to about 400 Maryland and Virginia producers attending the brief business session at the half-day annual meeting.

In fact, the highlight of the routine session was an appearance by Cynthia Kereluk, the attractive host of a nationally syndicated exercise show who has been hired by the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association to promote milk locally.

And in the only note even remotely controversial, sounded by Vaughn in response to a question from the floor, the general manager reiterated Maryland and Virginia's official opposition to the use of bovine somatotropin. He said the opposition, which dates from a member resolution approved in 1987, is based on economic rather than health considerations. The cooperative, he said, would have no problem with the experimental hormone product if it can be proven that its use will not reduce milk sales.

"As far as BST is concerned, we'll have to go with what the consumer says," Vaughn added.

In 1989, the cooperative sold 1.926 billion pounds of milk, up 5 million pounds from the 1988 total, according to association figures. Dollar sales of raw milk, processed goods and other items totaled a record $348.5 million, an 11-percent increase. Included in this total was a 5.5-percent increase in Equipment Division sales, to a record $4.75 million.

During the year, the cooperative completed the sale of its former office property in Arlington, VA., realizing a $6.6 million gain, Vaughn noted. This amount was distributed to members as cash payments in October. The cooperative also allocated its net margin for the year -- $7.5 million -- to the members' equity account. The bulk of this will be paid out during 1990. Moreover, profits from processing operations amounting to 22 cents a hundredweight once again were distributed as a "13th milk check."

Vaughn, detailing the cooperative's financial performance, said various key indicators remain "at comfortable levels." The cooperative reduced its long-term debt from $2.7 million to $1.5 million during the year.

The membership roster at the end of the year totalled 1,325 active producers, a decline of 48 from the 1988 year-end total. Roughly one-third of these are located in Pennsylvania, according to Jim Reeder, the organization's director of member and public relations. The rest live in Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

Reeder, in brief remarks at the meeting, said the cooperative continues to improve its production of quality milk. In December 1988, he said, the average somatic cell count for Maryland and Virginia members was more than 500,000. In January 1990, it was about 300,000. A total of $447,000 in quality premiums were distributed in 1989.

Also addressing the meeting were: Thomas Neale Jr., the manager of the cooperative's Marva Maid Division in Newport News, VA.; George Walgrove Jr., manager of the Manufacturing Division in Laurel, MD.; and the Outstanding Young Cooperator couple for 1989, Grant and Cheryl Gayman of Waynesboro, MD.

In other business, the membership rejected a proposal to limit directors to three three-year terms. The proposal, which would have required a change in Maryland and Virginia's bylaws and thus required a two-thirds majority, originally was advanced at last year's annual meeting. It garnered just 245 of the 503 ballots cast either by mail or at this year's meeting itself, according to unofficial results announced there.

Nine members were either elected or re-elected as directors. They are: Richard Arrington of Mt. Airy, MD., William Blaylock of Baskerville, VA., Steven Graybeal of Peach Bottom, John Hardesty of Berryville, VA., Douglas McCulloh of Mercersburg, Richard Mosemann of Warfordsburg, Wilbert Paul of Mt. Savage, MD., W.W. Sanford Jr., of Orange, VA., and James Weddle of Hagerstown, MD.

The cooperative honored retiring directors John Shank of Hagerstown and Donald Wilcom of Ijamsville, MD., and 50-year members Clovertop Farm of Keymar, MD., and J.W. and L.L. Day of Midland, VA.

the Leaders of Pennsylvania. Governor Casey certainly expressed his feelings by cutting $33,000 from the 1990-91 budget that was funding for the Pennsylvania FFA Foundation.

The FFA provides the Agriculture students with the means to develop the occupational and leadership skills which are taught in the classroom. It does this thru the contests and activities on the local, state and national levels. Without the support of the FFA Foundation many of the very noteworthy activities will be lost due to a lack of funding.

Agriculture Education in the high schools of Pennsylvania and FFA go hand in hand to provide a well rounded educational background for students entering the agricultural career of their choice. If we want Agriculture to continue to advance and maintain its role in the economy of Pennsylvania then we must urge Governor Casey to replace the support for the FFA Foundation. We must also stress the needed support for leadership from the State Department of Education to allow Agriculture Education programs in the local School systems to meet the educational goals of their students.

An entry of organically grown sweet potatoes that I raised won the Grand Champion prize for half bushel vegetables in the 1990 Pa. State Farm Show. First place in statewide soybean competition and six other first prize vegetable awards at this year's Farm Show were also raised without any pesticides or herbicides. This again demonstrates that top quality crops can be grown without rising chemicals. Flavor, color and nutrition of organic crops is always superior to chemical crops. Crops can be grown naturally with low inputs of money, fertilizer and labor.

It is tragic and completely unnecessary to see prime farmland contaminated with the long lasting residues of sprays. The current U.S. agricultural system sprays chemicals on every acre of arable land in the country - what a totally alien and dangerous way of producing food. Confinement farming is also detrimental to the animals, the environment, the consumers as well as providing no increased standard of living for the farmer over general farming methods.

I'd also like to applaud President Bush's plan to have millions of tree seedlings planted across America and I encourage everyone to plant trees. This is a renewable natural resource which will leave one of the best legacies of all to future generations - timber, fuel, erosion control, recreation, fresh air and scenic value. Besides timber trees can be grown as crops producing a multitude of fruits, nuts and maple products. Trees serve as windbreaks by slowing damaging winds, keeping cold winds from drivingt into buildings and preventing snow from drifting across roads. To offset the destruction of the tropical rain forests and its devastating effect on the Earth's climate, we in North America can help by putting more of our spare land in life sustaining, air purifying trees.

In reference to your article on Saturday, March 24, 1990, "FFA Teachers Send Open Letter To Pennsylvania Governor," as an alumni member who has gone through an agriculture program it is inconceivable to me that the governor would want to cut funds from a program that has a proven record for developing leaders in the rural community.

The funds requested for use by the FFA is a good investment for not only those young people entering agricultural careers but for all young people who have had access to it. The FFA has taught me leadership, responsibility, and awareness of others. It has helped me to understand why one needs to set goals and to seek success. As my agriculture teachers have said "American ends in I can."

In our community we have former FFA members who serve on numerous boards and organizations such as: local community fairs, zoning boards, fire companies, breed associations, church groups, and service clubs such as the Lions. It is my opinion that the positions of leadership within these groups have benefitted from the training that these former agriculture students have received and that it would be a mistake and a step in the wrong direction to remove the request for the FFA from your budget.

Editor:

I am a first year Agriculture Science teacher in Chester County, and I am alarmed at the elimination of the Pennsylvania FFA from the state 1990-91 Budget Proposal. I read of this news in the Lancaster Farming and I found something I was not fully understanding. On the front page I read an article on how you support Pennsylvania Agriculture and its many farms, ag-businesses, and support industries. That article was in recognition of Agriculture Day.

How can you say you support PA Agriculture and then support a total cut of FFA funds to the youth of our commonwealth? FFA is an organization that trains young people to be agricultural leaders in our state. I should know, I was an FFA member for seven years, achieving the American Farmer Degree. Although I was not raised on a farm, the FFA was a teaching tool, encouraging me to not only learn agricultural skills and leadership abilities, but to do my very best in all my endeavors. My FFA advisor encouraged me to achieve at state levels activities. How am I to encourage my students to strive to higher levels when there are no more state activities?

Now is the time to increase state FFA funding. The future of our state is agriculture and the future of agriculture is our youth.

In reference to your article on Saturday, March 24, 1990, "FFA Teachers Send Open Letter To Pennsylvania Governor," it is inconceivable that the governor would knowingly try to eliminate the money allotted to the FFA in a state where employment of 20% of all jobs is in agriculture or agriculture related areas. The National Research Council in "Understanding Agriculture - New Directions for Education" has stated that most Americans know very little about agriculture and the social and economic impact agriculture has on Pennsylvania and the United States. One of the major areas for educating the general public is through the development of agriculture leaders who gain much of their knowledge and expertise through the FFA organization.

It is not a cow, plow, and sow organization, but rather an organiand bulls born in the last eight years, your breed is actually ranked number two for predicted transmitting abilities for pounds, or protein dollars."

Witter encouraged breeders to get more involved in sampling bulls in order to be able to select from the best.

Witter, according to a Cornell publication, said "the Ayrshire cows are better as far as longevity, they live longer, produce longer, than all the other breeds," and this translates into more dollars.

In Ontario, Canada, Witter states, milk will soon be bought on protein, indicating a trend in which Ayrshires are in a good position. Witter states that "if it ever comes to the fact that you're paid for volume of milk and protein premium alone, the Ayrshire cow . . . could be probably the most profitable or next to the most profitable breed."

Following Witter's speech, two inductions were made into the Hall of Fame. The Pennsylvania Ayrshire Hall of Fame commemorates "those who are no longer with us, those who in the past have made great contributions, not only to Pennsylvania Ayrshires, but to Ayrshires across the country as well."

Ralph Shank, Hagerstown, Md., runs unopposed for president of the National Ayrshire Association. The National Convention will be held April 11-14 in the Indianapolis.

Milt Brubaker, Lititz, performs last minute secretary-treasurer duties before handing those responsibilities over to Earl E. Keefer, from Millersburg.

First initiate was Percival Roberts Jr., owner of Penn Hurst Farms until 1938, when the herd was dispersed. Also inducted was Cuthbert Nairn of Blackwood Farm in Douglasville. A plaque will be kept in the Dairy Science Building at Penn State.

At 9 p.m. the Pennsylvania Spring Calf and Heifer Sale took place. This sale of 31 animals benefitted the Pennsylvania Ayrshire Youth Fund.

Saturday's events began with a youth breakfast and program, and a fitting and showing demonstration.

The Pennsylvania Ayrshire Association's annual meeting began at 10 a.m. with John Reed Rodgers presiding.

Transfer of duties highlighted this meeting with Dwight Hunter stepping in for Paul Kemerer as vice president, and Earl E. Keefer accepting secretary-treasurer responsibilities from Milt Brubaker.

In sharing reflections, Milt Brubaker spoke of his 55 years with Ayrshires, nine years as secretary-treasurer, and 11 years of running Ayrshire sales for Pennsylvania organizations. Brubaker expressed a great deal of faith in the "younger fellows" in the organization and is ready to "sit back a little and cheer the younger folks on."

Elected as directors during the meeting were Dwight R. Hunter, Curt Sweinhart, Dale Mulfair, Bonnie Wentworth, Harold Kulp, Sharon Nolan, Mark Carter Jr., and Alvin String from New Jersey.

Serving on the Bull Committee will be Bonnie Wentworth and Robert Nolan, with Dwight Hunter elected to the All American Dairy Show Committee.

Rodgers noted that Ralph Shank from Hagerstown, Maryland, will be running unopposed for president of the National Ayrshire Association next week in Indianapolis.

Members were reminded that Harold Kulp serves on the Ag Advisory Council at Penn State.

Other items of business included the Young Sire Program, the National Ayrshire Scholarship Program, the Ayrshire Sale Sweepstakes, and the 1992 Pennsylvania Ayrshire Futurity.

The National Ayrshire meeting will be held April 11-14, Pennsylvania Ayrshire Field Day is July 14 at the Ronald Martin farm in Mill Hall, and the Pennsylvania Elite Ayrshire Sale will be held on Tuesday, September 25 during the All American Show.

The convention concluded Saturday afternoon with the 1990 Pennsylvania Junior Ayrshire Show.

zation that strives to develop young men and women into spokespersons for a new and vibrant segment of our economy. It is the hope of the Penn Manor FFA that the governor and his advisors will reconsider their decision to eliminate the funds allocated for the FFA and reinstate the needed funds so that the valued programs can continue to provide the needed resources that will enable young people to continue their development in the areas covered by progressive FFA programs.

On Gov. Casey's return trip to Harrisburg from the Lancaster "Capitol for a Day" extravaganza, he and his entourage stopped by the Earl Landis Farm to tour Mr. and Mrs. Landis' historic farmhouse and fine dairy operation.

And, although I congratulate the Landis' on receiving some of the respect and recognition they deserve, I question the governor's motives. Could it be that 1990 is a gubernatorial election year, and he is trying to whitewash his past neglect of the farming community?

Throughout the governor's "State of the Commonwealth" address, not once did he mention this state's leading industry. In his 1990-91 budget proposal, he cut the funding level for agricultural-related programs for the fourth year in a row. In past budgets, it was always up to the Republican members of the General Assembly to reinstate the necessary funding to keep Pennsylvania's farming programs up to standard.

As an example, in a year where Gov. Casey has declared a belt tightening of state funded programs, he has insisted on cutting the entire $33,000 appropriation for the FFA Foundation. This line item is a mere drop in the $12 billion plus General Fund budget bucket.

Other budgetary scars for agriculture include:

—a $90,000 cut for agricultural marketing programs in the Agriculture Department, at a time when we are trying to establish a global market,

— a $40,000 cut from the state appropriation for the Milk Marketing Board, which may result in an increase in the various license fees,

— the elimination of a $100,000 allocation for mushroom promotion,

— the elimination of a $100,000 allotment for the apple marketing program, which is necessary to counteract the Alar scare,

— no new funding for the University of Pennsylvania New Bolton's animal diagnostic center programs, and — no increase of much needed funds for technical and field staff positions for local conservation districts.

Another sign of the governor's contempt for the ag community is his allowing the state Agriculture Land Preservation Board to slip into non-existence. Without the governor urging Agriculture Secretary Boyd Wolff to establish permanent guidelines for the program, the board has lost its authorization to award funds to farmers who are agreeing to sell their land development rights to the state.

We must send Gov. Casey a clear message. Public relations and photo opportunities are important, but enough is enough. It is time to put your money where your mouth is and start funding agriculture programs as needed.

Penn State University assistant shepherd Brian Barclay trims away this ewe's fleece during a sheep shearing clinic for members of the Lebanon County 4-H sheep club. The clinic was held Saturday at the Lebanon Area Fair Grounds. About 50 people attended.

The need for such a clinic in Lebanon County is growing stronger, according to extension officials. The county is known for dairy and swine production but has a growing number of shepherds, albeit tending small flocks. They are creating an increasing demand for those with the skill to shear. After receiving instruction, the 4-H members went to work on their own animals, with little to no problem, according to extension officials.

Benjamin Bow, with one of the larger flocks in the county, was pressed into providing a great deal of the clinic when it appeared that Barclay wasn't going to show. Just as Bow finished with the instruction, however, Barclay pulled into the Fair Grounds. It turns out that on his way south from Penn State, his shearing equipment fell off the back of his truck, necessitating a time-consuming backtracking to pick up the equipment, strewn along a stretch of highway.

CHORE-TIME
CHORE-TIME sow feeding system

Take The Hustle And Bustle Out Of Sow Feeding

2 Drop Feeders to choose from
Chore Time's galvanized steel Drop Feeder (top) holds up to 6 lbs. of dry ground feed. Larger polyethylene plastic Drop Feeder (bottom) holds up to 10* lbs. and can be used with high moisture corn feeds.
Weights are based on feed density of 40 lbs. per cubic foot.

- Saves Labor No more hand feeding. Each time you feed, trip one lever to feed all sows at once. By using an optional time clock and automatic tripper, you can feed your sows - without being there.
- Saves Feed With hand feeding there's a natural tendency to over feed. This system dispenses an accurate, controlled amount each time to each sow. Feeding sows based on litter size during farrowing can also help you to realize additional feed savings.
- Bigger, Healthier Litters Whether you're feeding sows during gestation or farrowing, Chore-Time's Sow Feeding System allows you to control the amount of feed they consume, keeping your sows in better condition. The system also can eliminate feeding stress caused by hand feeding. The result: an extra 2 pigs per sow per year.
- Longer Sow Productive Life Keeping sows in better condition means keeping them longer to get more litters.
- Longer Equipment Life Each sow eats peacefully so you can eliminate fighting and wear and tear on equipment.

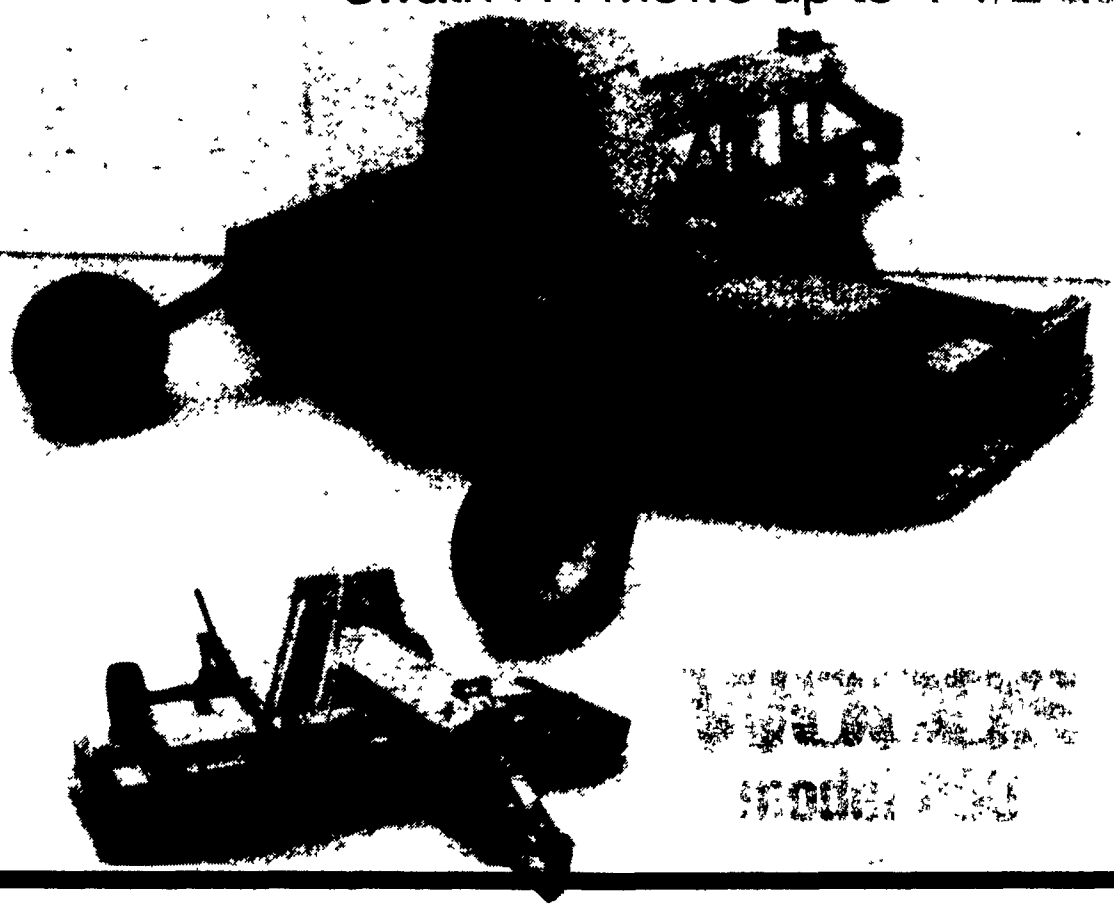
Woods Model P90 pull-type lawnmower cuts a 90" swath . . . Mows up to 4-1/2 acres per hour.



Designed for large commercial mowing jobs the Woods Model P90 mows weeds and grass, wet or dry. It's the ideal mower for golf courses, parks, schools, athletic fields, industrial sites or any other large area finished mowing jobs.

Energy efficient styling, combined with field proven rugged dependability, guarantees top mowing performance day after day, year after year.

The Model P90's 7-1/2 ft. swath mows up to 4-1/2 acres per hour and cuts those big mowing jobs and "tight" schedules down to size.

Woods Model P90 offers the convenience of fast-on, fast-off mounting with its standard drawbar and clevis pin hook-up. In minutes your tractor is "free" for other jobs between mowings. The Model P90 is designed for tractors rated 25-50 hp and 540 rpm PTO.

Easy Care Posies: The Perfect Easter Gift

Val VanTassel
Berks Co. Correspondent

OLEY (Berks Co.) — There is no better way to cure a case of rainy day blues than by visiting Spayd's Greenhouses and Floral Shop. Long tables of pink and red geraniums stretch in one direction while benches of begonias and impatients reach in another. Exotic hanging baskets of gold coin and delicate pink begonias partially obscure the grey sky. Other greenhouses are bursting with pink and purple azaleas and hyacinths preparing to flower.

There's nothing like taking home a piece of paradise but a summer schedule filled with farm chores and fairs pushes flower care into the background and often results in wilted plants. It doesn't need to happen that way according to greenhouse owner, Mary Spayd of Fleetwood. "There are lots of beautiful plants that require very little care. Many of these plants are really inexpensive."

Spayd's is a family operation that began 15 years ago. "We started with a hobby greenhouse. I was growing starter plants for the garden. Now we have the greenhouses and we are full fledge florists. We also do some landscaping."

Among the family helpers are Mary's daughter, Melissa. Missy, a former FFA state president, manages the flower shop while going to school full time. "I work 40 to 60 hours a week here and go to school," she explained.

Brother Mike was also a member of the Oley Valley FFA and at present is the chapter's only American Farmer. Missy is applying for her degree this year.

Missy's sister, Betsy, also works in the greenhouses, often doing transplanting. Russ, the head of the Spayd clan, has a full-time job at Carpenter Technology in Reading. He helps with maintenance greenhouse duties whenever necessary. Max is the youngest Spayd.

Working together, Mary and Missy picked out some lovely examples of easy care plants that would make great presents for farm wives.

"For Easter, bulbs make a fine gift. They don't live long in the house, approximately a week. Pick hyacinths and lilies for smell or take tulips. Most people let these plants die back then they let the bulbs sit in the pots until they plant them in the fall," Mary explained.

While both Missy and Mary like mums they don't recommend Easter as the best time to purchase them. "You can buy mums at Easter but they aren't a hardy variety," Missy said.

"They're designed to bloom in November which is just too late around here. When I think mums I think fall. We plant 25,000 fall mums," Mary added.

Hardy varieties of azaleas are another good choice for carefree gardners. "Azaleas are very available and they come in many colors including white, pinks, red, and several shades of purple."

Whether choosing a gift or taking something home to spruce up the farmstead, buyers can hardly go wrong with bedding plants. "Most bedding plants aren't expensive many don't even have to be picked off," Mary explained.

Most bedding plants can't be planted until mid-May in Berks County but pansies are an exception.

"Pansies can go out now. Often they will survive the winter."

Geraniums aren't hard to care for and they come in lots of colors. Marigolds are great border plants and if you are on a budget they can even be grown from seeds," Mary said.

For much of the season the Spayds display their flowers and shrub in front of their establishment on the Pricetown Road near Oley. The pansies in the picture are ready to be planted.

"Nicottiana, flowering tobacco, is another lovely plant," she added.

While you can't smoke it, flowering tobacco has another advantage.

"It's great for attracting humming birds," Missy said.

Knowing the conditions of the area is just as important for a flower bed as an alfalfa field. "Begonias are good in sun or shade while impatients prefer the shade. Vinca is great in hot, dry poor soil. It looks a lot like an impatient and comes in pink or white. It also stays nice and low," Mary said.

Perennials can satisfy a farm wife's need for flowers year after year with virtually no work at all. "Make absolutely sure you put these plants where you will want them to come up again!" Mary emphasized.

Walking along the flats of young plants not yet ready for sale, Missy and Mary point out some smart choices for busy gardeners. "Daisies such as the shasta and the Rudbeckia (black eyed Susan) would look wonderful in mass say along a fence. Yarrow is beautiful fresh, or you can dry it. I have hung flowers upside down beside my dryer or you could put them in your attic," Mary said.

Old time favorites remain popular. "We sell lots of poenies and bleeding hearts," Missy said.

Clematis is a favorite of Mary's for growing on a trellis. "I had some white Clematis left over so I planted them next to a fence. They had huge white flowers. They must have been eight-inches across. And they are beautiful, the kind of flowers you would expect to wear in your hair if you were in Hawaii," Mary said.

Hanging baskets are big sellers around Mother's day and they can also be worry free. "Baskets with geraniums are one of our most popular items on Mother's day. Begonias trailing in a basket are easy to be cared for and can be hung on a porch as can impatients," Mary said.

These searching for something exotic can pick out a couple of brand new, easy care plants. Holding up a basket of bright yellow flowers Mary explained that this was the first year they had been grown at Spayd's. "They are called gold coins although the proper name is odontospermum maritmum. They are comfortable in hot dry sunny areas and will even survive a light frost," she explained.

Another new show stopper this year is called strawberry fields, oracalyphya pendula. The plant with trailing vines which faintly resemble a strawberry, has flowers that look like a plump, pink cat tail. "These also like the hot, dry conditions. We had a nursery

Mike Spayd was a member of the Oley Valley FFA and earned his chapter's only American Farmer Degree. These days Mike is busy in the greenhouse raising plants like these beautiful azaleas.

Mary Spayd and her daughter, Melissa, hold up two of the newest flowers available at their greenhouse. The hanging baskets of gold coin and strawberry fields would be perfect for hanging out with a farm sign.

Homestead Notes

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Every once in awhile, the marvelous art of marketing and merchandising comes out with some innovative product that makes us wonder how in the world we ever got by before without it.

A couple items, just off the top of my head: transparent tape... all-weather radials... credit cards... "sticky" notes... telephone answering machines.

And, to the delight of us farmers, occasionally from among the "new, improved" products of technology come innovative uses of farm commodities. From corn, for instance, are alternative fuels (gasahol), biodegradable plastics of cornstarch, and a snow-melt material that, unlike many de-ice products, doesn't kill grass or the underside of your pickup.

In the wake of the most recent stretch of damp, misty days, it has begun bugging me that perhaps we're missing a niche market for one of agriculture's most common, basic commodities. Dirt. Or more specifically, mud. After all, who knows more about mud than farm wives?

With the "country" look continuing in decorating popularity, pre-packaged mud can offer the final touch of authenticity and realism. Plus, think of the fun it would offer to millions of little kids who have never had the opportunity to splash through a genuine mud-puddle and leave neat tracks on their mother's newly-cleaned kitchen floor. You know, the kind of present you could send your relative's little kids for their birthday that they would always remember.

"Look, Mommy, Auntie sent me a package of mud! Can I play with it in the tub?"

Here on the farm, we've perfected a superior, all-natural, organic strain of mud with the extraordinary qualities of durability and longevity. This time-tested product, SuperMud, comes in a variety of types geared to diverse consumer needs.

All-Purpose Heavy-Duty SuperMud is the backbone of this product line, carefully cultivated in an assortment of hillside and meadow locations. It has been trial-tested on an endless array of pairs of jeans, coveralls, sweatshirts and boots, never failing to adhere to all exposed surfaces.

All-Purpose Heavy-Duty SuperMud, Chunky-Style is gathered from low spots in the pavement around buildings and along the edge of the roadway. Small bits of gravel add the crunchy texture, and provide long-lasting residue in automobile carpeting and porch rugs.

SuperMud Extra-Smooth is of velvety, liquid texture, originating in an isolated, poorly-drained corner of the meadow where the youngest mud-bogs with the motorcycle if he gets half a chance. Xtra-Smooth dries in a uniform coating -- like paint -- over any fabric texture and offers potential in law-enforcement as a medium for high-accuracy fingerpainting.

Instant-Mud is harvested in powder form from the floors of garage, barns and machine shed. Available in bulk or handy, single-use-sized packages. Just add water and stir.

High-Nutrient SuperMud originates in the dairy barn, heifer sheds and around the feed bunk. Major ingredient is more commonly known as pure, all-natural cow-sourced "fertilizer."

Packaged as a novelty item is Alphabet SuperMud. Forming of these creative little letter-like shapes is through repeated pressing of the soles of assorted sneakers and heavy-duty footgear into All-Purpose or High-Nutrient SuperMud. Once dried, the alphabet shapes automatically release from the footgear soles and can be gathered for packaging.

Just this morning, I discovered on the kitchen floor a perfect "J" shaped Alphabet SuperMud. I stashed it away for safekeeping in the nearest houseplant.

And, in keeping with current consumer trends, our latest addition is SuperMud-Lite (from sandy soils). Guaranteed cholesterol and calorie-free.

Be the first in your neighborhood to add this new, improved straight-from-the-farm product to your lifestyle. Just in time for spring housecleaning, too.

Easy Care Posies

school class visit the greenhouse and they just loved these. The plants are soft and they all had a chance to feel them," Mary said.

Missy and Mary agreed that the strawberry field plant could be the answer that farm wives can hang beside the farm sign in the summer. "I bet a lot of people will be putting on the brakes wondering what kind of plants those are," Mary said.

According to Mary the strawberry fields bloom year round inside or out. "It's a relative of the chenile plant and it's not at all touchy."

The furry new comer costs about the same as a cut flower arrangement. "You would normally spend at least $15 for an arrangement. You can buy a small geranimum for a couple of dollars. Live plants are really your best buy," Missy said.

With live plants so inexpensive and many varieties so easy to care for there is only one problem with buying an Easter on Mother's Day gift — It's tough to choose between so many showy alternatives.

Know what makes an egg yolk yellow? It depends on the hen's diet. If she eats plenty of yellow-orange plant pigments, the color will be transferred to the yolk. Hens fed mashes containing yellow corn and alfalfa meal lay eggs with medium-yellow yolks, while those eating wheat or barley produce lighter-colored yolks. A colorless diet, such as white cornmeal, produces almost colorless yolks.

Review Of Terms For Easter Ham

With all the terminology used, it is no wonder consumers become confused when they try to select just the right ham. Do you know what all these terms mean -- whole, halves, portions, end slices, butt, shank, fully-cooked, semi-boneless, boneless, shankless, skinned, canned, perishable, water added, country-style?

A "ham" is the upper portion of a hog's hind leg. A fresh ham is an uncured ham, more similar to a fresh pork roast than a cured ham. Hams are generally cured by injection of a brine solution. Most hams are also smoked after curing, although they may not be labeled as such. About 90 percent of all hams are "fully cooked." That is, the ham has been cooked by the packer and need only to be reheated to an internal temperature of 140 degrees F. The National Livestock and Meat Board recommends 15 to 18 minutes per pound at 325 degrees F. For best results usea meat thermometer. Do not overcook or you will end up with a lot of unnecessary shrinkage.

Ham may be purchased whole or in halves, portions, ends or slices. If ham is labeled as a half, it must not have any of the center slices removed. Once the choice center slices have been removed the remainder must be labeled as butt, shank portions, or ends.

Ham may be sold semi-boneless, bonless or shankless. A semi-boneless ham has the leg bone remaining, but the aitch (pronounced H) bone and usually the shank have been removed. A shankless ham has the shank removed. A semi-boneless ham is usually partially skinned and defatted.

A boneless ham may be rolled, shaped or canned. Most have been fully cooked. Read the label to make sure. Some canned hams have the term "perishable" on the label. These hams have been cooked to 150 degrees F during processing and must be stored in your refrigerator. A nonperishable ham is a small canned ham (usually 3 pounds or less) which has been cooked to an internal temperature of at least 250 degrees F during processing. It can be stored in your pantry without refrigeration.

A term that sometimes confuses shoppers is "water added." A curing solution of salt, sugar and water is injected into the ham during processing to produce the meat's familiar color and flavor. Most of this added moisture is subsequently lost during curing and cooking. If some moisture, not more than 10% of the ham's original or "green" weight is retained, the ham must be reworked into another product or labeled with the exact amount of water, such as "ham with 20 percent water added."

Dry cured hams are rubbed with salt and other dry curing agents, then slowly smoked and dried. These hams are usually very salty and require soaking and simmering before baking. They are commonly referred to as country hams or they may bear the name of a specific locality like Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky or Smithfield. If they are labeled "country style" or "Virginia-style" they are produced outside that locality but use similar methods. Dry cured hams are generally whole, untrimmed, and include the skin, fat and bone.

PA Guernsey Queen Crowned

BY BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — A Bedford County teenager received the Pennsylvania Guernsey Queen crown and banner March 30, at the Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeder's 59th annual awards banquet.

Beth Clark, 18, impressed the judges with her answer to the question, "In light of the Bush broccoli brouhaha, if the President felt the same way about milk, how would you deal with him?"

"I would remind him of the goodness of milk products," Beth said before an audience of 146 Guernsey breeders and guests.

"We have to allow for personal preference, so I wouldn't hold it against him, but I would encourage him not to speak out against it."

Beth, a senior at Bedford High School, is the daughter of Sherrill S. Clark and the granddaughter of Guernsey breeders Bob and Dorothy Smith. She helps with the work on her grandparents' farm and shows Guernseys.

Accepted at Carlow College, Pittsburgh, Beth plans to major in biology pre-med or secondary education.

Crowning Beth at the banquet, which was held in conjunction with the Guernsey Breeder's Convention at the Holiday Inn in Chambersburg, was Angelique MacDonald of Imler, outgoing Pennsylvania Guernsey Queen.

Millie Widmann of Oxford conducted the contest. Judges for the event were Eileen Moore, Sandy Stern, and Peter Witmer.

Beth will compete for the title of National Guernsey Queen at the National Guernsey Convention held in Evansville, Indiana in June.

Beth Clark of Bedford County is the 1990 Pennsylvania Guernsey Queen. She was crowned at the recent Pennsylvania Breeders Convention.

Easter Dinner Ideas

On Easter Sunday millions of Christians will celebrate the resurrection of Jesus by feasting with family and friends.

Many look forward to eating Easter favorites such as ham, lamb, hard-cooked eggs, and home baked breads, but few understand why these customs have become traditions.

Did you know that eating Easter ham celebrates freedom from the Old Law that forbade eating pork? Lamb is symbolic of Jesus who became the sacrificial lamb to redeem us from the law. Breads remind of the true bread of everlasting life. Eggs are a sign of hope and new life that reminds us of Jesus who came forth from the tomb. Sweets are eaten to express joy and gratitude that originated from the former custom of following a rigorous fast during the Lent season.

Have a joyous Easter!

PEANUT BUTTER EGG PIE

1 9-inch pie crust
Chocolate layer:
½ cup semi-sweet chocolate chips
1 tablespoon margarine or butter
2 to 3 teaspoons water
¼ cup confectioners' sugar
Filling:
1 cup margarine or butter
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 cup peanut butter
12 ounces frozen whipped topping, thawed
Topping:
½ cup semi-sweet chocolate chips
1 tablespoon margarine or butter
2 to 3 teaspoons milk
1½ teaspoon corn syrup

Prepare pie crust and let cool completely. In a small saucepan, over low heat, melt ½ cup chocolate chips and 1 tablespoon margarine with 2 teaspoon water, stirring constantly until smooth. Stir in confectioners' sugar; blend until smooth. Add additional water if necessary for a desired spreading consistency. Spread over bottom and up sides of cooled crust. Refrigerate.

In medium saucepan, combine 1 cup margarine and brown sugar. Cook over medium heat until margarine is melted and mixture is smooth, stirring frequently. Refrigerate 10 minutes. In large bowl, beat peanut butter and brown sugar mixture at low speed. Beat 1 minute at medium speed. Add 12 ounces whipped topping; beat an additional minute at low speed or until mixture is smooth and creamy. Pour over chocolate layer. Refrigerate.

In small saucepan over low heat, melt ½ cup chocolate chips constantly until mixture is smooth. Add additional milk if necessary for desired spreading consistency. Spoon over filling: carefully spread to cover. Refrigerate at least 2 hours to set topping. Contributor writes, "This is a very rich pie. I've gotten a lot of compliments on it."o

COCONUT EGGS

¼ cup butter
¼ cup light cream
2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
3 cups flaked coconut
Coating:
1 6-ounce semi-sweet chocolate pieces
2 teaspoons vegetable shortening

In saucepan slowly heat butter until golden. Gradually stir in sugar, cream and coconut.

Drop by teaspoonfuls on wax paper. Cool, then shape into egg-shapes. Refrigerate.

Over hot water, not boiling, melt chocolate with shortening. Stir until smooth. Dip egg-shaped coconut candy into chocolate. Set on wire rack until candy coating becomes firm. Cover with wax paper. Makes 2 dozen.

HOLIDAY SALAD

1 large package orange-pineapple gelatin
1 3-ounce package lemon gelatin
3 tablespoons sugar
Pinch of salt
1 9-ounce can well-drained crushed pineapple
3 cups diced apples
3 diced bananas
Topping:
1 cup pineapple juice
¼ cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
1 tablespoon flour, heaping
1 cup whipping cream

Mix gelatins with sugar and salt added. Set aside in a 9x12-inch pan. When partially jelled, add pineapple, apples and bananas. Let set. Mix the ingredients for topping. Cook over medium heat until thickened. Let stand to cool. Beat the cream and add to the cooked mixture. Spread on set gelatin and decorate with candies, fruits or nuts.

Thousands will enjoy eating ham during Easter celebrations.

BAKED COUNTRY CURED HAM

1 Country cured ham, 10 to 14 pounds
6 cups hot water
1 cup vinegar
1 cup cider
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 bay leaves
1 cup molasses

Remove rind or skin from ham without removing the delicate layer of fat. Gently wash the ham under running water. Pat dry and score fat into diamond shapes. Place a whole clove in each diamond. Insert a meat thermometer into a meaty part of the ham, being careful not to touch fat or bone. Place the ham, fat side up, in a large roasting pan with a cover. Use heavy duty foil to make a cover, if necessary. Combine water, vinegar, cider and Worcestershire sauce and pour over ham. Place the bay leaves in liquid. Bake at 325 degrees for 20 minutes per pound or to an internal temperature of 160 degrees. Baste often during cooking time with molasses. Bake uncovered last 30 minutes. Decorate with fruit, if desired. Cool before slicing. Makes 20 to 25 servings.

SPICED APPLE RINGS

12 cooking apples
1 cup sugar
8 cups water
4 teaspoons red food coloring
1 teaspoons allspice
1 teaspoon mace
1 teaspoon whole cloves (about 30)

Wash apples, core and peel. Cut into ½ -inch slices. Tie spices in spice bag or square of cheese cloth. Bring all ingredients to boil and boil until apples are tender but firm.

Remove from heat. Cover apples with solution. Let stand overnight. Pack into pint jars within ½ -inch of tops. Screw lid on tightly. Yields 5 pints. Process in boiling water bath for 25 minutes.

BUTTERSCOTCH PIE FILLING

¾ cup brown sugar
⅓ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, slightly beaten
2 cups scalded milk
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix dry ingredients and add to eggs, stir in enough scalded milk to make a thin paste, then add to scalded milk. Add butter. Cook in double boiler 15 minutes, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Cool and add vanilla.

B IS FOR BURIED TREASURE BISCUITS

2 cups flour
2 tablespoons sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
¾ cup low-fat plain yogurt
1 tablespoon of milk

Filling suggestions: 1 rounded teaspoon finely chopped, pared apple or peach sprinkle with cinnamon-sugar; 1 caramel; 5 chewy fruit bits: 1 maraschino cherry; 1 teaspoon peanut butter and 6 chocolate chips; coconut, 10 raisins or 1 small strawberry

1 tablespoon margarine, melted

Heat oven to 425 degrees Grease a round or square cake pan Mix flour, sugar, baking powder and salt in a medium bowl. Cut in shortening with a pastry blender or wire whisk until mixture resembles fine crumbs. Stir in yogurt and milk to form dough.

Sprinkle a cloth-covered surface lightly with flour. Turn the dough onto the surface. Knead lightly 20 to 25 times. Divide dough into 12 equal parts; keep covered.

For each roll, pat 1 piece dough into 3-inch circle on the same surface. Place desired filling in center of circle. Bring edges up over filling; pinch and seal well to form a ball. Repeat with remaining dough pieces.

Place 8 to 9 balls, seam side down, around the edge of the pan; place remaining balls in the center. Brush rolls with melted margarine.

Bake 17 to 19 minutes or until golden brown. Cool. Serve.

ANSWER — Suie Trimble, New Providence, requested a recipe to make corn flake candy. Thanks to B. Joan Brooks, Bellefonte, for sending one.

Corn Flake Peanut Chews

½ cup white sugar
½ cup white syrup
Combine sugar and syrup and bring to a boil. Stir in:
2 cups crushed corn flakes
1 cup chewy peanut butter
Drop onto cookie sheet and cool.

ANSWER — Robin Beam, Elverson, requested a recipe for oatmeal/raisin whoopie pies. Thanks to "an old reader" and to Diane Eby, Williamsport, Md., for sending recipes.

Oatmeal Raisin Whoopie Pies

1 cup raisins
2 cups brown sugar
¾ cup margarine
2 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups flour
2 cups oatmeal
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 teaspoons soda, dissolved in
2 tablespoons hot water

Soak raisins with 3 tablespoons hot water. Cream sugar, butter, and eggs. Add dry ingredients. Stir in raisins and remaining liquid. Mix well. Add soda and mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls on baking sheets. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes or until firm. Cool.

Filling:
2 egg whites
4 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons vanilla
4 tablespoons milk
4 cups confectioners' sugar
1 cup shortening

Beat egg whites until very stiff. Mix in other ingredients. Spread filling generously on cookie and top with another cookie. Makes 2 dozen.

Little Debbie Cookies

Cream together:
2 cups brown sugar
¾ cup margarine, softened
Blend in blender:
2 eggs
½ cup raisins
Add:
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups flour
2 cups oatmeal
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon baking powder
3 tablespoons boiling water with
2 teaspoons soda.

Add to creamed mixture. Bake at 325 degrees for 12 minutes.

Filling:
5 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1 cup confectioners' sugar
½ cup margarine
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup shortening

Cook flour and milk together, stirring continuously, until it forms a smooth paste (may strain if necessary). Cool. Add the remaining ingredients and beat until mixture resembles whipped cream. Frost cookie and place another on top.

ANSWER — Gail Hunter of Smithsburg, MD, requested a recipe for a Mary Todd Lincoln Cake. Thanks to Martha Putt of Schuylkill Haven for sending the recipe that she picked up while touring Lincoln's home in Illinois.

Mary Todd Lincoln Cake

1½ cups sugar
1 cup butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
2½ cups cake flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1⅓ cups milk
1 cup finely chopped almonds
6 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Cream sugar, butter and vanilla. Sift together cake flour and baking powder, three times. Add to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Stir in almonds. Gently fold in the egg whites. Pour into two greased and floured 9-inch round pans. Bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes. Cool 10 minutes before removing from pan.

White Frosting

1 cup sugar
⅓ cup water
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
Dash salt
2 egg whites
1 teaspoon vanilla

Bring to boiling, sugar, water, cream of tartar and salt. Boil until sugar dissolves. Put egg whites in mixing bowl. Start beater and while egg whites are breaking, very slowly, add hot syrup. Beat until stiff peaks form, about seven minutes. Beat in vanilla for one more minute.

PEACH GLAZED LEG OF LAMB

1 (8 pounds) bone in leg of lamb or 1 (4-5 pounds) boned, rolled and tied shoulder roast
2 cloves garlic, slivered
2 tablespoons salad oil

Cut small slits in surface of lamb; insert garlic slivers. Rub lamb with oil. Place leg on rack in roasting pan. Roast leg in preheated 450 degree oven for 15 minutes. Reduce temperature to 350 degrees and continue to roast 1½ hours or until meat thermometer inserted into thickest portion registers 150 to 155 degrees for medium. Brush roast with glaze last 20 minutes of cooking. Let roast stand 20 minutes before carving. Serve roast garnished with Ported Ginger Peaches and remaining peach glaze. Serves 20.

Peach glaze:
2 cans (16 ounces each) cling peach halves in juice
½ cup brown sugar
4 tablespoons margarine
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon ground allspice
2 tablespoons grated lemon peel

Drain peach juice in 2-quart saucepan. Reserve peach halves for Ported Ginger Peaches. Add brown sugar, margarine, cornstarch, allspice, and lemon. Stir over medium heat until slightly thickened and smooth.

Ported Ginger Peaches:
2 cans (16 ounces each) peach halves in juice
1 can (21 ounces) cherry pie filling
2 tablespoons port
1 tablespoons chopped candied ginger
1 teaspoon grated orange peel

Drain peaches; reserve liquid for Peach Glaze. Place peaches in 9x9x2-inch baking dish. Combine cherries with port, ginger and orange peel. Spoon cherry mixture into peaches. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes or until heated thoroughly. Serves 6.

HAM AND ASPARAGUS CHEESE-FILLED POPOVERS

Popovers
1 package (6 ounces) popover mix
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Sauce:
⅓ cup butter
1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms
¼ cup sliced green onions
⅓ cup flour
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
¼ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon garlic powder
1½ cups lowfat plain yogurt
2 cups cooked 1-inch pieces of asparagus
2 cups diced ham

For popovers, make according to package directions, adding cheese to dry mix. Bake in 2¾ -inch muffin cups as directed on package. Meanwhile, for sauce, melt butter in medium-sized heavy saucepan. Saute mushrooms and green onions until tender, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in flour, lemon peel, pepper and garlic until smooth. Gradually stir in yogurt. Return to heat and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in asparagus and ham. To serve, place 2 popovers on each plate. Carefully break popovers open and spoon on sauce. Serve immediately.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

Before making a special Easter or springtime dessert, decide if your microwave can cook parts of it. Often your microwave can be used with other cooking methods to simplify and speed cooking.

Today's recipes are old favorites of mine. I've changed conventional cooking to microwaving where possible. I save time and effort using my microwave, and you will, too.

Both recipes have a meringue shell base, which must be baked in a conventional oven. The microwave is a moist way of cooking, so a meringue cooked in it would never become dry and crisp as it does when baked in a slow oven.

The filling for Mocha Torte calls for very little microwaving, but what an advantage the microwaving is! To melt chocolate with the coffee would take about 30 minutes in a double boiler over simmering water. Or it would take constant stirring over very low heat with the risk of scorching. The microwave method calls for heating about 45 seconds to a minute on Medium power. the only caution is not to microwave too long or chocolate will overheat and lump. Microwave and stir until completely smooth. This will take more than a quick stir, but it's better than microwaving too long.

The tart filling for Lemon or Lime Angel Dessert is another natural for microwave cooking. Instead of constant stirring and slow cooking on the range-top, plus having to add the egg yolks at the end, carefree microwaving of the filling can be done. Stir everything together well before cooking. Be sure to stir during cooking at times indicated, so filling doesn't form one big lump and so no specks of cooked eggs are left floating around. Mixture should come to a boil, but not boil over 15 seconds.

Mocha Torte

2 egg whites
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
6 tablespoons granulated sugar
⅓ cup chopped pecans
¾ cup semisweet chocolate chips
3 tablespoons strong coffee
1 cup whipping cream
½ teaspoon vanilla

Make meringue shell and bake in conventional oven: Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until soft peaks form. Beat in sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, until stiff peaks form. Fold in pecans. Spread in a buttered 9-inch pie pan. Bake 1 hour in conventional oven at 275° F. Cool completely.

Place chocolate chips and coffee in a microwave-safe 1-quart casserole or measure. Microwave on Medium (50 percent power, 325-350 watts) 45 seconds; stir until smooth. If necessary, microwave on Medium for 15-second intervals or until chocolate can be stirred smooth. Do not overcook. Cool to lukewarm. Whip cream to stiff peaks and add vanilla. Fold chocolate-coffee mixture into whipped cream; pour into meringue shell. Chill several hours or overnight. Cut into wedges to serve. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Each serving — ⅛ of recipe: 240 calories, 3g protein, 19g fat, 20g carbohydrate, 23mg sodium, 34mg cholesterol.

Lemon or Lime Angel Dessert

6 egg whites
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons granulated sugar
1¼ cups granulated sugar
⅓ cup cornstarch
1½ cups cold water
½ cup lemon or lime juice
4 egg yolks
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons grated lemon or lime peel
2 cups whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

Make meringue shell and bake in conventional oven: Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until soft peaks form. Beat in 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, until stiff peaks form. Spread in a buttered 13x9-inch pan. Bake 1 hour in conventional oven at 275° F. Cool completely.

Combine 1¼ cups sugar and cornstarch in microwave-safe 2-quart measure. Add water, lemon juice and egg yolks, beating until smooth. Microwave (High) 7 to 8 minutes, stirring after each 2 minutes, or until mixture starts to boil and thicken. Stir in butter and lemon peel. Cool completely.

Whip cream to stiff peaks and add vanilla. Spread half of whipped cream over meringue. Spoon pudding over whipped cream; top with remaining whipped cream. Chill several hours or overnight. Makes 15 servings.

Each serving: 260 calories, 3g protein, 12g fat, 36g carbohydrate, 63mg sodium, 103mg cholesterol.

Hint: To get more juice from a lemon or lime, microwave it for about 15 seconds. Be sure to grate peeling first; otherwise the peeling will be rubbery and almost impossible to grate.

Variation: You may substitute 1 package (4½ ounces) lemon pudding and pie filling (not instant) for filling ingredients above. Prepare pudding as directed on package, but in a 2-quart microwave-safe measure. Microwave on High, uncovered, for 7 to 8 minutes, stirring after each 2 minutes, or until pudding boils about 15 seconds. Continue as above. (For outstanding flavor, stir in 1 teaspoon grated fresh lemon or lime peel.)

Questions and answers —

Q. Do microwaves change food in any way? Do they stay in the food?

A. Microwaves do not alter the molecular structure of food. Microwaves simply produce heat. If you could put your hand in an operating microwave oven, your hand would get warm and you would remove it before you burned it. Microwaves do not stay in the food. Compare microware cooking to cooking in a gas oven — the gas doesn't contaminate or stay in the baked food.

Q. Is it harmful to let food stand in the microwave after it has finished cooking? What about the steam and moisture?

A. It's not harmful to let food stand in the microwave to finish cooking. The moisture that collects won't harm the oven. It can be wiped out once the door is opened.

Never cook eggs in their shells in the microwave -- they will explode! Also, always use a wooden pick or the tip of a knife to break the membrane of the egg yolk before cooking fried, poached, baked or any other unbeaten-egg dish in the microwave.

Penn-Agri Women Work To Promote Ag

VAL VANTASSEL
Berks Co. Correspondent

READING (Berks Co.)—Penn-Agri Women isn't like most farm organizations. "We're not a coffee klatch group. We are too busy to see that the tea is properly brewed and the cookies arranged," explained President Carol Gregg

Meetings aren't the group's strong suit either. "We're just too busy to have monthly meetings Many of our members work on the family farm or have jobs They belong to a lot of other organizations It doesn't make sense to hold meetings just to hold meetings," Vice President Tressie Caton said

And regardless of what the name implies, there are men in Penn Agri-Women. "We have 75 members including a couple of men. One wrote the Penn Agri Women song and the others are associated with ag businesses. Our membership also covers a wide array of ages. Many of our members are farm wives, others are in agriculture business. Some members just want to help promote agriculture," Gregg said.

Despite its atypical structure, this little known organization has packed a big wallop when it comes to promoting agriculture to the general public. The group has been working on that goal since it was established in 1974. Penn-Agri members have been instrumental in keeping the Ag in the Classroom program alive in Pennsylvania.

"Penn Agri Women involved in bringing the Ag in the Classroom program to Pennsylvania. Many members are involved in visiting classrooms Others run farm tours for students We are part of an effort to establish a statewide program," explained member Gail McPherson.

Caton, a farm real estate agent, emphasized the importance of educating the young. "I grew up on a West Texas cattle ranch and I think you carry a piece of your childhood with you all your life. Most of today's children don't have that opportunity In many cases their parents didn t grow up on a farm either. Many children go to the store to get eggs but have no earthly idea that a chicken is involved," Caton said.

"We have got to teach children the value of farms They need to know that the slice of bread from a wheat field and of the process that milk takes to get to the table," Caton said.

One of the group s best know projects is the Ag Day Luncheon held each year in Harrisburg. "This year we invited Governor Casey and we shared the spotlight with them. Because the governor attended there were even more people attending than usual. It must have been like the feeding of the 5,000. I understand some of the ladies even had to bring stuff home with them," Gregg said.

The meal features Pennsylvania products, many donated by farmers and ag business people. Caton, this year's chairman, stressed the importance of keeping legislators and the non-farming public informed. "Our primary purpose is to keep the lines of communications open between farmers and the non-farming enity.'

Penn Agri Women are affiliated with the national organization, American Agri-Women. "American Agri-Women is a coalition of organizations. We're not aligned with any particular commodity but represent all ag interests," Gregg said. The wife of a Holstein dairy farmer and a reporter on a weekly newspaper, Gregg also served three years as a vice president for the national group. She still represents the state on the national board.

The national network can help keep specific ag issues before legislators in Washington, D.C. "In our vast newsletter, the women of Alaska ask members from all over the country to write letters to their legislators concerning timber legislation. That option is open to us but I'm not aware that its ever been used in Pennsylvania," Gregg said.

How effective is the letter writing lobby? "I have worked with legislators in the past and I know their aides do read these letters. I'm sure they bring these issues to their bosses' attention," Gregg said.

The national group has 41 affiliates. "We are strongest in the Midwest and weakest in New England and the South," Gregg said.

American-Agri Women and Penn Agri Women share many concerns. "We're interested in leadership development. Food safety, the environment, and animal rights are big issues right now. National President Sandy Grinder plans to keep us informed on the acid rain issue," Gregg explained.

Gregg is responsible on the national level for one of the Agri-Women's newest projects, an oral history of farm women. "It's called 'From Mules To Microwaves.' Successful Farming is funding the project. We would like to have the taped interviews by the spring of 1991. If the stories can't be taped, they can be written down."

Gregg isn't sure what will happen with the tapes in the future. "Right now we're just collecting the tapes. If possible we would like to find funding to publish a book later on."

Gregg's goals for Penn Agri Women are more concrete. "We need to increase our visibility and increase our membership. There are a lot of important issues in Pennsylvania such as the wetlands and the Chesapeake Bay. We want to continue our support of farmers in these areas.

Gregg stressed that not all members are involved in all aspects of the organization. "Some members aren't interested in political issues. They help with projects like the Ag Day celebrations. In many counties they arrange the gifts for the ag day baby or help with classroom activities. There is something for everyone."

Dues for the organization are reasonable. "Ten dollars will cover the state and national dues," Gregg said.

Those interested in joining Penn Agri-Women can contact Carol Ann Gregg, R.D. #2, Box 2180, Grove City, PA 16127.

State Vice President Tressie Caton keeps up with ag news across the nation by reading the American Agri Women Newsletter.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

It seems that sometimes we need a little push to get things done. This is especially true if the job is not one to our liking. I'm speaking of "spring houseclean ing." This is something that I could put off for days and days.

However, our daughter, Nancy, and her family will be arriving this week for a short stay. Now that is enough incentive for me to stop putting off a necessary job. It doesn't seem to me that a bed that's been slept in one time should have to be stripped. But, I did some big loads of laundry and now all four bedrooms have crisp, clean bedclothes.

Dust does seem to collect everywhere, even under the beds and behind the bureaus. So, I crawl and climb and shake the dust cloth out the window -- after I remove the flower pots. Now there is another job that is put off from time to time. My blooming begonias drop old petals and some plants drop their leaves on the windowsills.

One of our guests will have a birthday while he is here so I intended to bake a cake. However, I was warned not to make a chocolate cake nor one with milk in it as they are allergic to these items. Fifty years ago I do not remember hearing much about allergies. Maybe people had the same problems but did not put a name to them At least, now they can do something about it by taking pills or getting shots My mother often complained about indigestion Was she allergic to some particular food?

We seldom get to see our almost ten-year-old grandson from the city of Seattle. He is quite active in many sports, especially baseball and basketball. His father coaches Little League and encourages him He's probably grown a few inches since we last saw him. When he is here, most of his time is spent at the barn and in the milk parlor. This always amazes me

Learn At Home Series

CREAMERY (Montgomery Co.)— You've read your child his favorite bedtime stories, fetched him several glasses of water, and repeatedly told him to settle down and go to bed, only to hear him call again from his bedroom. Your patience is wearing thin, and you think "will these bedtime struggles ever end?" You're not alone in this quest for sleep and there are some solutions to the bedtime struggles. This and many other topics of interest are covered in a free learn-at-home series by Penn State Cooperative Extension for parents of preschoolers.

To request your free copy of "Toddler Topics" call your county cooperative extension office.

The Baker's Basket: Baked Creations For Your Good Taste

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

HAMLIN (Lebanon Co.) — Lucky is the person who answers the doorbell that Cheryl Maulfair rings. The Lebanon County woman delivers "the baker's basket," a basketful of scrumptious baked creations that she has made.

The Lebanon County entrepreneur, who operates The Baker's Basket from her home, sold her first wedding cake when she was only 13 years old.

"When I was in seventh grade, a woman demonstrated cake decorating at my school. I was fascinated, and I begged my mother to buy me a book on cake decorating," she said. "The books are self-explanatory. Everything I know, I learned from a book."

After studying the book from cover to cover, Cheryl began turning out dainty-decorated sweets. During high school, she developed a substantial business by filling orders for classmates who wanted to present a decorated goodie to their sweethearts with the message, "Love is....."

Although busy with baking throughout high school, Cheryl got a license for cosmetology and worked full-time in a nursing home. She and her husband, Bruce, also had six children who now range in ages from 5 to 15.

Because she enjoys baking, she got the idea one year ago to start The Baker's Basket. She fills a basket with a variety of items such as pumpkin roll, whoopie pies, homemade pies, cupcakes, cheesecake with pineapple topping, and cookies wrapped in cellophane and tied with a bow and an attached card.

"Instead of flowers, send a gift basket," Cheryl encourages.

She takes orders as a flower shop does and delivers within a 20-mile radius. She prefers orders one week in advance but is known to fill orders given the same day if she isn't too busy. The variety of items included in each baseket are freshly baked the same day as delivered.

The business has flourished. Many days, Cheryl works from six a.m. to 10 p.m. filling orders.

"I need help desperately," she said, "but I can't seem to find anyone who provides a consistent product that meets my standards.

"I'm fussy," Cheryl said. "I'm particular about the product that goes out of my house. Whatever is baked under my name is my reputation."

Cheryl keeps her recipes in her head — recipes that she has perfected over the years. Special favorites are pumpkin roll with a cream cheese filling and a rich cheese cake with pineapple filling.

Everything is made from scratch — never from packaged mixes. In fact, she insists on fresh fruit for her pie fillings.

"I don't used canned fillings — anyone can do that. I want my stuff to be top quality. It tastes so much better fresh."

When fruit is in season, she cleans the fruit herself. Her children grow strawberries and pumpkins that Cheryl uses for fillings.

"I believe in keeping children busy so they don't have time to fight," Cheryl said. The Maulfairs have 25 acres and raise steers and rabbits.

To watch Cheryl decorate cakes, the process looks easy. She forms wax paper in a funnel shape and inserts a Wilton metal tip in it. With deft, quick movements, she turns out spectacular creations within minutes. All of it is done free-hand.

Baked, decorated, and delivered to your door—Cheryl Maulfair does it all.

When she first began cake decorating, she used patterns and marked cakes but now her experienced eye automatically enables her to draw designs proportionally spaced.

"I can't understand why people pay me to do this," Cheryl said. "It's so easy. I just marvel that more people don't do it themselves."

When reminded that many people do not find cake decorating easy, she said, "This is my gift. Some people are just cut out to do this like others are to draw or sing."

As she talks, she is a whirlwind of motion. Washing dishes, measuring flour, stirring pumpkin, wiping off countertops, providing lunch for her 5-year-old son, covering cardboard with aluminum foil, checking the oven — she never stops to rest.

"If people would not overbake, they would have a lot more success in baking," Cheryl said. "I always switch my items from the top to the bottom oven rack while baking."

With such a busy baking business, there is always dishes to wash, crumbs to sweep up, and countertops to wash off. "I use my kitchen, basement, and dining room," she said.

"I don't get the same satisfaction out of cleaning a closet than I do baking. I guess the kid in me likes to make a mess," Cheryl said as she surveyed her spacious kitchen that was built with her business in mind. In addition to using two standard ovens, she uses a convection oven and has a 20 quart mixer, but uses a standard Kitchen Aid mixer for much of her work. "It isn't built to take this abuse and I've had to replace it," she said.

A large island provides work space that holds several cakes, pies, pumpkin roll, cheesecake, and "duds."

Duds are the pieces cut off the top of the cake to provide a flat surface for decorating or a less than perfect pie or cupcake. "My family is not big on eating duds," Cheryl said. "They prefer to eat first-class stuff, but sometimes they must settle for the duds."

Cheryl delivers basket orders, not individual pie or cake orders, within a 20-mile radius. She offers three different size baskets, with 14, 20, and 25 items included. Delivered, these baskets cost $16, $21, and $26.

Orders vary, reaching a high of 65 baskets delivered within two weeks before Christmas.

Reactions of those who receive a basket are sometimes surprising and provide Cheryl with what she calls, "instant gratification."

Those who receive a basket as a sympathy gift seem especially pleased. One said, "I'm so glad it's not flowers, but something we can eat and serve guests."

Her baker's baskets are delivered as doorprizes, birthday and anniversary gifts, as thank-you gifts, and for other reasons.

One time, a recipient remarked, "Oh, my husband and I don't eat this sweet stuff."

Cheryl said, "I didn't have a very satisfied feeling when I left her house, but a few weeks later, the woman called up and ordered six baskets for friends — she enjoyed it after all."

Cheryl also sells her baked goods in a nearby grocery store and a small restaurant.

Capacity and reliability for on-time harvesting

When it comes to harvesting valuable forages, you need capacity and reliability to get the crop off fast. New Holland forage harvesters give you on-time harvesting with built-in features to improve reliability, ease maintenance and lower operating costs.

Leader in its class

Put a Model 718 in corn or haylage and you'll see why it's the most popular medium-duty harvester in its class. This cut-and-throw designed harvester offers maximum efficiency. A heavy-duty 540-rpm PTO handles up to 90-horsepower. The 12-knife cutterhead delivers a fine uniform chop.

Powerful performance

The heavy-duty Model 790 gives you smooth and efficient harvesting, thanks to the 12 cutterhead knives set at a steeper rake angle and a two-speed blower. The heavy duty driveline handles up to 150-horsepower.

Energy-saving efficiency

The Model 900 is designed to meet the needs of today's big crop producers. The 1,000-rpm driveline is rated at 190-PTO or 210 tractor horsepower. You get smooth feeding and controlled chopping because of a design that lets the feedrolls pivot up and toward the cutterhead as a unit for ideal length of cut.

Peace of mind protection

Optional Metalert® II, available on the "790" and "900," looks for trouble before it happens. You get a five-year guarantee against cutterhead damage caused by ferrous metal. More important, it keeps nasty bits of scrap metal out of livestock feed.

To get all the facts on New Holland forage harvesters, come see us about a demonstration on your farm.

Home Economists Hold Convention

Debra Strickler, local home economist, employed by Hempfield School District, recently attended the 67th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Home Economics Association March 22 to 24, at the Willow Valley Resort and Conference Center, Lancaster, Pa.

Over 400 home economists attended the conference entitled "Horizons of the Twenty-first Century." The conference featured dynamic speakers from a wide variety of disciplines addressing a vast array of subject matters pertinent to the concerns of today's society and home economists.

Deede Sharpe, president of the consulting firm, The Sharpe Company, in Winter Park, Florida, opened the conference with her inspiring presentation "Selling the Success of Home Economics." Ms. Sharpe's background in business, education, and marketing research helped participants plan marketing strategies to be used in their work environments. The Honorable Judge Thomas Peoples of Blair County addressed the topic "Youth at Risk." His presentation helped members focus on this topic which was later explored in detail during smaller workshops sessions. These sessions included the discussion of teen pregnancy, depression and suicide, alcoholism, and helping youth maximize their potential. Liz Curtis Higgs encouraged everyone with her lighthearted presentation "Does Dinner in a Bucket Count?" This wife and mother shared techniques needed to balance today's family and career. Diane Smathers, associate professor, Clemson University, closed the convention with a look at the challenges home economists will face in the next century "Toward the 21st Century: Will Home Economics Survive?"

Through attendance at the state conference, certified home economists could receive up to 14 professional development units toward maintaining professional certification.

Commercial exhibits and extended workshops focusing on nutrition, housing needs, fashion and design, working parents, leadership development, curriculum development, recycling, and international issues completed the program.

The Pennsylvania Home Economics Association is a state affiliate of the American Home Economics Association, a non-profit organization of more than 27,000 professionals.

Something For Everyone At Gratz Fairgrounds

DAUPHIN (Dauphin County) — It's a family event. No matter how old or young the member of your family is, he or she will find something at the sixth annual consignment auction to be held Saturday, April 7, starting at 9:00 a.m., at the Gratz Fairgrounds.

The first annual auction was held six years ago with 200 buyers and 45 consigners. Last year 851 buyers and 159 consigners attended the event.

Duayne Forsberg of Dauphin County Conservation District expects a much larger turnout this year. Profits are used for the Agricultural and Natural Resouce Center in Dauphin County, which houses the Dauphin County Conservation District, Soil Conservation Service, Penn State Cooperative Extension, and A.S.C.S.

Five auctioneers who donate their services will be busy all day selling a fairground full of items. Items include dozens of lawn and garden tractors, farm tractors, tillage/planting/haying equipment, truckloads of nursery stock, contractor tools, shop and hand tools, lime/stone/concrete, and household goods, along with a limited amount of antiques and collectibles.

The Gratz Fire Company with the Dauphin County 4-H clubs will operate a food concession and the Dauphin County Farm Women will be selling their home-baked goods.

Gigantic Craft Show

Handcraft Unlimited will present a gigantic craft show in Intercourse, Lancaster County on Friday, April 13, 9 a.m.-7 p.m., and Saturday, April 14, 9 a.m.-5 p.m., at the Martin Sales Building, located 2 miles east of Intercourse on Route 340. In addition to having exhibitors in the building, there will be crafters inside three big-top tents and outside.

The show will feature over 200 exhibitors from surrounding states, displaying woodcarvings, tole paintings, quilts, fraktur, cross-stitching, wooden games and many other items not mentioned.

The promoter, Bill Shumate, and staff have spent much time selecting each craftsperson for their individual expertise. They feel that every item on display reflects the personality of the crafter. Although some of the crafts are similar, each item is one-of-a-kind. There will be many unique crafts such as baskets, dried flowers, Tiffany lights, tinware, stained glass, quilts, wooden items, dolls, toys, and decorative household items.

Any person interested in displaying their crafts may call (717) 354-7964 for more information.

LEADERSHIP AT WORK

Now Is The Time For All Beautiful Dairy Farms To Come To The Aid Of Their Industry

(Deadline For Applications Is April 15, 1990)

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — The Northeast Dairy of Distinction farm beautification program rewards clean, well-kept farmsteads to help with consumer acceptance of dairy products in the store.

At the recent annual meeting of the Pennsylvania division here, State Secretary Paul Nichols reported an increase in publicity for dairymen created by the Dairy of Distinction program in 1989.

Again in 1989, Governor Robert Casey declared a Dairy of Disctinction week by signing a proclamation that was presented by State Ag Secretary Boyd Wolff at the reception for all winners at Ag Progress Days in August. At that time, LANCASTER FARMING presented color photographs to each Dairy of Distinction winner, too.

"Since we now have worked on the program for three years, the benefits have started to multiply," Newswanger said. "Not only does the extra favorable publicity in the general press help bring modern farm practices to the attention of urban people, it helps the farmer, too. Many winners use the distinction to promote their own operation or to seek and hire farm labor."

And now is the time when additional dairy farmers may apply for the Dairy of Distinction award. Also farms that had applied in previous years but did not win are eligible to reapply this year. The Dairy of Distinction farms are automatically entered for rejudging along with the new applications to insure each designated farm maintains the standard of excellence required by the program.

Pennsylvania has been divided into 10 districts. Each district has been designated according to its number of dairy cows. Up to 10 farm awards per district may be given each year. Deadline for entry is April 15.

Judging takes place in the month of May and is based on the roadside appearance of buildings, grounds and surroundings. A local district team of judges visits each farm and uses a score sheet to rate each farm. In the Pennsylvania program, in addition to this team of judges, the sanitarian for the farm's cooperative or dealer-handler will be asked to be part of the judging process.

Custead-Valley Farm owned by Alan and Rhona Custead and Son Jim, located in Crawford County was one of the Dairy of Distinction farm winners in 1989. New applications for the 1990 judging are now being accepted.

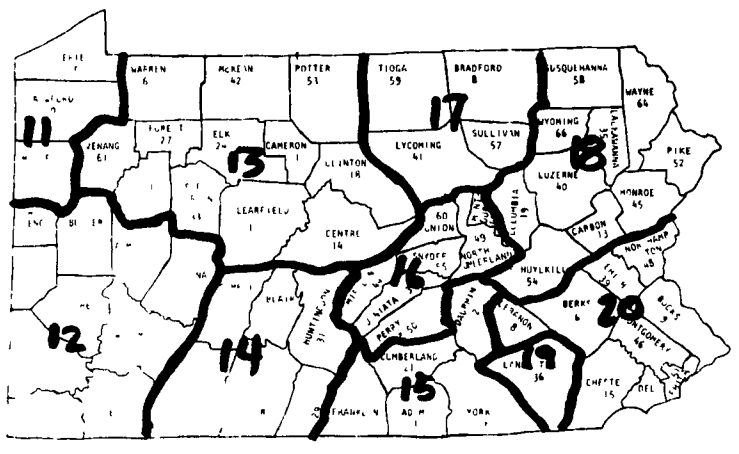
Winners receive a colorful, 18x24-inch Dairy of Distinction sign to be placed at the entrance to the farmstead. In addition, as in past years, an 11x14-inch color portrait of the farm will be given to each winning farm in the Pennsylvania program by LANCASTER FARMING.

The Dairy of Disctinction program is a cooperative, widespread industry effort. Sponsors include: milk promotion groups, cooperative extension, State Departments of Agriuclture, the Grange, Farm Bureau, producer groups and agribusinesses. The program is run by volunteers at all levels of the organization.

Dairy of Distinction
Dairy Farm Beautification Program



Pennsylvania Districts

Pennsylvania is divided into ten districts. Approximately 10 Dairy of Distinction awards will be made each year in each district. There is no cost to the applicant.

Pennsylvania area chairpersons are:

District 11: David Dowler; District 12: Wally Jackson; Disctrict 13: Susan DuJour; District 14: David Hileman; District 15: Sam Maclay; District 16: Bernice Gable; District 17: Kevin Barrett; District 18: Allen Roszel; District 19: Naomi Spahr and District 20: Russell Rooks.

As a winner, you will receive a certirficate and a nice metal sign to put at the end of your farm lane. In addition, LANCASTER FARMING will present this year's winners in Pennsylvania with a color portrait print of their farm. If your farm is a winner, be sure you or your district committee takes a color photograph of your farm and sends the negative and proof to LANCASTER FARMING in time for the awards ceremony.

HAPPENINGS

4-H Swine Club

The reorganizational meeting of the Lancaster County 4-H Swine Club will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, April 12, 1990, at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center.

The county-wide club is a consolidation of all former community 4-H swine projects into a program that has improved educational efforts, member recognition, and community support.

The evening's program will include official sign-up, distribution of project books, explanation of project goals, election of officers, and introduction of leaders.

The club will hold five meetings each year, a roundup and sale in August, and a recognition banquet in October. Members of the club will have the opportunity to participate in livestock and meat judging programs, pork bowl and public speaking competition, and the Pennsylvania Farm Show junior swine events.

Lancaster County youth between the ages of 8 and 19 years are invited to attend the organizational meeting. For additional information, contact Chet Hughes, Penn State cooperative extension livestock agent, 394-6851.

FRANKLIN COUNTY 4-H PIG CLUB

The first meeting of the Franklin County 4-H Pig Club for 1990 was held on Monday, March 19, 1990, at the 4-H Center, Franklin Farm Lane.

Officers were elected for the new year: Daren Stouffer, president; Steve Stoner, vice president; Missy Bittinger, secretary; and Seth Walk, news reporter.

New members will be accepted at the next meeting. Club members will be purchasing their pigs in April to have them ready for roundup in August. The next meeting will be held on April 16, 1990.

Franklin Co. Seeing Eye Puppy Club

The Franklin County 4-H Seeing Eye Puppy Club held a meeting at the extension office in Chambersburg on Feb. 26.

A training session was held, followed by a business meeting. The club planned numerous outings.

The club will be going to the Chambersburg Mall for a mall walk and has already participated in a demo for the Mason-Dixon Kennel Club. Club members will be participating in "Keep Pennsylvania Beautiful" in April and all the club members are encouraged to participate in the 4-H Presentation Day.

The club is going to try to raise money for a trip to Gettysburg Battlefield. Contact Donna Boyd at 264-9192 or the extension office for more information.

Conodoguinet 4-H Sheep Club

The Conodoguinet 4-H sheep Club met on March 21, 1990 at the Plainfield Fire House.

Members respond to roll call by standing and saying how many years they have been in 4-H.

We would like to welcome four new members to our club. They are Matt Cohick, Lynn Hoover, Taryn Rockwell, and John Writter.

Members were reminded that the candy money is due to their leader by April 15, 1990.

Members received a copy of the bylaws and were made aware of changes in the bylaws. They will vote on the changes at the next meeting.

Refreshments were provided by the Berkheimer and Suffel families.

The next meeting will be at Dickenson Township Building on April 18, 1990, at 7:30 p.m.

TENSAR POLYGRID

POLYGRID™ RF - Ranch Fence Lightweight easy to handle Polygrid RF has no sharp wires that can injure your horses RF is ideal for permanent or temporary corrals sick pens calf hutches or paddocks Black durable RF blends beautifully with its surroundings and satisfies a wide variety of building and fencing needs around your ranch or farm

POLYGRID BB - Bird Barrier Polygrid BB is specially designed to keep pesky sparrows and starlings that spread disease from farm to farm away from your hogs or poultry BB is a long lasting cost effective alternative to conventional wire and other materials that rot rust or corrode You ll find dozens of other uses for BB from trellis construction to small animal pens

POLYGRID GS - Ground Reinforcement During wet weather farm yards gateways, driveways, work yards and livestock areas can become impassable But with Tensar Polygrid GS reinforcement grid under your gravel even the muddiest areas stay firm year round GS reduces the frequency of regraveling It "locks up" crushed rock and other fill materials so soft ground won t give way even under daily use and heavy stress POLY GRID GS also can be used as a lightweight fence

POLYGRID SF - Sunshade/Snow Fence Heat stress and intense sunlight reduces feed efficiency in livestock and can interfere with normal growth in certain horticultural crops With Polygrid SF nurserymen livestock producers and dairy men can keep productivity high by effectively reducing temperatures by up to 15 degrees And in the winter months SF will minimize blowing snow and control drifts

POLYGRID WB - Windbreak Both crops and livestock can be damaged by wind Polygrid WB is specially designed to cut wind velocities up to 50% This reduces wind chill on your livestock and improves feed efficiency WB protects citrus vegetables, fruit and other wind-sensitive crops Light weight WB is ideal for constructing protective calf hutches temporary pens gateways and shelters

CONSTRUCTED FOR YEARS OF MAINTENANCE-FREE SERVICE.

You'll get more out of an Eby aluminum grain body. Lightweight and rugged aluminum provides rigid, fuel-efficient support to fill your grain hauling needs.

Eby packs years of experience, workmanship and performance into every aluminum body it manufactures. And special Eby options let you customize your body to your individual operation. Available in standard lengths, each unit is designed to provide you with an investment in durable performance and practical economy.

Look over these outstanding features.

- Less weight. Eby aluminum bodies weigh up to 30% less than comparable steel and wood construction.
- Less maintenance. Aluminum construction won't rust or rot - never needs painting.
- Long-life durability. Heavy-duty structural components and hollow-tube frame combine with aluminum floor and sides to stand up to years of hard work.

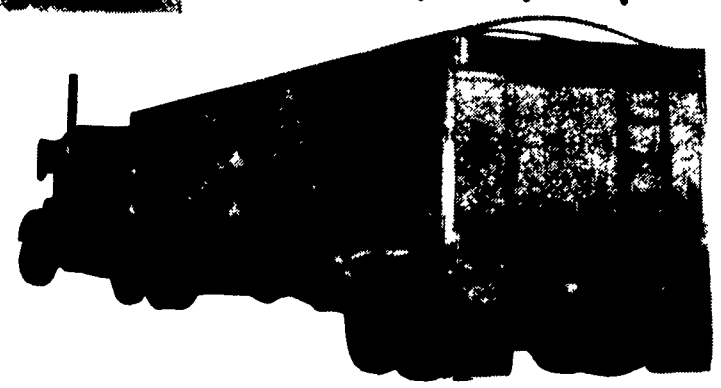
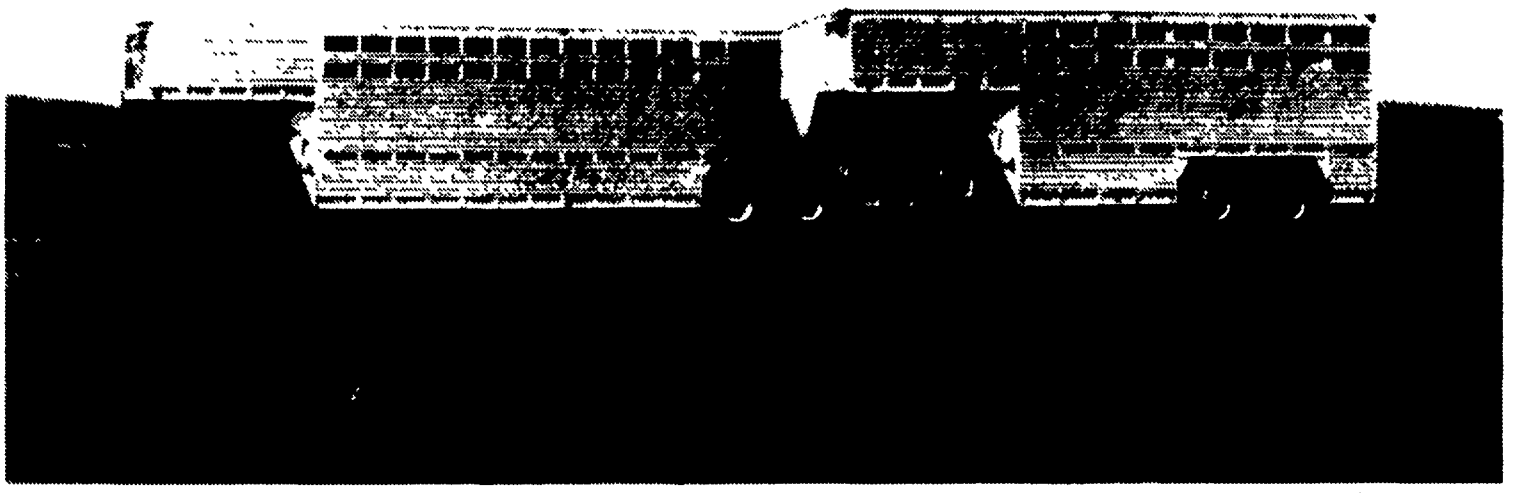
Flash (2) Late Model Used Timpte's Nice Priced Right



Got Grain? Then get the trailer that is Timpte tough... the Super Hopper. It's not only built to take it...it's also built to cut fuel costs. The Super Hopper is lightweight and aerodynamically designed to reduce wind drag. When there's grain to be hauled, Timpte does the haulin' best and pulls a lot easier than the rest.

M.H. EBY, INC.
Box 127, Blue Ball, PA 17506 (717) 354-4971



24 foot Ruff Neck trailer on left is Eby's workhorse. Trailer on the right is an economical, 16 foot Wrangler.

Get outstanding value in EVERY Eby trailer.

Whether it's a top-of-the-line Ruff Neck or an economical Wrangler, you know your livestock trailer is built to last if it's from Eby.

Aluminum construction is one of the main reasons these trailers are so durable and reliable. They'll never rust through or need welding. In fact, without ever being painted, an Eby livestock trailer will stay looking new for years.

Standard features make your Eby trailer a profitable investment. Extra-heavy axles, brakes, wheels and tires. Thick aluminum sheet flooring. Sturdy posts and rails. Even an aerodynamically designed front end is standard.

And, while standard features make even the economical Eby Wrangler far more than an average economy-model, we custom-build everything we make. So you tell us what you want. Choose from a long list of options. Select those features you need for your particular operation. Whether it's a Wrangler or deluxe Ruff Neck, the trailer you buy will be the trailer you need.

MASTER MIX

SILO-BOOSTER

Why should you use Master Mix SILO BOOSTER instead of another product? SILO-BOOSTER has been proven in 23 years of on-farm use, as well as in continuous university research. With each new discovery in silage science, we have improved the original formula. Today's SILO-BOOSTER gives the most effective silage innoculant yet developed.

SUMMARY OF RESULTS

Alfalfa Ensiled With And Without SILO-BOOSTER Conducted At The University Of Minnesota West Central Experiment Station Morris, Minnesota

Summary Of Haylage Crops

DRY MATTER RECOVERY (1)	CONTROL	SILO-BOOSTER
Amount D.M. Ensiled, lb.	26,228	30,418
Amount D.M. Removed, lb.	24,432	30,278
Recovery, %	93.2	99.5

(1) Individual loads of fresh forage were weighed before ensiling; after storage, silos were emptied completely at one time.

Composition and pH of Stored Alfalfa Ensiled With and Without SILO BOOSTER.

	CONTROL	SILO-BOOSTER
Dry Matter, %	50.66	54.98
pH	6.33	5.82
Crude Protein, %	23.64	23.45
Ammonia Nitrogen	19.76	14.80
ADIN-N. % of total N	5.76	5.58
ADF. % of D.M.	31.74	30.23
NFD. % of D.M.	42.44	41.88
Lactic Acid, % of D.M.	1.00	.87
Acetic Acid, % of D.M.	72	.52
Propionic Acid, % of D.M.	.018	.007
Butyric Acid, % of D.M.	.119	.027

Dry matter recovery data from these conventional silos demonstrates a 6.3% difference in feedable alfalfa silage. For each 100 tons of silage, there would be an additional 6.3 tons of silage available for feeding. This is equivalent to 3.5 tons of 90% dry matter hay worth approximately $350.00. This is a $3.50 return for each $1.00 investment in SILO BOOSTER from a reduction in fermentation losses alone.

Buy Easter Eggs Already Colored

BRUCE MORGAN
Special to Lancaster Farming

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — Sauder's Eggs, Lititz, is making it easier for people to prepare for Easter.

Beginning this year, they will make colored Easter eggs available in clear display cartons to shoppers of local grocery stores. The new product hit the store shelves on Monday and Tuesday, said Paul Sauder, president of the company.

"It's something I've been looking at for a couple of years and now since we have the hard-cooking operation (which they began in January, 1989), it was just a spinoff from that," he said.

To get the project on its feet, Sauder's Eggs took its hard-cooking process one step further and has recently finished building a warehouse in which to store their dry goods (empty cases and cartons).

"We have a goal of doing 500 cases of Easter eggs because that's all we can manufacture this year, but I'm looking to do a lot more next year," Sauder said.

"We're limiting our marketing to a local area and we have chain stores in New Jersey and New York City that would love to have it, but I can't give it away because I can't make them," he said.

Sauder's Eggs started using the new $200,000 expansion project two weeks ago. The building, which still requires some electrical and plumbing work, is 100 feet by 70 feet and is two stories high.

Another new project which is part of their expansion plans is selling non-colored hard-cooked eggs to grocery stores on a year-round basis.

These hard-cooked eggs will be sealed with a preservative, the same that coats M & M candies, to give them a six-week shelf life.

"It's a great snack item to put in people's lunches to take to work or out on a picnic and you don't have to worry about keeping them cold," Sauder said. "We knew the demand was there for the hard cooking, especially someone who was going to do quality aspect of hard-cooking eggs."

This entire expansion project has been in the works for close to five years now, but only seriously got going when Sauder's Eggs hired Bill Murray, who has a degree in food science from Penn State, in June 1988.

Bill Murray expects the colored Easter eggs available through Sauder's Eggs will find a niche in the market.

The company then began the hard-cooking process in January 1989 and has been making them without shells for food service businesses.

Sauder said salad-grade eggs are shipped to salad companies, for making macaroni salad and potato salad, and that premium grade eggs are used by businesses to make red beat eggs.

"The benefit of a restaurant getting these hard-cooked eggs is that they are already peeled," Sauder said. "They don't need to have labor to peel them.

"There's an art to aging the egg to get it to peel right," he said. "There's a fine line between undercooking and overcooking. If you undercook, then you get a runny yoke, and if you overcook, then you get some chemical reaction that you don't want to happen."

An average of 46,000 cases of fresh eggs are sold per week by Sauder's Eggs. Their marketing reaches businesses from Boston to Virginia.

Reduction Program Deadline Nears

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The 1990 Acreage Reduction Program sign-up ends on April 13, 1990 at the Office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

According to Paul B. Kline, chairman of the Lancaster County ASC Committee, farmers with crop acreage bases may qualify for price support loans and target price protection under an approved 1990 contract.

Producers must reduce corn and barley plantings by 10 percent of their crop acreage base to be eligible. The oats and wheat acreage limitation is 5 percent.

A percent of the planted acres of the participating crop must be devoted to an Acreage Conservation Reserve (ACR) or set-aside. "This acreage must be protected from wind and water erosion," said Kline. He also mentioned that no crop may be harvested from the ACR. Grazing of the set-aside acreage, however, will be permitted beginning on September 1, 1990.

Wheat and feed grain producers have the option of participating under the 0/92 provisions in which they may underplant their permitted acres and still, under some conditions, receive deficiency payments on a portion of the underplanted acreage. The maximum acreage for 0/92 payments is the difference between the acreage planted to the program crop and 92 percent of the permitted acreage.

Limited cross compliance will be in effect. To be eligible for benefits for a participating crop, the acreage planted for harvest on a farm to any other program crop may not exceed the acreage base for that crop. Oats is not subject to the limited cross compliance requirement.

Participants may request an advance portion of the deficiency payment at sign-up. This advance will be made at a rate equal to 40 percent of the projected total deficiency payment rate.

Contracts signed by program participants are binding and provide for liquidated damages for failure to comply with program requirements. All participants must complete a farm operating plan for payment limitation review and must be in compliance with sodbuster and swampbuster provisions. Kline advises anyone who is interested in the program to contact the county ASCS Office at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center.

Milk Check Biggest Drop In History

MEDINA, Ohio — "When dairy farmers in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio receive their March partial milk check, they will be shocked -- just as I am -- to see the advance milk price of $12.22 per hundredweight(cwt).

After realizing record milk prices in December and January we are now seeing the largest monthly drop in history--$1.72 below February's advance price.

This is disturbing to local dairy farmers because milk is in short supply in Pennsylvania which does not warrant this substantial price decline. More importantly, the recent drop in our March advance price is just an indication of the milk prices we will be receiving in subsequent months," said Lowell Friedline, an independent dairy farmer from Somerset County.

The problem, according to Friedline, is that milk prices for western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio are based on national marketing conditions. Since the nation's milk supply is increasing to the same level as last year, our milk price is falling even though our milk production in January was down 8-percent compared to a year ago.

Paul Mader, an independent dairy farmer from Harrison County, Ohio, sees the same thing happening in Ohio.

"Milk production in Ohio is also lagging far behind the national trend. In January, U.S. milk production was at the same level as last year, but milk production in Ohio was down six percent," Mader said. "The law of supply and demand in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania should keep the milk price from falling, but apparently it is not and we are experiencing a $1.72 per cwt drop in our milk price," he said.

"Obviously, local dairy farmers have little control over the milk price they receive. If we are to maintain a viable dairy industry in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio, we need to stabilize our milk price. Particularly at a time when our milk production cost is not falling like the milk price. For example, since last spring, I have been supplementing my dairy ration with more than the normal amount of soybean meal in order to help offset the poor quality of feed we have harvested during last year's extraordinary wet spring," Friedline said.

Both Friedline and Mader accepted a position as director for the Producers' Equalization Agency to represent dairy farmers in an effort to address the dilemma of lower prices, high milk production costs and a falling milk supply.

"We have established a dairy farmers organization to help stabilize the current milk price. Our organization is designed to price milk which would provide an over-order premium to all dairy farmers in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio in the form of a third check," Friedline said.

"We do not intend to market milk, so dairy farmers would continue to receive their normal milk check and ship their milk to the plant of their choice. The cost of operating the agency (about one cent per cwt) would be taken from premiums after they have been collected and therefore dairy farmers would not have to pay any dues. This organization should be acceptable to all dairy farmers in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio and provide a solution to the problem that we are now experiencing," Friedline said.

"To make this agency work, dairy farmers in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio must become involved by learning more about current marketing conditions and the agency. Then the vast majority of dairy farmers in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio must agree to price their milk by signing a marketing agreement," Friedline said.

Wins Buttermaker Award

SOUTHAMPTON (Bucks Co.) — Holly Milk, a subsidiary of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, is the 1990 recipient of Land O'Lakes "Master Buttermaker" award.

Presented at Land O'Lakes annual meeting in February, the award recognizes outstanding achievement in manufacturing the Land O'Lakes brand butter. Selection is based on reguar examination of critical manufacturing processes and practices, such as sanitation, product flavor and overall quality.

"It's great," Holly's chief operating officer William L. Schreiber said of winning the award, which he believes exemplifies Holly's commitment to teamwork and excellence.

This was a team effort from beginning to end," Schreiber said. "Everyone plays a role, from the person unloading the milk trucks to those in charge of monitoring the butter process."

Holly Milk, headquartered in Mt. Holly Springs, began producing butter for Land O'Lakes in February 1981. The more than 25 million pounds of butter processed in 1989 was sold in bulk and one-pound packages.

Holly processes butter an average of six days a week. A total of 20 employees, working four shifts, oversees the manufacturing process.

According to Schreiber, the butter manufactured at Holly is sent to one of several Land O'Lakes distribution centers. From there the butter is delivered primarily to stores in Pennsylvania, Connecticut, New York and New Jersey.

Competition for the Master Buttermaker award is "intense between the facilities which produce Land O'Lakes butter," said Dick Fogg, group vice president of dairy foods for Land O'Lakes.

"This year, Holly Milk's superior performance edged out a number of excellent competitors from other facilities," he said. "We salute their achievement."

Land O'Lakes is a food and agricultural cooperative headquartered in Minnesota. Holly Milk is the manufacturing division of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, which represents nearly 3,600 dairy farm families in a seven-state region.

Plant Dogwood Trees For Color And Effect

NEWARK, Del. — The flowering dogwood tree is full-colored throughout three seasons and a popular choice for home landscaping. A beautiful showy display of flowers in the spring is followed by crisp green foliage in the summer that, in the autumn, turns to a rich brocade of red and crimson.

According to Margaret L. Moor, Delaware State College Cooperative Extension agent, you can choose from several varieties of flowering dogwood trees for a bright landscaping effect.

Moor recommends several types of the American or eastern dogwood, native to the eastern United States:

• Pink Flowering blooms before leaves appear and thrives in sun or partial shade. Red to purple foliage and red berries appear in the autumn.

• Cloud 9 is an extremely abundant, spreading bloomer. Two-year-old trees may have up to 75 blooms, which are large and clean white in color.

• Cherokee Chief is one of the best known of all dogwood varieties. Blooms are a beautiful deep ruby red that hold their color throughout the blooming period. In the autumn the Cherokee Chief is brilliant scarlet, shading to purple and green.

• Rainbow is a white-flowering dogwood that produces bright yellow and green leaves in the spring and summer. Red berries and pink-red-purple-colored leaves appear in autumn.

Moor also suggests another type of dogwood known as the Oriental, native to China, Japan and Korea. Oriental dogwoods spread as they grow and tend to be multi-trunked. Two of the more popular varieties are:

• Milky Way is a vigorously growing tree that has star-shaped blooms which appear after leaves are out in May and June. Reddish fall foliage, large, red, strawberry-like fruit and exfoliating bark create a fascinating year-round effect, according to Moor.

• National has large, creamy-white star-shaped blooms that provide an exceptional contrast against the dark green foliage. Large, red, strawberry-like fruit appears in the fall. A vigorous grower, this variety forms a vase-shaped tree. In the winter, the branching habit and exfoliating bark of large trees create a sculptured effect.

Moor said it is best to transplant dogwood trees when they are fully dormant. Balled-and-burlapped plants can be planted November through April. Bareroot dogwoods should be planted early in the spring.

Select a well-drained site. Dig a hole one and a half to two times wider than the ball of soil, or the spread of the root of the bareroot plants. Don't dig much deeper unless backfill soil is packed in the bottom of the hole to prevent settling.

Leave the burlap or wire basket on the ball, but remove any plastic strings tied around the base of the trunk and slit any treated or plastic burlap.

For the first growing season, water thoroughly once a week unless rainfall is ample and evenly distributed. Less water will be needed on well-mulched trees than on unmulched ones, said Moor.

If the planting site has reasonably fertile soil, well supplied with organic matter, fertilizer is usually not needed the first year. Dogwoods are not heavy feeders and excess fertilizer can damage their roots.

The fleshy, soft, delicately branching root system of a dogwood tree grows near the soil's surface. Moor said to watch for damage from drying out, mechanical injury, oxygen starvation, insects and disease.

Soybean Test Reports Are In

Soybean tests are conducted annually to provide interested persons with information regarding the performance of soybeans grown in Pennsylvania. The 1989 report is now available in county extension offices.

The following characteristics were measured/evaluated for the varieties grown:

• Yield - calculated after all the seed weights were adjusted to 13 percent moisture.

• Maturity - when approximately 95 percent of pods were ripe.

• Height - average length of plants from the ground to the tip of the main stem.

• Lodging.

• Seed quality and purple stain.

• Seed size - the approximate number of seeds in one pound.

New Corn Uses Grab Spotlight

GREENSBORO, N.C. — New uses for corn and its by-products are the focus of the third annual Corn Utilitzation Conference (CUC III).

The conference, scheduled for June 19-21 in St. Louis, Mo., brings together top corn-use researchers and industry leaders for an exchange of information that in the past has led to new corn uses.

"Since the first utilization conference in June 1987, the number of universities that research new corn uses has increased significantly," said Dr. Gene Iannotti, CUC III chairman and associate professor, University of Missouri, Columbia. "I get excited when I see the progress we've made in three years. We expect CUC III to spur even more developments.

At the conference, sponsored by Ciba-Geigy Seed Division and the National Corn Growers Association (NCGA), experts from around the world will present papers on various advances in corn use.

"Poly saccharides, either starch or cellulose, can be economical sources for raw materials used to produce commodity chemicals," says Dr. James Gaddy, department of chemical engineering, University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, and chairman of the Chemicals From Corn session. "There is great potential for chemicals ranging from alcohols to acids, ketones and aldehydes to be made from corn."

The feasibility of using corn to produce calcium megnesium acetate (CMA), a non-corrosive road de-icer, will be a key presentation in Gaddy's session.

Corn also can be used as part of many plastic products. Dr. Helena Li Chum, manager, chemical conversion research branch, Solar Energy Research Institute, Golden, Colo., will chair sessions on polymers and their environmental degradation.

"Compatibility is an issue when cornstarch and cornstarch-derived polymers are used with high-volume thermoplastics," said Chum. "We'll discuss research on these materials and chemical approaches to increase compatibility."

Research on the biodegradation of these materials also will be highlighted. One presentation will focus on the findings of a field-scale composting experiment in Urbana, Ill. A discussion of the pros and cons of composting will follow the presentation.

Dr. Ron Phillips, department of agronomy and plant genetics, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, will chair a session on biotechnology that examines the many advantages available today.

"This session captures the excitement of recent biotechnological developments and future expectations," said Phillips. "The concerns that often accompany such rapid change will be addressed, as will federal regulations."

Featured biotechnology includes the use of genetically engineered bacteria to protect the corn plant, the monitoring of corn crosses with new molecular genetic markers called restriction fragment length polymorphisms (RFLPs), and the use of tissue culture to select corn hybrids with special attributes.

For more information on CUC III, contact Ann Beirne, NCGA, 1000 Executive Parkway, Suite 105, St. Louis, MO 63141-6397, (314) 275-9915.

Groundwater Is Everyone's Responsibility

NEWARK, Del.— Earth Day 1990, observed on April 22, offers an opportunity to reflect on how your actions impact the environment.

Pointing fingers won't help clean up the environment, said Dr. Richard Barczewski, University of Delaware Extension agent. But taking responsibility will.

"It's tempting for city folks to blame farmers," Barczewski said. "Farmers blame and suburbanites. And the suburbanites blame the chemical industries. In fact, everyone is to blame."

The agent maintains that every time a farmer overfertilizes a crop, a potential pollution problem is created. The same holds true for a homeowner who overfertilizes a lawn or pours used automotive oil on the ground. Chemical companies that discharge unpurified water into surface waters are also to blame for some of the pollution problems.

"We can begin cleaning up our own acts by staying informed about the proper use and disposal of various chemical compounds, fertilizers, and manures," Barczewski said. "Because all of us can make a difference in water quality."

The agent advises all landowners, whether large farmers or homeowners, to test their soils to determine the nutrients that are present in the soil because some fields or lawns may not need fertilization.

Farmers need to set realistic crop yields and fertilize just enough for that yield. Fertilizing for a larger yield than is attainable only leaves excess nutrients in the soil that will leach into the groundwater.

"The agricultural sector is trying some new practices that wil ultimately result in better groundwater quality," Barczewski said.

One is the adoption of integrated pest management (IPM). Through IPM, fields are scouted routinely for the presence of insect pests. When levels of pests meet or exceed the economic threshold determined by research data, fields are sprayed to control the pests. This practice has reduced the need to spray pesticides on a regular basis and has ensured timely treatments, thus making them more effective.

Another agricultural area of concern is the use of manure as a nutrient source. With the Delmarva poultry industry being so large, care must be taken to dispose of this manure properly. Barczewski points out that prudently applied manure adds nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium without harming the groundwater quality.

Several agencies, including Delaware Cooperation Extension, Delaware's Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control, the Soil Conservation Service and conservation districts in each county have been working together to provide farmers with information on methods of storage, testing, and use of manures.

Dealing with issues that affect water quality can be difficult. But public awareness and concern can make a difference when it comes to preserving water quality, Barczewski said.

Notice Of Right To Nominate By Petition

YORK (York Co.) — The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) is accepting nominations for county committee elections for York County. This notice is issued to inform eligible voters of the right to nominate candidates by petition. Copies of the petition and instructions on its completion can be obtained from your local FmHA office.

Persons nominated should have an interest in a farm as an owner, tenant, or share cropper within the county or area in which activities of the county or area committee are carried out. They must be citizens of the United States or aliens lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, and be qualified for committee work. Spouses of those persons who meet the eligibility criteria are also eligible for nomination for election to the county committee.

Nominations must be received in the York, FmHA office, 124 Pleasant Acres Road, York, PA 17402 no later than May 19, 1990. FmHA committee elections are open to all eligible voters without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, political affiliation, marital status, sex, and/or handicap.

4-H Tractor Safety Course

The extension office, in cooperation with the Upper Bucks Vocational Technical School, is holding a 4-H Tractor Safety Course in May.

Who needs a tractor safety course?

Anyone between the ages of 14 and 16 who will work with large equipment on a farm, for landscapers, etc. is invited. The successful completion of the course will allow you to do certain tasks on the farm that you would otherwise be prohibited from doing under Pennsylvania and Child Labor Laws. A farmer's own children are not required to take the course; however, it would certainly be beneficial. To register for this program, call the extension office. A maximum of 25 people and a minimum of 10 students are required. There will be a small charge for the textbook and materials.

As in all 4-H programs, we invite and encourage parents to stay and participate with their children.

Help Protect Drinking Water

NEWARK, Del. — "Stewardship of natural resources is becoming more and more important as the public recognizes the need to preserve and conserve land, water and air quality," said Gerald F. Vaughn, University of Delaware Extension resource economics specialist. "All citizens should be familiar with the laws that affect their drinking water."

Delawareans, especially those whose water supply comes from wells, may wonder just how the government protects their drinking water.

The Delaware Environmental Protection Act of 1973 is a state act that allows the Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control (DNREC) to control the development and use of land, water, underwater and air resources of the state.

DNREC works with the Division of Public Health, the Department of Health and Social Services and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to administer state and federal laws.

"State water quality regulatory programs must adhere, at the very least, to federal laws," Vaughn said. "But state programs can be even more stringent."

EPA is responsible for protecting the nation's environment, including rural drinking water, against pollution from any source. The following federal laws protect water: the Clean Water Act; the Comprehensive Emergency Response, Compensation and Liability Act; Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act; the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act; and the Safe Drinking Water Act.

The five federal laws encourage citizen participation in several ways: helping to authorize state programs and permits; petitioning to issue, amend or repeal regulation; filing lawsuits against those who violate regulation and permit conditions.

The Clean Water Act, 1972, was designed to restore and maintain the chemical, physical and biological integrity of the nation's waters.

"Anyone engaged in activities that pollute water must get a permit from the EPA," the specialist said. "This permit lists the limitations on the type and amount of pollutants to be discharged."

State water-quality standards are based on water quality criteria developed by EPA, Vaughn said. States are authorized to put the provisions of the Clean Water Act into effect and enforce them.

"Courts can immediately halt any operation that illegally discharges pollutants," he said. "This act also makes a provision for citizen lawsuits, authorizing any person to sue either the violator or the EPA."

Vaughn said the Clean Water Act was designed to give the federal government strong regulatory control over water polluters. It is aimed primarily at polluters of surface water and end-of-the-pipe source of pollution called point sources.

The Comprehensive Emergency Response Compensation and Liability Act (CERCLA), or Superfund, 1980, authorizes and finances government enforced cleanup of chemical spills and inactive hazardous waste sites that contaminate or threaten groundwater.

"This program has suffered some criticism for being too slow, and in some cases, ineffective," the specialist said. "Insufficient congressional appropriation, limited state support and inadequate provisions for citizen participation are among the reasons."

But, Vaughn said, additional funding was secured under the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act (SARA) of 1986, and an accelerated timetable was mandated.

"Citizen groups can secure grants of up to $50,000 for technical assistance to review cleanup plans and options," he said.

The Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), 1984, allows EPA to temporarily suspend or permanently ban a chemical's use if it is found to be harmful to people or the environment.

"More attention has been given to pesticides that leach into the groundwater than to chemical runoff from cropland; thus critics say that implementation of FIFRA is hampered by lack of restrictions on pesticide use based on leaching potential," Vaughn said. "Lack of funding for staff and enforcement; lack of data on the type, areas and amount of pesticide used; and lack of support for non-hazardous pest controls are other common criticisms."

The Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA), 1976, amended in 1984 helps protect groundwater by regulating the storage, transportation, treatment and disposal of hazardous wastes, including underground tanks. The regulations apply primarily to manufacturers and distributors of chemicals.

"Under this act, EPA is required to issue solid waste management guidelines and states are responsible for managing solid waste facilities under plans approved by the EPA," the specialist said.

The Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA), 1974, protects public drinking water supplies. A public water system is defined as one which serves 25 or more people on a regular basis, or a system with 15 or more service connections.

"Private wells, which are used by more than 40 million people nationwide, go unprotected by law," said Vaughn. "An exception is the sole-source aquifers and well heads which supply public water systems. They may come under protective measures and they sometimes supply private wells."

A more detailed description of the State of Delaware Regulations Governing Public Drinking Water Systems, as well as more information on the federal acts has been compiled by Vaughn into a four-page fact sheet published by University of Delaware Cooperative Extension.

The fact sheet, "A Citizen's Guide to Laws for Clean Rural Drinking Water in Delaware," may be picked up free of charge through county Extension offices in Newark, Dover and Georgetown.

MILK AMERICA'S HEALTH KICK

Rodent Control Necessary

On farms where feed grains are handled and stored, or where livestock are housed and fed, it is generally impossible to exclude rodents from all available food.

In such situations, removing shelter that rodents can use for hiding, resting and nesting is valuable in control. Regular removal of debris and control of weeds around structures will reduce the amount of shelter available to rodents.

Additionally, a clean, three-foot weed-free perimeter around structures may make rodents feel more exposed and permits easier detection of rodent activity.

Because mice can survive in very small areas with limited food and shelter, it is almost impossible to eliminate them through sanitation alone, particularly on farms.

Most buildings in which livestock feed is stored, handled, or used will support a thriving population of house mice, if not mouse proof.

Store feeds in rodent proof buildings, rooms, or containers whenever possible. Bins used for bulk feed should be kept rodent proof.

Stack sacked feed on pallets with adequate space left around and under stored articles to allow easy inspection for rodent signs and placement of traps or baits.

Trapping is an effective way to control rodents. House mice are relatively easy to trap, but trapping rats requires more skill and labor.

Trapping is the method to try first where rodents are few, but it may be too time-consuming in severe infestations.

Trapping has several advantages: it does not rely on potentially hazardous rodenticides; it permits the user to view his success; and it allows for disposal of the rodent carcasses, thereby eliminating dead animal odors, which may occur when poisoning is done within buildings.

The simple, inexpensive wood-based snap trap is effective.

Recently, new and improved snap traps for rats and mice have become available. These traps, made of sturdy plastic or metal, are easier to set and effective when used correctly.

Snap traps are available through farm suppliers.

Bait the traps with a mixture of peanut butter and rolled oats or with a small piece of bacon tied securely to the trigger. Set them so that the trigger is sensitive and will spring easily. Leaving traps baited but unset until the bait has been taken at least once reduces the chance of creating trap-shy rodents.

Multiple-capture live traps for mice are effective and will save service time. They, too, are available in some hardware and feed stores as well as from pest control suppliers.

Set traps close to walls, behind objects, in dark corners, and in places where rodent activity is evident.

Tracking patches of flour or fine sand can be used to determine where rodents are active.

Traps may be placed on ledges or on top of pallets of stored materials if mice or rats are active there. Where possible, place snap traps so that rodents will pass directly over the trigger as they follow their natural course of travel, usually close to a wall.

Newer snap traps have enlarged triggers, but bait pans on older traps can be easily enlarged so that rodents are more likely to trigger the trap when traveling over it. When traps are set correctly, it is possible to catch rodents that are not even attracted to the bait.

Use enough traps to make the campaign short and decisive.

Mice, in particular, seldom venture far from their shelter and food supply, so space snap traps no more than ten feet apart in areas where mice are active.

When using snap traps, it may be best to trap intensively for two or three weeks and then rest for a couple of weeks before resuming efforts.

This may save some labor costs and helps prevent rodents from becoming trap-shy.

Place multiple catch traps in areas where mice seem especially persistent and in access points; for example, on both sides of doorways.

NORTHERN BERKS 4-H

The Northern Berks 4-H Club had their meeting March 22, 1990, at the Shartlesville Grange. We had three demonstrations by Angie Werley, Erica Davis, and Lynne Koinski.

Our next meeting will be April 26, 1990, at the Harvey Stoltzfus Farm at 7:30 p.m.

Spring 4-H Programs

What is 4-H? 4-H is an organization for young people who want to learn and have fun. Anyone 8 to 19 years may join 4-H with their parents permission and support. There are over 20 4-H Clubs in Bucks County with more than 400 members. An additional 2500-3000 members participate in the 4-H school enrichment programs throughout the county. If you are interested in joining a 4-H program or club, call the Penn State Cooperative Extension Service, Bucks County Office (345-3283) for more information.

Nominations Needed For Committee

CLEONA (Lebanon Co.) — The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) is accepting nominations for County Committee elections for Lebanon-Dauphin County.

This notice is issued to inform eligible voters of the right to nominate candidates by petition. Copies of the petition and instructions on its completion can be obtained from your local FmHA office.

Persons nominated should have an interest in a farm as an owner, tenant, or sharecropper within the county or area in which activities of the county or area committee are carred out.

They must be citizens of the United States or aliens lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, and be well qualified for committee work.

Spouses or those persons who meet the eligibility criteria are also eligible for nomination for election to the county committee.

Nominations must be received in the Lebanon-Dauphin County office no later than May 22, 1990.

FmHA committee elections are open to all eligible voters without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, political affiliation, marital status, sex, and/or handicap.

EARLY BIRD SPRING SALE

1150/1160 windrow merger

Gehl's hydraulically-driven windrow mergers combine two windrows as you harvest your crop Fuel savings are substantial because you make only half as many passes, plus you can reduce ground speed to save wear and tear on your tractor The units quickly mount on the front of most tractors As you pass through the field, one windrow is picked up by the unit Then, a cross conveyor carries the material to the side where it tumbles onto the second windrow The result improved uniformity of cut because of the thicker crop mat feeding into the harvester Gehl's windrow mergers also work great with square balers

Gehl 1160W 7 Ft. Windrow Merger - Use as a Windrow Merger or Use as a Hay Fluffer or Hay Tedder, Hyd Drive, Demo, 1 Only, w/Crowder Wheel Kit & Mount Kit - Serial #20939 List $5,677
Price $4,390

Scavenger® II spreaders

Here's the one spreader for the two-spreader farm. A Gehl Scavenger II spreader lets you spread liquids, semi-solids, pen-packed, even frozen manure. The patented heavy-duty square-tube auger makes the big difference Turning at low rpm, it produces a unique "pulse action" that breaks up manure in the tank Specially formed paddles rip through tough clods to deliver a steady, constant flow to the discharge The auger can be hydraulically powered up and down to chop through bridged and frozen material The Varifio discharge gives you complete application control Five models are available with heaped capacities from 192 to 596 bushels They're backed by a 10-year rust-through warranty

Gehl 309 192 Bu. Scavenger, 1 Only, Spreader - New Recapped Tires, Splash Guard - Serial #3857. List $6,798. Sale Price $5,250

BUNK FEEDER WAGON

Fast, efficient feeding!

Gehl's thrifty feeder wagon features rugged construction and operating simplicity. This economical unit fills the needs of farmers and ranchers who don't require the complete mixing action provided by our mixer feeders. The simple two-auger system smoothly transfers feed to the wide unloading conveyor for high-capacity discharge into feed bunks. The Model 7190 is rated at 190 cubic foot struck capacity.

Model F7190, 190 Cu. Ft. With Lots Of Fine Features!
1 ONLY $4,690 Less Additional Discount For Cash Or Lease Payment

Thoroughly Conditioned
Several 9'3" Cut Model 2170 IN STOCK!

The Gehl 2140/2170 mower conditioners will thoroughly condition your hay. These pull-type mower conditioners are built for fast cutting, fast drying and worry-free performance. The wide, intermeshing rubber rolls with intermittent ribs give you 35% more working edges than continuous-ribbed rolls, for more thorough conditioning That means shorter drying time with less leaf damage. See Binkley & Hurst, your Gehl dealer today on how the 2170 with a 9 ft. 3 in. cutting width, will fit into your haymaking operation.

GEHL - The New Leader In Box Spreaders

FULL 10-YEAR WARRANTY ON FLOOR & SIDES

Gehl-Tuff floor
In cold weather, the slick Gehl-Tuff surface reduces the force needed to break a frozen apron loose from the floor So your whole load glides out with little resistance And less apron pull means less wear and tear on drives and apron chains

Heavy-duty gear boxes
Two heavy duty gear boxes, one a 90 degree beater drive, the other a two-speed worm box with bronze gear and steel worm provide efficient power transmissions, smoother operation and long life

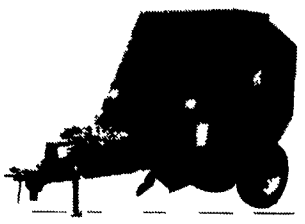
8420 Round Baler



Product Highlights

- The Case International 8420 Round Baler was designed with the smaller operation in mind It produces weather-tight bales that measure 39 inches (99 m) wide and up to 54 inches (1.37 m) in diameter It is priced to be competitive.
- Open-throat, vertical bale chamber permits crop material to feed directly into the bale chamber eliminating the need for platform belts, chains and compression rollers The variable chamber also provides the capability of making bales that range from 30 inches to 54 inches in diameter
- Main frame, axle and hitch are unitized box construction utilizing high strength steel components to resist twisting and increase service life.
- Force-feed design provides immediate core formation and allows the operator to bale straw, cornstalks and crop residue just as easily as hay crops
- Dual bale tension arms maintain uniform belt tension and high-density from the core to the finished bale.
- Low-profile pickup, 37 9 inches wide, sweeps the ground clean while standard rubber gathering wheels pull in extra-wide, wind-blown windrows for more uniform filling of bale ends
- The windguard holds the crop down while the pickup tines feed the crop into the bale chamber in an even flow
- Choice of manual or hydraulic twine-wrap syster to match any budget or operation
- Bale size indicator provides operator with constant reference of bale size during bale making process

IN STOCK WITH MANUAL TIE.

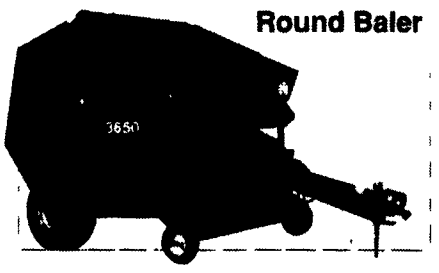
3650 Round Baler



case IH

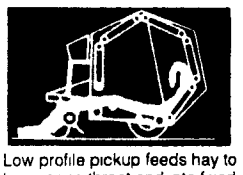
Product Highlights

- Open throat fixed volume bale chamber permits crop materials to be fed directly through the 13 inch (330 mm) throat opening The 11 inch (279 mm) wide bottom belts convey the crop to the rear forming belts
- Endless molded forming belts constructed of nylon fiber layers and reinforced with two rubber facings last up to 40 times longer than spliced belts of comparable materials
- Control monitor for electric tie mounted on the tractor allows operator to adjust twine tying speed Light and buzzer indicate when bale is ready to tie
- Dual gauge wheels are standard equipment They protect the pickup from damage in rough or uneven fields
- Main frame axle and hitch constructed of high strength welded box beam steel resist twisting forces from rough and uneven fields
- Driveline is shear bolt protected from overloads or obstructions preventing possible expensive damage and downtime

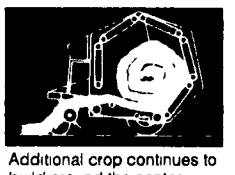
The Case International 3650 Round Baler produces large weather resistant bales 6 feet (1 83 m) in diameter and 5 feet (1 52 m) in width and is designed to combine high production performance with easy operation

- Low profile pickup 75 75 inches (1 92 m) wide gets all the crop open end design pulls in the crop without hairpinning The four bar 88 tooth reel lifts and moves the crop smoothly to the bale chamber with minimum leaf loss
- Electrically controlled dual twine arms assure fast efficient tying
- Bale counter is standard this allows the operator to keep track of yields as well as amount of work accomplished
- Constant-velocity driveline allows quiet operation at turning angles up to 80 degrees
- Wide 11-inch belts provide almost 92% bale coverage to minimize crop and leaf loss

How 3650 Round Baler Produces Better Bales

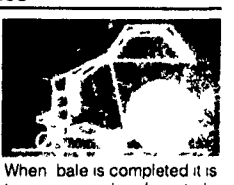


Low profile pickup feeds hay to large open throat and into fixed bale chamber Bottom belts move material to the rear where lower forming belts lift and tumble material to the center of the chamber No rolls to crush and mat the crop



Additional crop continues to build around the center material

As bale enlarges, it is compacted from the outside in The result is a hard well formed weather resistant outer shell with breathable core



When bale is completed it is twine wrapped and ejected There is no need to back up the baler to eject with the optional trip gate

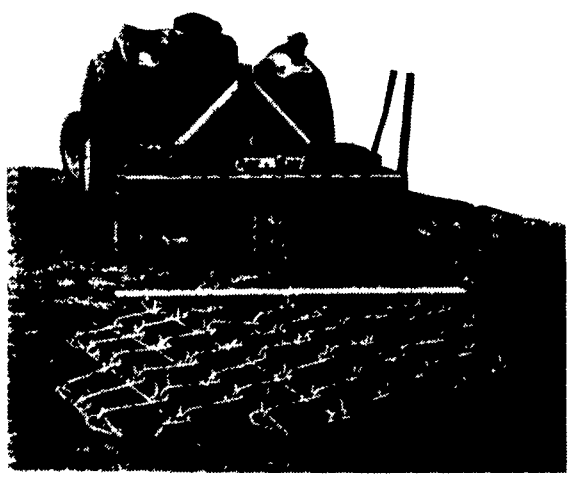
THE BETTER WAY

TO REVITALIZE THE SOIL AND INCREASE YIELD



The AER-WAY is an utility implement that can function as a rotary hoe, a disc, a roller and a harrow. It saves fuel, time and fertilizer. It increases water percolation, bacterial life and root growth. It is an implement for pastureland, grasslands, horse paddocks, general field crops, vegetable production, orchards, vineyards and turfgrass. The AER-WAY will increase your profits through lower costs and higher yields.

Aer Way

AerWay Aerators
Ideal For:

1. Relieving Compaction
2. Aeration
3. Cultivation
4. Waterlogged Soil Relief
5. Erosion Control
6. Renovation

AerWay Chain Harrows
Ideal For:

1. Spreading manure for parasite control
2. Preparing seed beds
3. Covering seed (esp. winter rye grass)
4. Incorporating herbicides
5. Harrowing in fertilizer on hay fields
6. Root raking, land leveling & landscaping

TORQUE AMPLIFIERS & CLUTCHES

Over the past 8 years, we have sold thousands of T.A.'s to satisfied customers across the U.S. Some of our best customers are I.H. Dealers.

We do complete job or center housing while you wait or will sell you the parts.

Our prices on T.A.'s with the Dana Sprag, are now $645.00 with a 2 year warranty.

We also have units and parts available to rebuild old style T.A.'s, including Ramp & carrier sets for $300.00

Clutches, Pressure Plates
PTO Drives & Water Pumps

We have clutches available for most all IH tractors; including many heavier than original. We also have clutches for many other brands.

- Compare Our Prices -

All clutches & T.A.'s will ship U.P.S. and are sold on an exchange basis. Core charges Apply.

QUALITY USED PARTS

We specialize in IH tractors but we also have Case, Oliver, White and Massey tractors in our inventory.

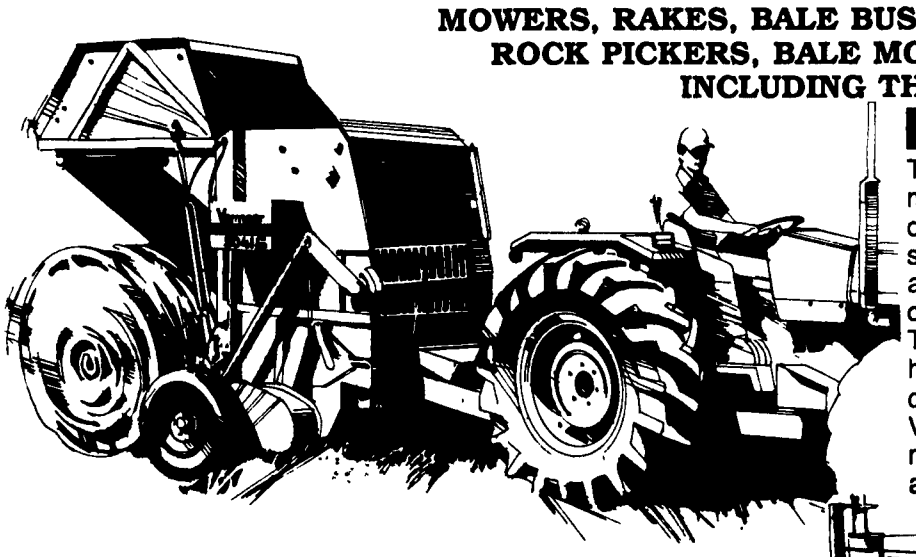
VERMEER HAS THE HAY SYSTEM FOR THE 1990's AND YOU

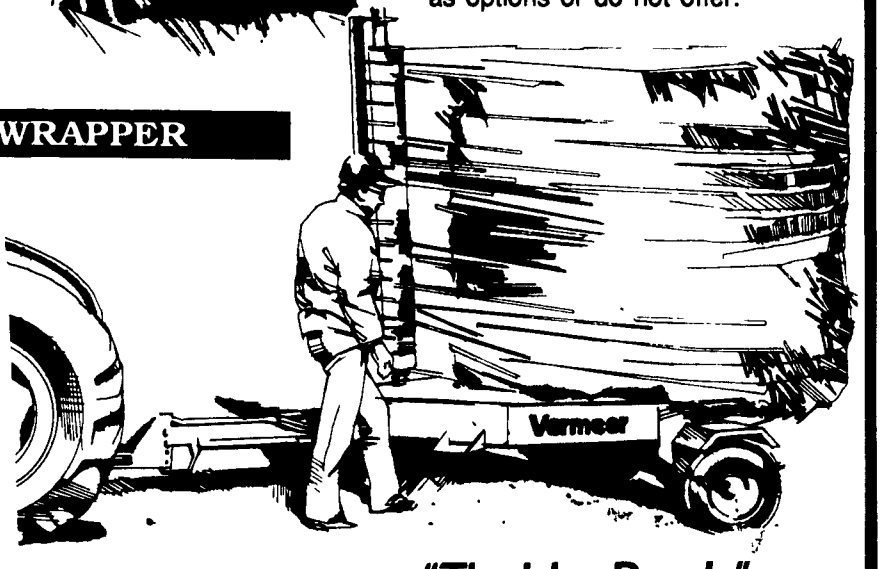
MOWERS, RAKES, BALE BUSTERS, NO-TILL DRILLS, ROCK PICKERS, BALE MOVERS, AND BALERS INCLUDING THE NEW...



504I SILAGE BALER

Two years testing has proven this machine to be a viable part of many dairy and beef operations, large and small. Its horsepower requirements are low but performance is equal to other machines requiring lots more. The 504IS is rugged in design to handle the toughest crop and field conditions your farm may offer. Vermeer Balers come standard with many features the competition has as options or do not offer.

VERMEER BALE WRAPPER



All Vermeer Balers Include:

* Easy start open throat design
* Electric or Hydraulic twine wrap
* Hay Saver Wheels
* Bale counter and Bale Size Indicator
* Twisted belts for better visibility
* Rubber mounted pickup teeth

Stop in and see the 504IS Baler or give us a call at:

WARNING,
ALL SILO OWNERS
Check Your Silo Now For Rotten Staves. If You Have Been Using Your Silo For 10 To 15 Years For Either Corn Silage Or Haylage, It Is Time To SHOTCRETE.

WARNING! DETERIORATING CONCRETE FROM CORN JUICE!

If you have a 15 year old silo... get it fixed or insure it better! But don't wait until the last minute to have it repaired because we may not be able to fix it if you wait too long.
REMEMBER your silo will not fall over when it's empty - it will fall over when it's full. It cannot stand on deteriorated concrete...

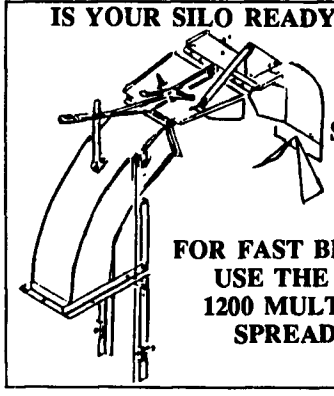
Strengthen And Reseal Your Silo With Shotcrete

S & S Silo Serivce Has Experience
Over 700 Silos Have Been Relined With Shotcrete

IS YOUR SILO READY TO BE FILLED WITH GRASS SILAGE?



FOR FAST BLOWING USE THE NEW 1200 MULTI-FLO SPREADER!

S&S Silo Service prepares the silo surface by using a 3,000 lb. pressure washer, thus making the silo moist, making a much better surface to bond shotcrete. After shotcreting, S&S always takes away any roughness by applying a steel trowel finish.
The excellent bonding of shotcrete to the silo will keep out moisture and prevent mold from growing on the side of the silo.

"Consider The Concrete Advantages"

1. Sollenberger Monolithic Silo -Solid 6" steel reinforced concrete walls are made of quality controlled 4,000 P.S.I. concrete. Smooth uniform diameter walls are ideal for optimum unloader operations Greater strength and acid resistance gives you many extra years of service.

2. Reinforcing Steel - The reinforcing steel for every Sollenberger Silo is designed by a registered professional engineer, and in all cases meets or exceeds the standards set by the International Silo Association 60,000 P.S.I. steel is placed both horizontally and vertically directly in the center of the wall where it is protected from weather and silage juices.

3. Roof- The standard aluminized steel roof provides extra extra storage while also protecting the unloader and silage.

4. Concrete Chute - A solid 4" steel reinforced concrete chute is an integral part of the structure. This strong, durable chute has roomy inside dimensions of 24" wide and 28" deep Also included is a side door for easy chute access.

5. Doors - The door system is an exclusive feature of Sollenberger Silos. The large 24" wide by 30" high door gives easy access to the silo. Doors are made of double ply, epoxy stapled, center matched, California Redwood for longer life and greater strength. Independently operating doors swing in and out for full use of the door opening. When closed, the doors from 16" steps for easy climbing.

6. Outside Ladder - With Safety Cage - Galvanized steel steps are cast directly into the silo wall, making an absolutely permanent, rigid ladder. Steps are conveniently spaced for safe, easy climbing.

7. Chute Dormer - This weather and rustproof aluminized steel dormer provides dry and protected access from the chute to the silo.

8. Filling Platform - Firmly attached to the silo, this 38" deep platform has a tilting bottom, allowing easy access to the platform.

CHICKEN GROWTH HORMONE RESEARCH AT THE DEPARTMENT OF POULTRY SCIENCE

Herb Siegel
Department of Poultry Science

As many of you know, the genetic makeup of the bird determines its optimum rate of growth. That is, characteristics inherited from its sire and dam determine how fast the bird will grow and how large a size it will attain.

Within this genetic background, factors in the bird's environment — such as temperature, light, diseases and nutrition —interact with each other and with the inherited characteristics to modify this growth. One of the important internal mechanisms that is genetically determined, but which is significantly influenced by the environment, is the endocrine or hormone system.

A vast array of hormones, sometimes acting alone but mostly interacting with each other, control or modify not only the growth of the bird but the composition and distribution of its muscle and fat. This distribution is of great importance not only to the growers and processors but also to the consumer.

Research in the Department of Poultry Science at Penn State by Dr. Regina Vasilatos-Younken, her associates, and students on chicken growth hormone (cGH), a hormone important for its effect on growth and carcass composition, has revealed some fascinating facts about how cGH works.

They found that during the rapid stages of growth in the broiler (1 to 4 weeks of age), the level of cGH in the blood is very episodic — about every 90 minutes there is a pulse of cGH, which then subsides. This pulse timing is very consistent for an individual bird. As the bird passes the most rapid growth stage, the heights of the pulses become smaller but do not disappear entirely.

What is the purpose of this pulsatile output? For most hormones to be effective, there must be a receptor for that hormone in the cells of the tissues that are most affected by the hormone, such as liver or muscle.

Dr. Vasilatos-Younken and her students are studying the receptors in livers of growing chickens. Their results suggest that when all receptors are in use (scientists use the term "saturated"), the growth hormone has little or no effect.

The rise and fall of cGH levels in the blood that flows through the liver allows these cGH receptors to desaturate. Dr. Vasilatos-Younken has shown that cGH is more effective in promoting more efficient growth, with less fat in the carcass, if the hormone is given in a pulsatile manner.

Cow Research — Minus The Cow

NEWARK, Del. — Innovative lab equipment is allowing University of Delaware scientists to research cow digestion minus the cow.

Continuous culture fermenters are the laboratory equivalent of the cow's rumen, the first of the animal's four stomachs.

Dr. Limin Kung, assistant professor of ruminant nutrition, said the rumen is especially interesting to researchers because it enables cows to use bacterial protein as well as protein from plant sources.

"The rumen is a fermentation vat that allows cows to use fibrous feeds efficiently," he said. "The fermentation also increases bacterial production of protein. Cows and other ruminants get protein from the feed that they eat as well as from the bacterial protein produced in the rumen."

According to Kung, theoretically cows do not need an amino acid or protein source in the diet to build muscle tissue or produce milk. However, to maximize production, supplemental proteins are fed to today's ruminants.

He said that ruminants do not have to compete with humans or other animals that need protein from grains, because non-protein nitrogen sources, such as urea and ammonia, are used to produce protein by the bacteria that live in the rumen.

Studying ruminant digestion in the laboratory is not new. But most studies have used batch fermenters, thus limiting the types of experiments. A continuous culture fermenter, such as the one Kung uses, allows for a greater range of experiments. Most importantly, it can simulate the digestion of cows over a period of time.

The continuous culture fermenter system is one of only 6 or 7 in the country. Eight 500 ml glass cylinders simulate eight rumens. They are nestled in a bath, a 20-gallon aquarium, held at 40 degrees centigrade, the temperature of a rumen.

Dr. Ken Lomax and research associate Stephen Gottfried, both of the department of agricultural

'Digging For Data' Shows Leaner Beef

CHICAGO, Ill. — Sixth grade students who view a new science video are getting the message that today beef is leaner.

"Digging for Data" is a 20-minute video produced by the education department of the Meat Board to help students understand scientific problem solving.

The new science program is provided free to teachers and includes the video, teacher's guides, and activity masters. Since sixth-grade students are often concerned about how tall they will be, the video attracts their attention by talking about height.

In "Digging for Data," students research how the food available to the Indians and early settlers affected their average height. Students explore an archeological dig, travel to a mid-nineteenth century immigrant's home, visit a university beef cattle research center, and finally meet with a food technologist in a supermarket.

"Improvements in food technology provide us with a greater variety of foods all year long," said Maureen Lambe, Meat Board assistant director of education. "Through the video, students learn that this variety and a balanced diet are key to reaching their full height potential."

Pilot testing was conducted to measure the value of the tape as a teaching aid. One question asked, "New methods of breeding and feeding cattle reduces the amount of fat in beef, resulting in a better diet. True or False?" Before seeing the video, only 30 percent of the students correctly answered true. After seeing the video, 77 percent answered correctly.

This message is reinforced with the worksheet, "Cattle Go On A Diet." This worksheet compares cattle raised in the 1950s to those raised in the 1990s to show changes in beef in response to consumer desire for lean meat.

Teacher, comments about the video have been very positive. For example, Charlotte Burns, a sixth-grade science teacher from Houston, Texas, said, "If you have ever searched for an interesting video to reinforce scientific problem solving, this is it! Students are encouraged to gather information and actually think like scientists."

Pork Checkoff Programs Are Working

DES MOINES, Iowa. — The president of the National Pork Board, Hilman Schroeder, a producer from Sauk City, Wisconsin, told a U.S. House subcommittee recently that "a strong demand for pork created by the funding of the Pork Act (in 1985) enabled the market to absorb the greater-than-normal hog marketings of last fall and at the same time allowed a good return on producers' investment."

Schroeder told members of the House Agriculture Subcommittee on Livestock, Dairy, and Poultry that the programs that created the strong consumer demand for pork are all funded by producer check-off assessments.

The 1985 Pork Act was enabling legislation that led to the creation of the 100% legislative checkoff. The checkoff rate of .25% of one percent of value (25 cents per $100 value) is assessed on all U.S. produced market hogs, feeder pigs, and breeding stock, as well as imported hogs and pork products. The checkoff generated approximately $26.7 million last year.

In his testimony, Schroeder said the Pork Board has decided to put additional money into research during the coming year. Approximately 19 percent of the 1990 checkoff generated budget will be spent on research and education projects. That segment of the budget has risen steadily each year the checkoff has been in place, from 7% in 1986 to 11% last year.

Schroeder said the research allocations have paid off in many ways. "One excellent result," he told the subcommittee, "is scientific documentation that fresh pork is much leaner and lower in cholesterol than it was 30 years ago." He cited a recent study by Iowa State University that indicated the backfat on the average U.S. market hog has decreased 34% in the last three decades.

Schroeder said the Pork Board has, within the past year, invested in new research in cooperation with USDA and several universities to further scientifically substantiate the industry's assertions that pork's nutrient composition has dramatically changed over the years in a highly positive way. The Pork Board president said the USDA is expected to review the new data late this year and the industry is confident it will be significant enough to revise the nutrient composition data of pork in the official USDA Handbook 8-10. The data in the book is more than seven years old.

In response to testimony by the Center for Science in the Public Interest (CSPI), a consumer activist organization echoing its three-year-old contention that the engineering, helped in the overall design of the unit, which includes sport ball bladders (for gas collection) and aquarium heaters and pumps. Even this model is expensive, due primarily to the custom-made glass cylinders. Funds were obtained through a Unidel grant.

Fitted with paddles, the rumens "digest" their contents — ground-up hay, grains, or compounds that the researchers wish to test — with the help of artificial saliva. Effluent vials collect the by-products of ruminant digestion. Also collected are any gases that are given off by the digestive process, including methane, carbon dioxide, and hydrogen.

"We 'feed' the fermenters twice a day," said Kung. "By adding buffers and emptying effluent vials daily, we simulate normal rumen fermentation outside of the cow for several weeks.

"With the system we can look at how feeds are digested and used in the rumen, and how to alter digestion in the cow by adding different feed stuffs," Kung said. "Or we can look at changes in different bacterial populations, the digestibility of diets, and the end products of fermentation."

The average cow produces 50 to 60 pounds of milk a day. In top producers, the amoung may reach 120 pounds. Although cows do not require a grain diet, to achieve high milk production level grains are essential. Acidosis, a condition caused by excess lactate production, often occurs with heavy grain diets. It results in cows going off their feed, causes liver abscesses, ulcerations in the rumen, and ultimately death in the cow.

Kung and graduate student R.S. Tung are currently working with a compound that inhibits lactate production in the rumen, and thus acidosis. The researchers suspect that the compound inhibits lactate production by selecting against bacteria that increase lactate. Tung will use the research, which is partially funded by Lilly Research Labs of Greenfield, Ind., as the basis for his Ph.D. Dissertation.

"The artificial rumen is, in a sense, a screening device," Kung said. "It's more easily managed than live cows. However, our experiments will eventually have to be tested on live cows, because laboratory results are not always synonymous with what may happen in life."

YOU'RE IN COMMAND!

Deutz-Allis Quadra-Disk planter.

When it comes to versatility, there's none better than Deutz-Allis Model 385 Quadra-Disk planter. That's because the Quadra-Disk planter features Total Soil Flow Control for planting accuracy regardless of soil conditions. It's the ideal planter for conventional till, ridge till, minimum till or no till. Double cropping is a natural.

Now we've added several features for 1987 to make it even more accommodating to your needs:

New plate units. A Deutz-Allis exclusive. Allows you to switch from plate to air singulation or vice versa by simply changing seed hoppers. No need to change frames or units!

New tool bar frames. Rugged 7" x 7" tool bar design provides row spacing flexibility down to 15." Also available in 4, 6, and 8 row conventional spacings of 30" to 40."

New liquid fertilizer tanks. Now you have a choice between dry or liquid. Available for all pull-type planters.

New 12-row frame. Narrow-transport design features a unique folding device to allow quick change from transport to planting to transport. Limited quantities available for 1987.

Armstrong Named President Of Jacques Seed

Curt Armstrong

PRESCOTT, Wis. — Jacques Seed Company today announced the appointment of Curt Armstrong as president.

Armstrong succeeds Tom Luehder, who assumes the full-time duties of vice president, operations, central group, for the Agrigenetics Company. Jacques Seed Company is an operating unit of Agrigenetics.

Armstrong previously held the position of vice president, operations for Jacques Seed Company and has been a part of the operations department for 15 years.

"Mr. Armstrong has the education and experience ideally suited to his new duties," said Luehder. "His experience encompasses field sales and operations as well as executive level management.

"His 25 years of experience in the seed industry, coupled with his sensitivity and understanding of the needs of farmers, will serve him well in his new responsibilities. Over the past five years, he has been a member of the executive committee at Jacques and has been totally involved in all key decisions affecting the direction of the company."

Armstrong stated his seed business career in 1965 in Indiana with DeKalb. Prior to joining Jacques, he was employed by Trojan Seed Company.

He grew up on the family farm near New Richland, Minnesota, and holds a bachelor's degree in agriculture business administration from the University of Minnesota.

"I look forward to the challenges of the next decade," said Armstrong. "Jacques Seed Company is poised for rapid growth. The products we've introduced in the last four years are being recognized by farmers as outstanding performers."

Pork Checkoff Programs Are Working

checkoff funded Pork-The Other White Meat® advertising campaign is deceptive and misleading, subcommittee chairman Charles Stenholm (D-TX) noted that CSPI had declined to accept a written invitation extended last June by the National Pork Producers Council (NPPC) to provide CSPI with all of the industry's background research on pork nutrition. The Council told CSPI at the time it was prepared "to answer any and all questions you have, show you our data, and even bring in outside nutrition research experts to show you the most recent and comprehensive analysis available."

Subcommittee chairman Stenholm suggested that if CSPI was truly interested in the matter it should "have found the time necessary to go to those individuals that you are going to criticize, unless it is your sole purpose to use this criticism for the purpose of fund-raising for your organization."

1. PREPARATION - High volume water blasting at 1,000 lb pressure re-surfaces barn siding into a smooth (like new) appearance!
   a Performed by professionals quickly at reasonable cost
   b By yourself with your own or rented equipment
   c Or other more conventional methods
2. APPLICATION - To insure better adherence to this super prepared surface, use the best fine bristle brush in four directions to evenly distribute the recommended mil thickness of seal coat coverage
3. SPECIALIZATION - Every barn is different but generally it's best to use a high quality mildew resistant product, specially formulated to meet the requirements of this partially weathered wood that was and will be weather stressed
4. WARNING The modified oil latex is less effective as a wood preserver and actually increases nail & metal deterioration Deal with home people At their rates, I could double mine.

Ciba-Geigy Uses Biodegradable Liners

GREENSBORO, N.C. — "What goes around, comes around" is a statement we've often heard, and one that holds true for the seed division of Ciba-Geigy.

The company, which supports the development of new corn uses by co-sponsoring the Corn Utilization Conference with the National Corn Growers Association, will now use biodegradable plastic liners made with cornstarch in their premium brand corn hybrid packaging.

"We support the development of new corn uses through the Corn Utilization Conference, where biodegradable plastic was first introduced to the United States," said Greg Reigh, corn product manager. "But we also support those uses through implementation. We've switched to biodegradable liners for our corn bags.

"We're committed to both supporting the corn industry and doing our part to help the environment," he said. "We intend to package all our premium corn hybrids in biodegradable bags in 1991."

These packages represent more than 10 percent of Ciba-Geigy Seed Division's corn seed products in 1990.

New Staff For Farm Credit

Michael Hosterman

Thomas Johnston

YORK (York Co.) — Michael Hosterman and Thomas Johnston have been named field representatives and loan officers for York Farm Credit, according to James K. Sigler, vice president.

Hosterman, a native of Centre County, Pennsylvania was employed by York Farm Credit as field representative in the Gettysburg branch office. A graduate of the Pennsylvania State University, Hosterman holds a B.S. degree in agriculture business management. Before joining York Farm Credit, he held the position of credit examiner with the Farm Credit Administration in McLean, Virginia.

Johnston, a native of Fulton County, Pennsylvania, was employed by York Farm Credit as loan officer in the Gettysburg branch office. A graduate of the Pennsylvania State University, he holds a B.S. degree in agriculture education. Before joining York Farm Credit he held a position with ASCS in Pennsylvania. He has a diversified background in ag education, conservation, and production agriculture.

Both Hosterman and Johnston will serve Farm Credit customers in Adams County, along with John B. Weaner, executive loan officer.

'Beef Backers' Awards Return

WESTMORELAND, N.Y. — The New York Beef Council is pleased to announce the second annual "Beef Backers" Awards Program to honor those restaurants who have helped with the return of beef.

The program, sponsored by the New York Beef Council in conjunction with the Beef Industry Council, is designed to show appreciation to restaurants in New York which are doing exciting things with beef.

"We are looking for suggestions as to which restaurants are deserving to run for this high honor," said Valerie Fishell of the New York Beef Council. If you have a special restaurant in mind, contact Fishell with your suggestion.

Restaurants are judged on how they incorporate beef into current menu trends, innovative preparation methods, and beef dominance on the menu.

For further information, contact New York Beef Industry Council, P.O. Box 250, Westmoreland, NY 13490, 1 (800) 292-6922.

Pork Industry Group Elects Officers

CHICAGO, Ill. — Erval Borgic, Nokomis, Illinois, was elected chairman of the Pork Industry Group of the National Live Stock and Meat Board during its annual meeting held in Chicago March 18-19. Elected as vice chairman was Chip Ray, Gobles, Mich.

Borgic is a past president of the Illinois Pork Producers Association and was elected to serve on the Pork Industry Group in 1984. Since that time he has held many leadership roles, including chairman of the Pork Information Committee and Pork Program Budget Committee; member of the Pork Long-Range Planning Committee and Executive Committee; and recently, vice chairman of the Pork Industry Group.

Borgic has also been heavily involved in the National Pork Producers Council, serving on program development groups and Bylaws and Resolutions Committee. He remains active at the state and local level as well. The Borgic family was honored by Elanco this year as its Illinois Pork Producers of the Year.

Chip Ray joined the Pork Industry Group in 1988 and has served as vice chairman of the Pork Education Subcommittee and a member of the Deli/Prepared Meats Committee. He was a driving force behind the formation of the Michigan Pork Producers Association, serving as its first president in 1969. He is still active in that organization.

Elected by the board to the Executive Committee were Borgic; Ray; Don Benson, Hurley, S.D.; and Ray Hankes, Fairbury, Ill.

New directors were officially seated: Hank Harvey, Jr., Pantego, N.C.; Bob Brooks, Columbia, Tenn.; Dave Reinecker, York Springs, Penn.; Pete Moles, National Feeder Pig Marketing Association; Darrell Anderson, National Association of Swine Records; and Anne Tantum, American Association of Meat Processors.

Honored for their involvement in the Pork Industry Group were retiring directors Dick Sorensen, Wayne, Neb.; Gerald Turner, Van Buren, Ind.; Ralph Howe, Clemons, Iowa, Norbert Brandt, National Feeder Pig Marketing Association; Bruce Leman, National Association of Swine Records; Peter Nelson, American Association of Meat Processors; and John Heffernan, River Markets Group.

The board of directors also approved a revised fiscal year (October 1, 1989 - September 30, 1990) budget of $3,839,167. This reflects newly awarded grants from the National Pork Board and decreased expenditures for general services.

Badger's Agri-Service Has Outstanding Sales

DILLSBURG (York Co.) — Badger's Agri-Service, Inc., has been awarded the Outstanding Sales Achievement Award by Stahl Mfg., Inc. of Guthrie, Kentucky. The award is from the top 10, eastern region, at the national independent dealer meeting held recently at South Bend, Indiana.

This award is for outstanding sales effort for the Eastern Region. To achieve this recognition, a dealer must be motivated to excel.

Superior salesmanship and a belief in doing the best work possible allows Brian and Marlene Badger to gain the confidence of their customers.

Kubota Names New President

COMPTON, Calif. — S. Egusa, president of the Kubota Tractor Corporation, recently announced the return of Mori Hayashi to the Compton-based company.

Hayashi was named president of the Kubota Credit Corporation and vice president of Kubota Tractor Corporation, overseeing finance, accounting, administration, and information systems.

Hayashi joined Kubota Tractor Corporation's parent company, Kubota Corporation, immediately after graduating from Okayama University in 1969. He then joined Kubota Tractor Corporation in 1977 as the assistant to the president, and later was also named vice president of Kubota Credit Corporation. Hayashi left KTC in 1983 to return to Kubota Corporation.

Power Steering Available On Compact Diesel Tractors

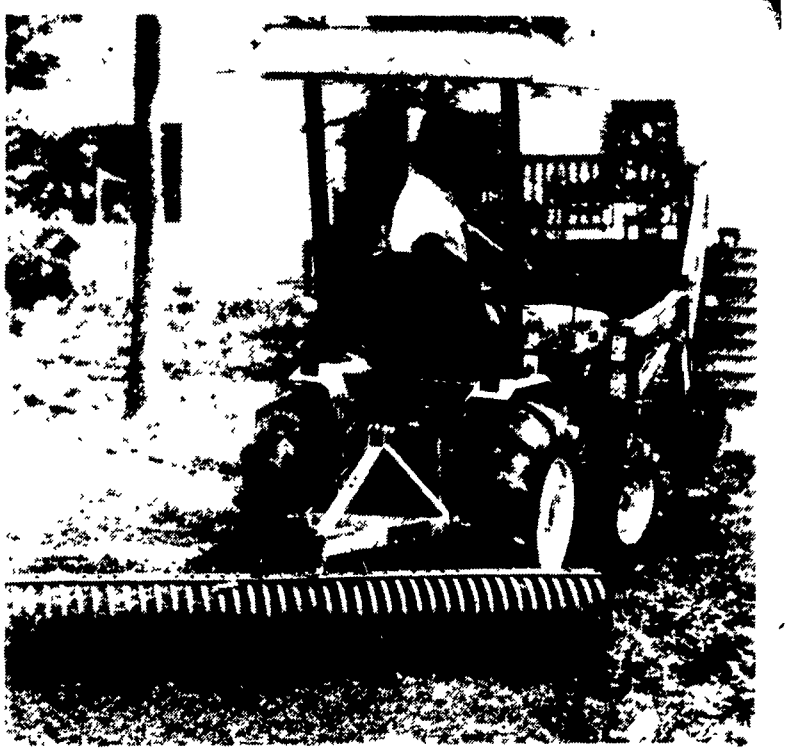
NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Power steering is now available for Ford 12.5-PTO-horsepower Model 1120 and 14.5-HP Model 1220 compact diesel tractors.

Both tractors are available with either manual 9-speed transmissions or hydrostatic drive. Power steering is standard on the other five Ford compact diesel tractors.

The new hydrostatic power steering option makes the 1120 and 1220 easy to operate, especially when implements and attachments are used. "Even these small units can do a tremendous amount of work with our selection of implements and attachments," said Ford New Holland product manager Dave Schleppi. "And with the power steering option, the operator gets excellent maneuverability and control to get all sorts of tasks completed easier and faster."

Implements for the compact diesels include a front-end loader, rear tiller, plows, harrows, a cultivator for vegetable producers, front- or rear-mount blades, a dirt scoop, front- and rear-mount snow throwers, a box scraper that can work in small spaces, post hole digger, rotary cutters, and both belly-mount and 3-point mounted finishing mowers. A 6.5-foot backhoe is also available. The tractors come equipped with Category I 3-point hitches.

Summer mowing and winter snow clearance are probably the most common jobs home owners find for the compact 1120 and 1220 tractors, according to Schleppi. Power steering makes these and other jobs a lot easier in close-quarter maneuvering.



Hydrostatic power steering is now available for Ford 12.5- and 14.5-hp compact diesel tractors to provide greater maneuverability and reduced operator effort.

New Chapter In Sheep Production

DENVER, Colo. — A new Handling and Facilities chapter for the Sheep Production Handbook is now available from the American Sheep Industry Association.

The material covers such topics as why good handling and facilities are important, determining what facilities are needed, sheep behavior and handling, guarding and working dogs, and the principles of facilities' layout and location.

Also included is information on sheep handling setups, materials and construction, buying commercial sheep equipment, portable sheep handling systems, corral systems for large operations, and permanent facilities.

The chapter contains 41 pages of information as well as several drawings how-to illustrations, and photos. Its authors include Lyle McNeal, chairman, professor of Sheep and Wool Science at Utah State University; Frank Baker senior associate, Winrock International in Morrilton, Ark.; Temple Grandin, livestock consultant, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill. (now at Colorado State University in Fort Collins, Colo.); and Stan Potratz, Premier Sheep Supplies, Washington, Iowa.

Cost for the Chapter and tab divider is $6.00. Checks should be made payable to Sheep Industry Development and mailed to the American Sheep Industry Association, Dept. H & F, 6911 South Yosemite Street, Englewood, CO 80112-1414.

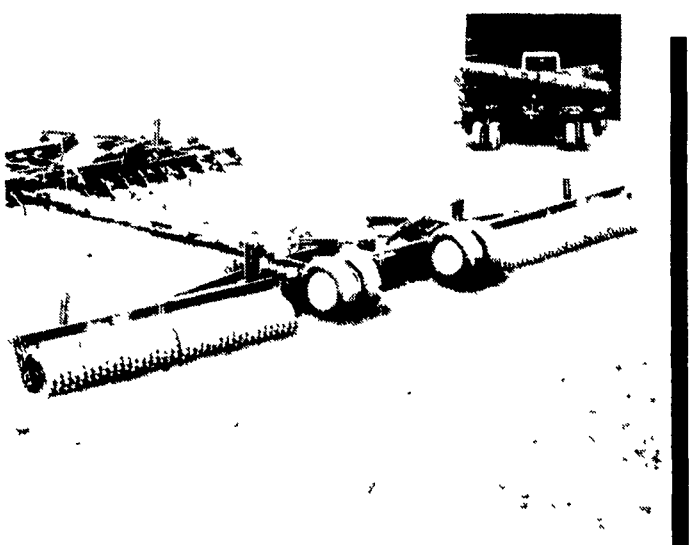
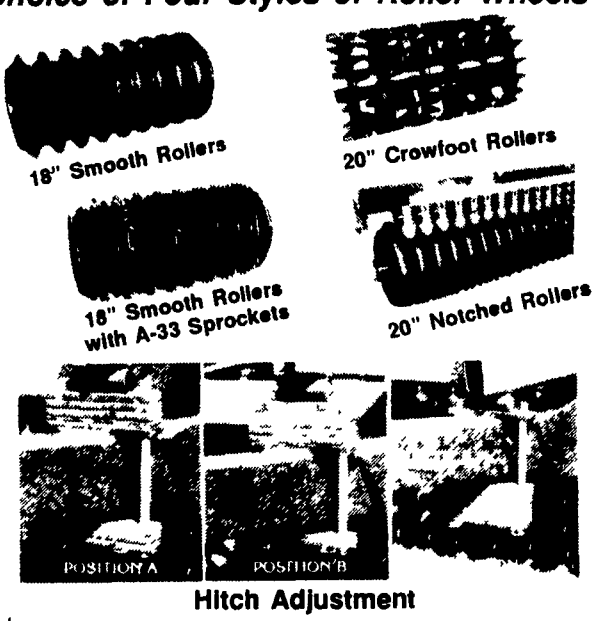
NEW X-FOLD PULVERIZERS



Choice of Four Styles of Roller Wheels



Hitch Adjustment

The pulverizer has been a basic tool for nearly 100 years and Brillion has been building them since 1895. Look at these features:

- Automatic Transport Lock
- Telescoping Drawbar
- Hitch Adjustment
- Cost Efficient-Energy Savings
- Floating Wings
- Narrow Transport Width

Another outstanding feature of BRILLION's X-Fold Pulverizers is the Hitch Adjustment. The pulverizer drawbar can pivot vertically in field position. Three thicknesses of shims are provided on the braces on each side of the drawbar (⅛", ¼" & ½"). These shims are used to limit soil pushing in front of the rollers.

Degradable Plastics Gain Popularity

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Americans produce more than 900 million pounds of garbage each day, making the prospects of overfilled landfills a real threat.

At the same time, however, Americans have become more conscious of environmental issues. Learning to manage our garbage is a major issue — an emotional and sometimes controversial issue.

Much of the technology used for waste management is new, and although many claims have been made, there is no simple answer. Degradable plastics is one area of new technology that has gained popularity and offered some hope during recent years.

"More than 30 percent of the volume of each day's garbage accumulation is plastic products," said Tim Draeger, market development assistant - plastic products, National Corn Growers Association (NCGA). "But less than 3 percent is recycled. Cornstarch-based plastic is degradable and recyclable. It breaks down quicker than petroleum-based plastic products and improves the rate of degradation in composting facilities. It also makes good use of corn, a renewable resource."

Adding cornstarch to plastic is relatively new in the United States. In June 1987, Ciba-Geigy Seed Division and NCGA sponsored the first Corn Utilization Conference, which spurred the development of degradable plastics in the United States. Representatives of St. Lawrence Starch Co., Mississauga, Ontario, Canada, attended the conference and held up a cornstarch-based plastic bag the company had been successfully marketing in Europe. This raised the question, "Why not in the United States?"

Following the conference, Archer Daniels Midland Co. (ADM), Decatur, Ill., obtained the rights to patents for similar technology. Since then degradable plastics have become increasingly popular in the United States.

Different characteristics

Not all degradable plastics are alike. They are classified by the way they break down. Biodegradable plastic is broken down through the action of naturally occurring microorganisms. Photodegradable plastic requires sunlight, and chemically degradable plastics rely on chemical reactions. In general terms, however, all types are classified as degradable plastics.

ADM produces a degradable additive containing cornstarch and an oxidative catalyst system in the form of concentrated pallets that manufacturers add to plastic resins. When correctly mixed with the resin, this product gives the plastic degradable properties.

"Plastic products made with this additive will degrade biologically and oxidatively," said Dr. George Poppe, manager, degradable plastics research, ADM. "The cornstarch is digested by enzymes of microorganisms in the soil. This helps break the plastic article into smaller segments that then are more easily degraded. The oxidation catalyst speeds up the breakdown of the polymer chains."

Degradables assist composting

A key use for degradable plastic products is in composts. Many municipalities have reduced the amount of garbage going into landfills by separating yard waste.

"Composts take advantage of a naturally occurring process," said Poppe. "In a well-managed compost, yard waste decomposes just like leaves and pine needles on a forest floor — only faster. Degradable bags facilitate that process for municipal yard waste composting projects. Conventional plastic bags would be a barrier in a compost situation. By using bags that degrade, the bag can be composted along with its contents, saving money by eliminating the need for debagging the waste."

No simple answer

Degradable plastics have gained popularity, and many people would like to think that they are the answer to modern solid waste problems. However, it is still a new technology.

"I'm quite surprised and pleased at how much we know, and what we've actually accomplished with degradable plastics," said Dr. Gene Iannotti, associate professor, University of Missouri-Columbia, and chairman of this

ONE OF THE MOST RUGGED ROTARY CUTTERS ON THE MARKET.

The 406 Series from Bush Hog are just about the toughest rotary cutters you can hitch behind a tractor Offered in a choice of lift or pull models, these 6-foot units take on brush and saplings up to 4-inches thick. Round blade holders, heavy duty gearboxes and slip clutches provide protection when operating in adverse field conditions. 1/4-inch thick steel decks and side bands, along with extra welding at high stress points, assure greater durability

To see a really tough rotary cutter come in today and look over the Bush Hog 406

Delmarva Expands Poultry Industry

GEORGETOWN, Del. — More than $13 million worth of new poultry house construction on Delmarva was completed, under way, or approved in 1989, according to information compiled by the Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc. (DPI).

Seventy-four new poultry houses were put into use last year and 34 were under construction at the end of the year. There were 23 loans approved for new houses at year-end, but construction had not started on them.

The average capacity of these new houses is approximately 25,000 broilers per house, for a peninsula-wide increase of 3,267,400.

"To me, these figures indicate the continued strength of Delmarva's poultry industry," said DPI President Harry J. Mitchell of Berlin, Maryland.

Each new house costs approximately $100,000. Mitchell said, "The fact that growers are willing to borrow such large amounts of money per house tells me the future of Delmarva's industry is bright."

The increase in houses has an impact in other areas of the poultry industry. Additional workers are needed to handle and process the chickens and more corn and soybeans are used as feed, creating greater markets for Delmarva farmers.

While 131 poultry houses were built, under construciton, or ready to be built last year, 67 smaller houses were removed from production. The net increase in capacity on Delmarva was 2,416,000.

The reasons for the house retirements are varied. They include the retirement of growers, fire- or weather-damaged buildings, and the removal of smaller, older houses because they are no longer efficient and competitive compared to modern houses.

Most of the growth in new housing occurred in Delaware, where 88 of the 131 new houses were built or planned. There were 42 houses in Maryland and one on the eastern shore of Virginia.

"While much attention is given to a $13 million indusltrial expansion when it is on one site, very little attention is paid when it is scattered throughout an area," Mitchell said. "That's one reason we're releasing the results of the DPI survey. We want to show the significance of the housing expansion."

Altogether, there are more than 6,000 poultry houses on Delmarva. Last year, nearly 503 million broiler chickens were grown on Delmarva, about 10 percent of America's total. Delmarva is the fourth largest broiler production area in the United States.

Degradable Plastics Gain Popularity

year's Corn Utilization Conferences III (June 19-21, 1990). "Almost monthly, we have researchers and companies that develop new and better additives to enhance the degradable properties of plastic without losing quality or strength.

"Plastic products have made us healthier, given us warm clothes that are more comfortable and made many things in our lives more convenient," he said. "Plastic products have helped Americans reach a lifestyle that they won't give up — and shouldn't have too."

New uses for renewable resources

Renewable resources like corn can be used for a multitude of products that Americans use daily besides degradable plastics. According to Iannotti, the chemical properties of corn are very similar to petroleum products.

"Things made with carbon most likely can be made from renewable resources," said Iannotti. "This is where I get excited. The potential is great. Renewable resources can be used for many of the conveniences we're accustomed to."

The first Corn Utilization Conference was a success. A second conference in November 1988 also helped further development of new corn uses. Ciba-Geigy Seed Division and NCGA are preparing for the third utilization conference this June in St. Louis, Missouri.

"The Corn Utilization Conference helps advance the development of new uses for renewable resources," said Iannotti. "Researchers and industry leaders meet to discuss current technology and how it can be used commercially. Nothing is black and white, and no one process will solve every problem. But if we put forth an effort to manage our solid waste and develop uses for renewable resources, we'll begin to reduce the solid waste problems facing America today."

Program Shows Tractor, Farm Machinery Safety

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.) — Chester County Cooperative Extension will sponsor a tractor and farm machinery safety education program at the Octorara High School Vo-Ag Department, Rt. 41 and Highland Road in Atglen.

The sessions will be on Wednesday evenings, April 11, 18, 25 and May 2, 1990, from 6:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. with a final written and driving test on Saturday, May 5, 1990, from 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

The instructors will be Pat Richie, Penn State multi-county agricultural engineer and Walter Wurster, Chester County extension agent.

The cost is $3.00 per participant and registration should be made by April 9, 1990 at the Chester County Extension office, 235 W. Market Street, West Chester, PA, 19382, (215) 696-3500.

This course is designed to give youth 14 hours of classroom and hands-on training in the safe operation of farm tractors and some farm machinery. Young people between the ages of 14 and 16 who wish to work on a farm other than their parents are required to have a Department of Labor certificate (awarded by Chester County Extension) indicating that they completed and passed this course.

It is also an opportunity for farm youth and young adults who are already operating machinery to better familiarize themselves with important farm safety concerns. The highest percentage of farm accidents to children occur to farmers' own children.

Course material will cover tractor controls, instruments, maintenance, and safety checks as well as starting and stopping. The dangers of tractor rollover and corn picker operation will be emphasized.

Tractor safety on the road, an increasing problem in Chester County, will be discussed. Machinery operation will include the use of hitches, PTO, and hydraulics. Students will have time to practice driving a tractor and the final session will include both a written and a driving test.

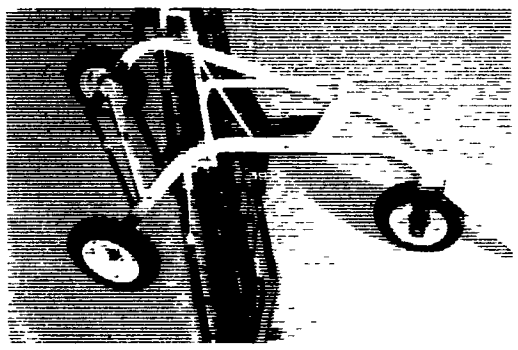
Custom Made Windrows



New Idea Rakes control windrow density for "just right" crop drying.

- Get the right type of windrow with one simple basket tilt adjustment. Choose between loose or heavy windrows to fit your drying conditions.
- Ground drive model gearbox system increases basket speed, eliminates stalling for cleaner raking in tough conditions.
- Hydraulic rake/tedder is two machines in one. A conventional rake for building perfect windrows or a gentle tedder for moving delicate crops.

Get cleaner raking, increased performance, and custom made windrows. See us today for more information on New Idea Rakes.

Sommerset Holstein Club Meets

BERLIN (Somerset Co.)— The Somerset County Holstein Club held its annual meeting and banquet March 12 at the Berlin Community Building. Approximately 280 attended.

President Don Glessner conducted the meeting and program with Dr. Robert Bastian acting as toastmaster.

Somerset County Dairy Princess (and state finalist), Tracy Blair was on hand to tell us about her yearly events and dairy promotions. Mindy Countryman was recognized as Little Miss Dairy Princess.

John Will was on hand to present the Youth Awards to Somerset County Junior Members, County and State Levels.

Receiving awards were: Jenny Welch, Jill Stutzman, Julie Will, Wendy Will, Cory Will, Thadd Will, Paul Will.

Ben Miller and Natalie Welch were recognized as the county's most valuable players and speakers for the junior division. Cory and Thadd Will were recognized as the county's most valuable players and speakers in the senior division. Each was awarded a shirt.

Every year Somerset County has a dairy bowl team with David and Connie Welch as their coaches.

Cory Will was named Oustanding Distinguished Member in the junior division at the State Convention, held at Penn State this year.

Paul and Marie Countryman were recognized and given a wall hanging in tribute to their recent award at The State Convention at Penn State. Paul's name was added to the Pa. Hall of Fame for all his years of work in the Holstein field.

Calvin Will, acting state director from the county, was given a jacket for signing up five or more new members from the county. Harry Mosholder and Dave Stahl were also presented jackets.

Ken Raney from the state office was with us to report on the upcoming events and dates in 1990. He presented Evelyn Moyer (Somerset County Dairy Promotion chairman) a check for dairy promotion.

In other business, county directors elected were: Mark Marteeney, Jane Smiley, and Mike Stutzman.

Other directors are Jim Sechler, John Will, Don Glessner- president, Greg Coleman, Andy Meier, and John Urbas.

The feature speaker for the evening was Deiter Krieg, editor of the Farmshine Newspaper.

Sommerset County Dairy Princess Tracey Blair and county Dairy Bowl representative Ben Miller are recognized by the county Holstein Club for achievements.

Agreement Benefits Soy Farmers

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — U.S. soybean farmers scored a major victory in the new U.S.-Soviet Long-Term Grain Agreement (LTA) announced recently by Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter and U.S. Trade Representative Carla A. Hills.

The agreement, which will be signed at the U.S.-Soviet summit in mid-June, expands the minimum amount of U.S. soybeans and soybean meal that can be purchased by the Soviet Union.

Under the five-year pact, the Soviet Union could substitute one million metric tons of soybeans or soybean meal for two million metric tons of wheat or feedgrains in meeting their annual minimum purchase of at least 10 million metric tons. The new agreement is an increase from the nine million ton minimum in the current agreement, which expires December 31, 1990.

"The Soviet Union is the largest potential growth market for soybeans and soybean products," said Buck McCann, first vice president of the American Soybean Association. "This agreement opens new doors for U.S. soybean farmers to sell their products."

According to steve Nemeth, ASA staff director of Eastern Europe, the long-term feed protein potential in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe is probably 100 million metric tons.

"Gorbachev has said they don't have enough protein to supplement grain in feed rations," said Nemeth. "They will have to import grain in the future, but also protein."

The new trade agreement, ASA said, paves the way for those sales over the next five years.

"There is obviously a growing demand in the Soviet Union for soybeans and soybean products," said McCann. "That issue is whether or not it will be U.S. soybean farmers that supply the demand. The new agreement is an important step to make sure we do."

In 1988-89, the 6th year of the current seven-year agreement, the Soviets purchased 1.3. million metric tons of soybean meal and 442,500 metric tons of soybeans. Purchases since Oct. 1, 1989 total 1,047 million metric tons of soybean meal and 217,900 metric tons of soybeans.

The competition hasn't kept up with Massey-Ferguson. Have you?

Still the real leader.

Massey-Ferguson caught the competition by surprise when they introduced the revolutionary M-F Autotronic™ tractors 3 years ago.

Today the competition's newest models still can't match the productivity of the M-F Autotronic tractors. Here's why:

Tighter turning.

When making tight turns on the headlands, you need to quickly disengage the differential lock, but keep the 4WD to pull you sharply through the turn.

- Raise your 3-point hitch or touch a brake and M-F Autotronic tractors automatically disengage the differential lock, but continues the 4WD so you can turn faster and sharper. The competition shuts off their front-wheel assist, or does nothing.

Reduced slippage.

How often have you wasted fuel and time from unnecessary wheel spin, or even been stopped when one wheel dug in, just because you forgot to re-engage the differential lock or 4WD?

- Drop the three-point hitch and M-F Autotronic tractors automatically re-engage the differential lock to prevent spinning and lost time.
- On 4WD models, touch the differential lock and it automatically engages the 4WD.

Improved control.

Stopping a heavy load can be hard on your tractor and your nerves. But it doesn't have to be.

- As soon as you apply the brakes on 4WD models, the tractor instantly engages the 4WD to give you effective 4-wheel braking and maximum control.

Gentler PTO.

Independent PTO systems can be pretty hard on shear pins, clutches and implements.

- M-F Autotronic tractors automatically measure the PTO load and engage the clutch smoothly and progressively to prevent damage.

4WD is great in the field, but not on the road.

- M-F Autotronic tractors automatically disengage the 4WD at speeds over 9 mph (14 KPH) for better fuel economy and less tire wear.
- Slow down, and 4WD is re-engaged for maximum control and traction.

Compare all the benefits. See and drive the competition's copies of the M-F Autotronic tractors. Then stop by your M-F Dealer and see the real value and performance that has made Massey-Ferguson the Western World's largest tractor manufacturer.

Then, if you still think their tractor is better, buy it.

Nobody builds a more accurate planter than the Seed Boss®

No matter whether you plant conventional, minimum-till or no-till, we'll match our Seed Boss® planter against any other brand. For accurate seed depth, spacing and emergence.

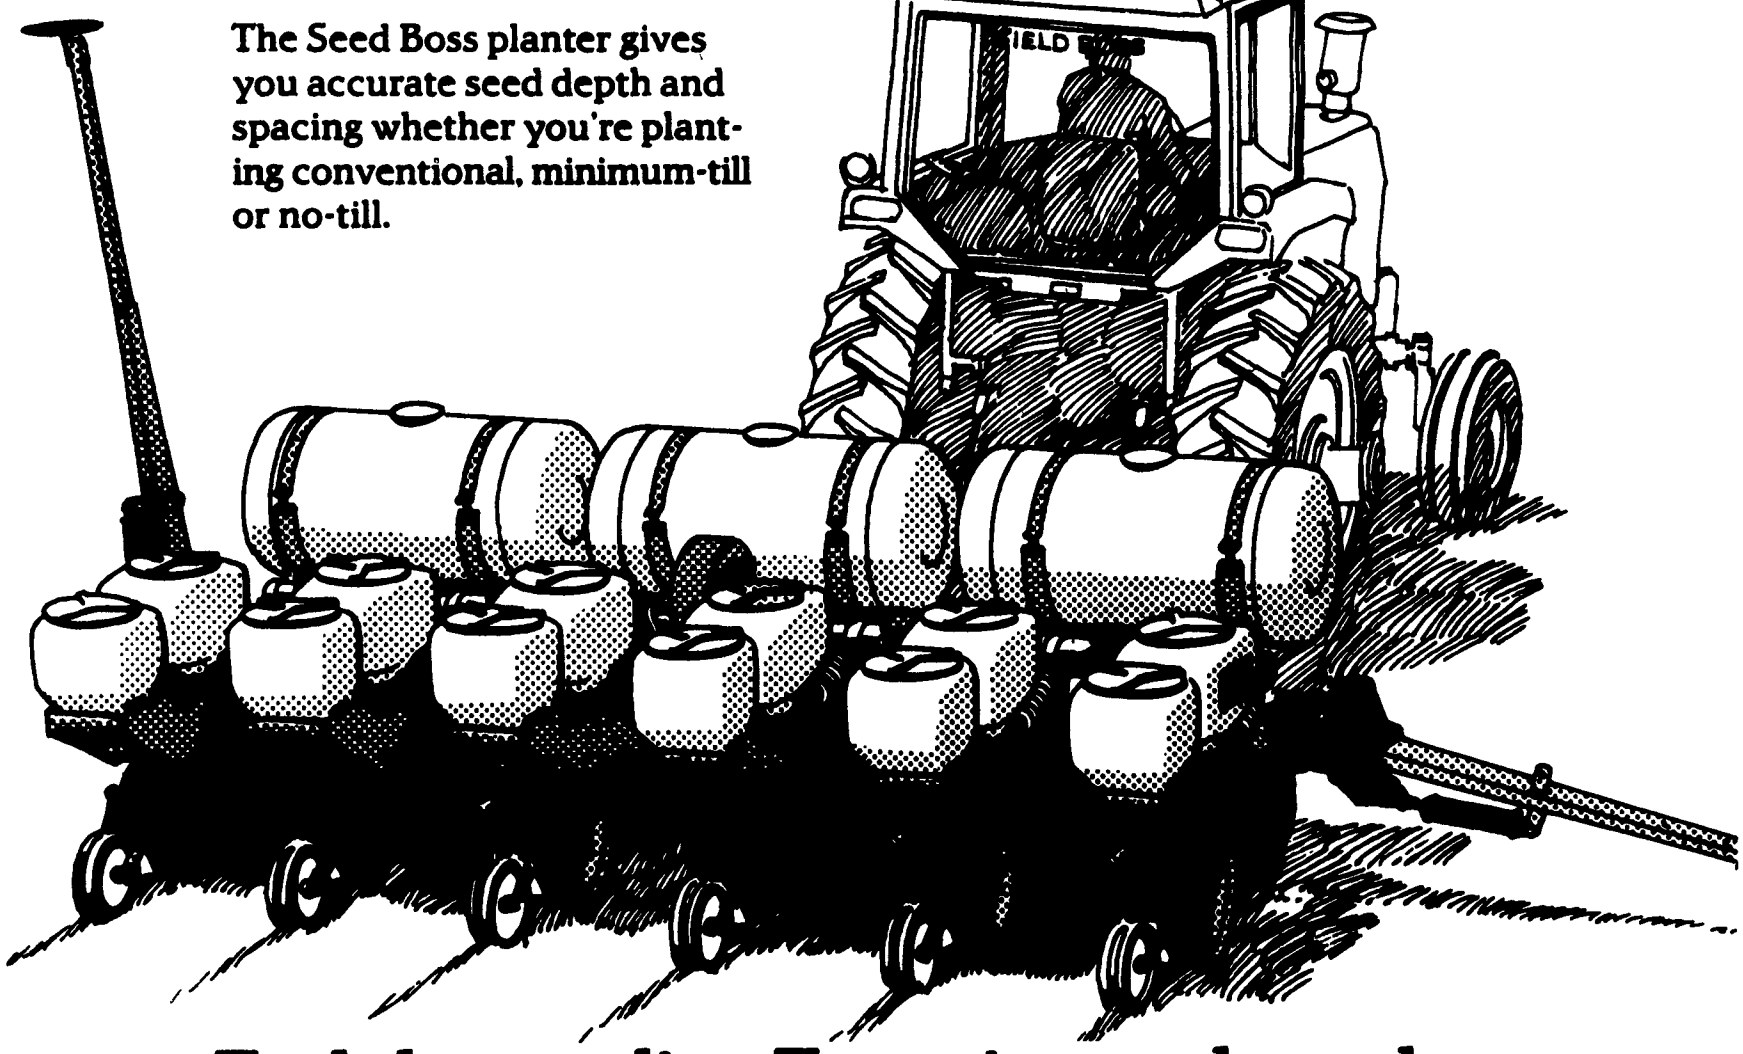
Seed Boss is built for accuracy under a wide range of field conditions. Our low, constant air pressure system insures consistent seed drop with a wide variety of seed sizes.

Double disk openers with walking beam dual gauge wheels provide uniform seed depth. Plus the extra heft and strength built into every Seed Boss frame means more stability at higher speeds and under rougher conditions.

Come in today and experience for yourself the quality and value built into every Seed Boss. It's why a lot of farmers believe it's today's most accurate planter.

WHITE FARM EQUIPMENT

The Seed Boss planter gives you accurate seed depth and spacing whether you're planting conventional, minimum-till or no-till.



Feel the quality. Experience the value.

Pres. of DEKALB-PFIZER GENETICS Resigns

DEKALB, Ill. — Kent Schulze, president of DEKALB-PFIZER GENETICS (the seed business of DEKALB Genetics Corporation), has resigned from the company to pursue other interests, the company announced.

Schulze, whose career with the company has spanned 24 years, served as president of DEKALB-PFIZER GENETICS since 1986. The 46-year-old Schulze joined the company in 1966 as a sales trainee.

"Kent has had a distinguished career at DEKALB," said Bruce Bickner, chairman and chief executive officer. "He has been an important contributor to building the product momentum and increased research productivity that we currently enjoy." A replacement has not yet been named for Schulze, Bickner noted.

"DEKALB has given me substantial opportunities and challenges, and I am encouraged with the product and sales advances that continue to be made," Schulze said. "However, from a personal standpoint, I believe it's time for me to pursue new opportunities in a new environment."

Based in DeKalb, Illinois, DEKALB Genetics Corporation is engaged in the research, production, and marketing of agricultural seed, hybrid swine, and egg-laying hybrid breeding stock.

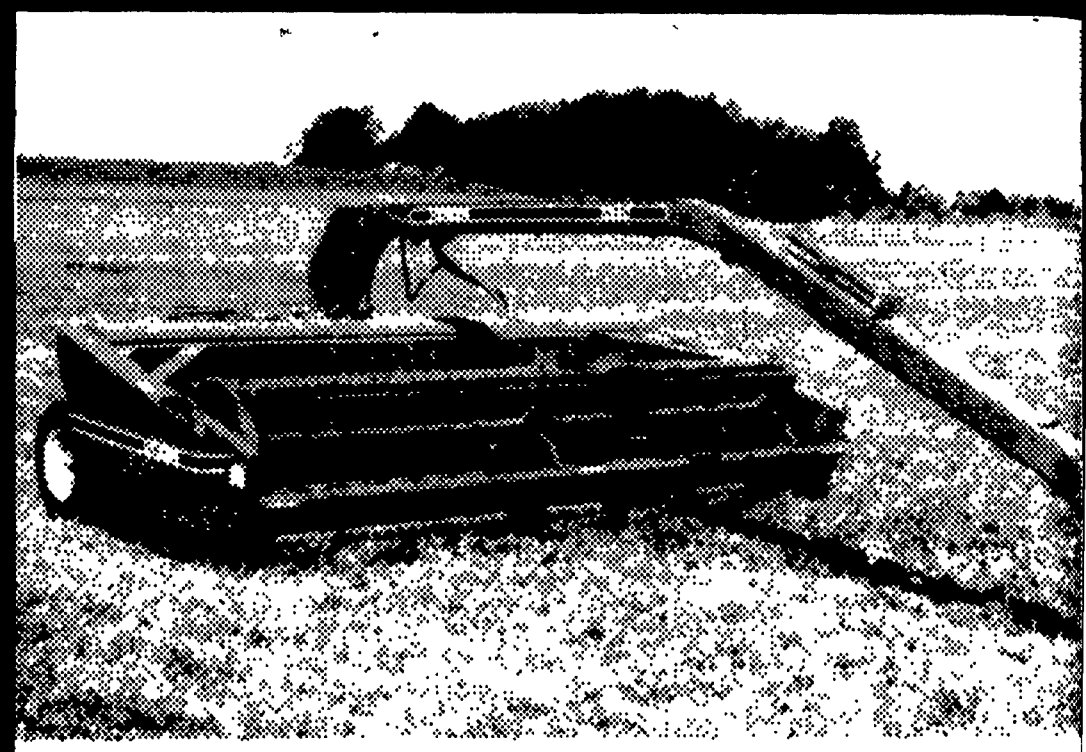
GEHL



109 Inches of Quality Conditioning

A Gehl center-pivot, swing frame mower conditioner gives you high capacity cutting and conditioning with outstanding maneuverability. Two models are available; the 2240 with 12'3" cutting width, and the 2270 with 14'3" cutting width. Both models feature wide, 109-inch rubber conditioning rolls with intermittent tread design to deliver thorough, uniform conditioning. These machines pivot at the center of the frame for easy header positioning, reducing cutting time and lowering fuel costs. And total hydraulic drive means smooth operation and low maintenance. Put a Gehl swing frame mower conditioner to work for you today!

Some Corn Planting Reminders

David L. Dunbar
Lehigh County Cooperative Extension

The ideal corn planting time is only a few days long. In most years, each day's delay past this period reduced yields up to one bushel per acre per day.

Normally, corn can be safely planted 10 to 14 days before the average date of the last killing frost. In much of the Lehigh Valley, there's still a 50 percent chance of frost on April 14. The probability drops to 10 percent by April 28.

Ideally, soil temperatures should be 50 degrees F or above, and the five-day extended weather forecast should indicate continued warm, or warmer, conditions. However, soil physical conditions for good seed coverage are equally important in deciding to plant.

Seed must contact moist soil; 1 to 3 inches of soil coverage is desirable. Plant shallow (1 inch) when soil is cold and/or moist; deeper when soil is warm and/or dry. Plant shallower in heavy soils.

When planting in dry soil, the seed slot opening may fill in before seed drop, resulting in very shallow seed coverage and uneven plant emergence. Planters with zero velocity seed drop are more prone to this problem. To prevent it, reposition or replace the planter sed-drop tubes.

Achieving recommended plant populations depends on planting speed and fit of corn kernels to the plate.

Twenty-four-cell planter plates are recommended. Check seed tag for producer's recommendations, then determine the correct planter plate for each seed lot by carefully checking the fit of at least 50 kernels to the plate cells. Kernels should fill plate cells loosely.

Check planter for wear, including plates, knock-out pawls, and knock-out springs. Air planters are also plate planters. Follow the mnaufacturer's recommendations.

Calibrate planting rates at your field planting speed.

Speed of planting varies with planters and desired plant populations. Follow the manufacturer's recommendations. To calculate planting speed in miles per hour, divide 60 by the number of seconds it takes to travel 88 feet.

To calculate speed, determine number of seconds to travel 88 feet: MPH = 80 divided by number of seconds.

Then check actual kernel drop at the desired planting speed.

1989 Corn Production

The following data and relationships were taken from the "1989 Report of the Pennsylvania Five Acre Corn Club." Providing information were 168 club members giving information for corn harvested from 30,963 acres.

State Averages: Yield- 140.2 bushels per acre; Moisture level at harvest- 24.3 percent; Plants standing- 94.1 percent; Plants barren- 3.5 percent; Plants per acre- 22,620.

Average Yield by Soil Productivity Group: Group 1- 156.3 bushels per acre; Group 2- 139.1 bushels per acre; Group 3- 126.1 bushels per acre; Group 4- 122.0

New Patz® slide of COR-TEN® steel resists corrosion

COR-TEN steel provides atmospheric corrosion resistance for longer slide life.

Patz COR-TEN steel slides are painted to further protect against corrosion. COR-TEN steel holds paint longer than ordinary steel. If the paint is scratched, COR-TEN steel forms a tightly adherent oxide to "heal" itself.

COR-TEN steel is stronger than mild steel. The COR-TEN steel slide is welded to a 4½-inch by 6⅝-inch COR-TEN center box beam for extra rigidity.

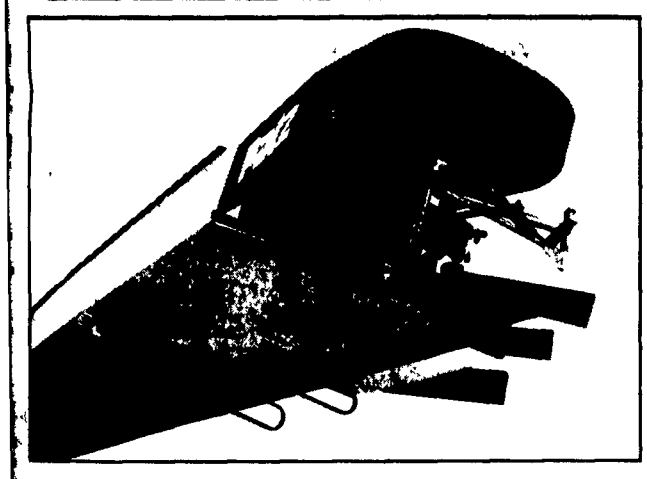
The COR-TEN steel return slide lip is standard equipment. It helps keep the area clean.

Patz can build slides to various widths and lengths. Ask your Patz dealer for details.

Ask your Patz dealer about the new 10-year warranty on COR-TEN steel slides.

COR-TEN is a registered trademark of U.S. Steel Corp.

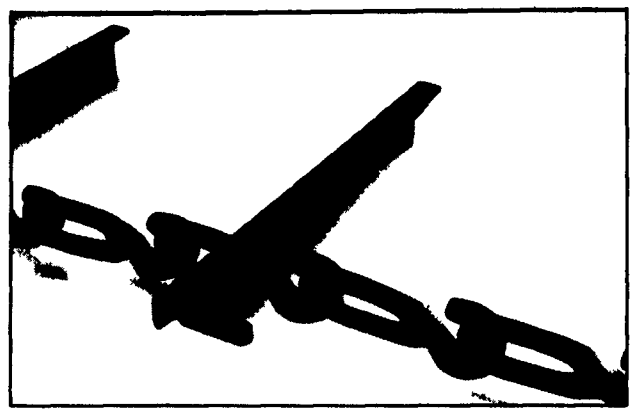
SAFETY! It's no accident



Why Patz is No. 1

- Durable Patz hook-and-eye link chain. Progression forging builds extra strength into hook-and-eye link contact points. Final heat treating increases hardness, strength and wear resistance.
- Four-tooth sprocket drives every link behind the hook--the link's thickest and strongest point.
- Chain flexibility for various layouts.
- Select 2" flites for solid manure or 4" high flites for slurry manure. ¼-inch-thick flites are welded to Patz links. ½-inch-thick wear shoes extend flite life.
- Three drive unit sizes match your gutter length and allow expansion.
- Corner wheel top-and-bottom flanges guide the chain around the corner. Corner wheel assemblies remove easily for service without concrete breakout.
- Heavier XH link available for extremely long pulls.

Patz®



Why Patz Chain Is Your Best Buy

- 41 years of hook-and-eye chain experience Patz gives you proven performance and reliability.
- Special-formula steel plus forging and heat-treating techniques produce the wear resistance that gives you extra service life.
- 10-year extended warranty on chain backed by the reputable Patz name.
- Patz links are inspected to meet superior standards.
- ¼-inch thick flites for added strength.
- Two link sizes match gutter length.
- The ¼-inch thick wear shoe is made from the same steel as the link, so it lasts as long as the chain
- The Patz link's enlarged eye area provides increased chain flexibility.
- Rounded bearing surface of link is forged for long life
- Financing is available from participating dealers
- Other gutter cleaners can be converted for Patz chain

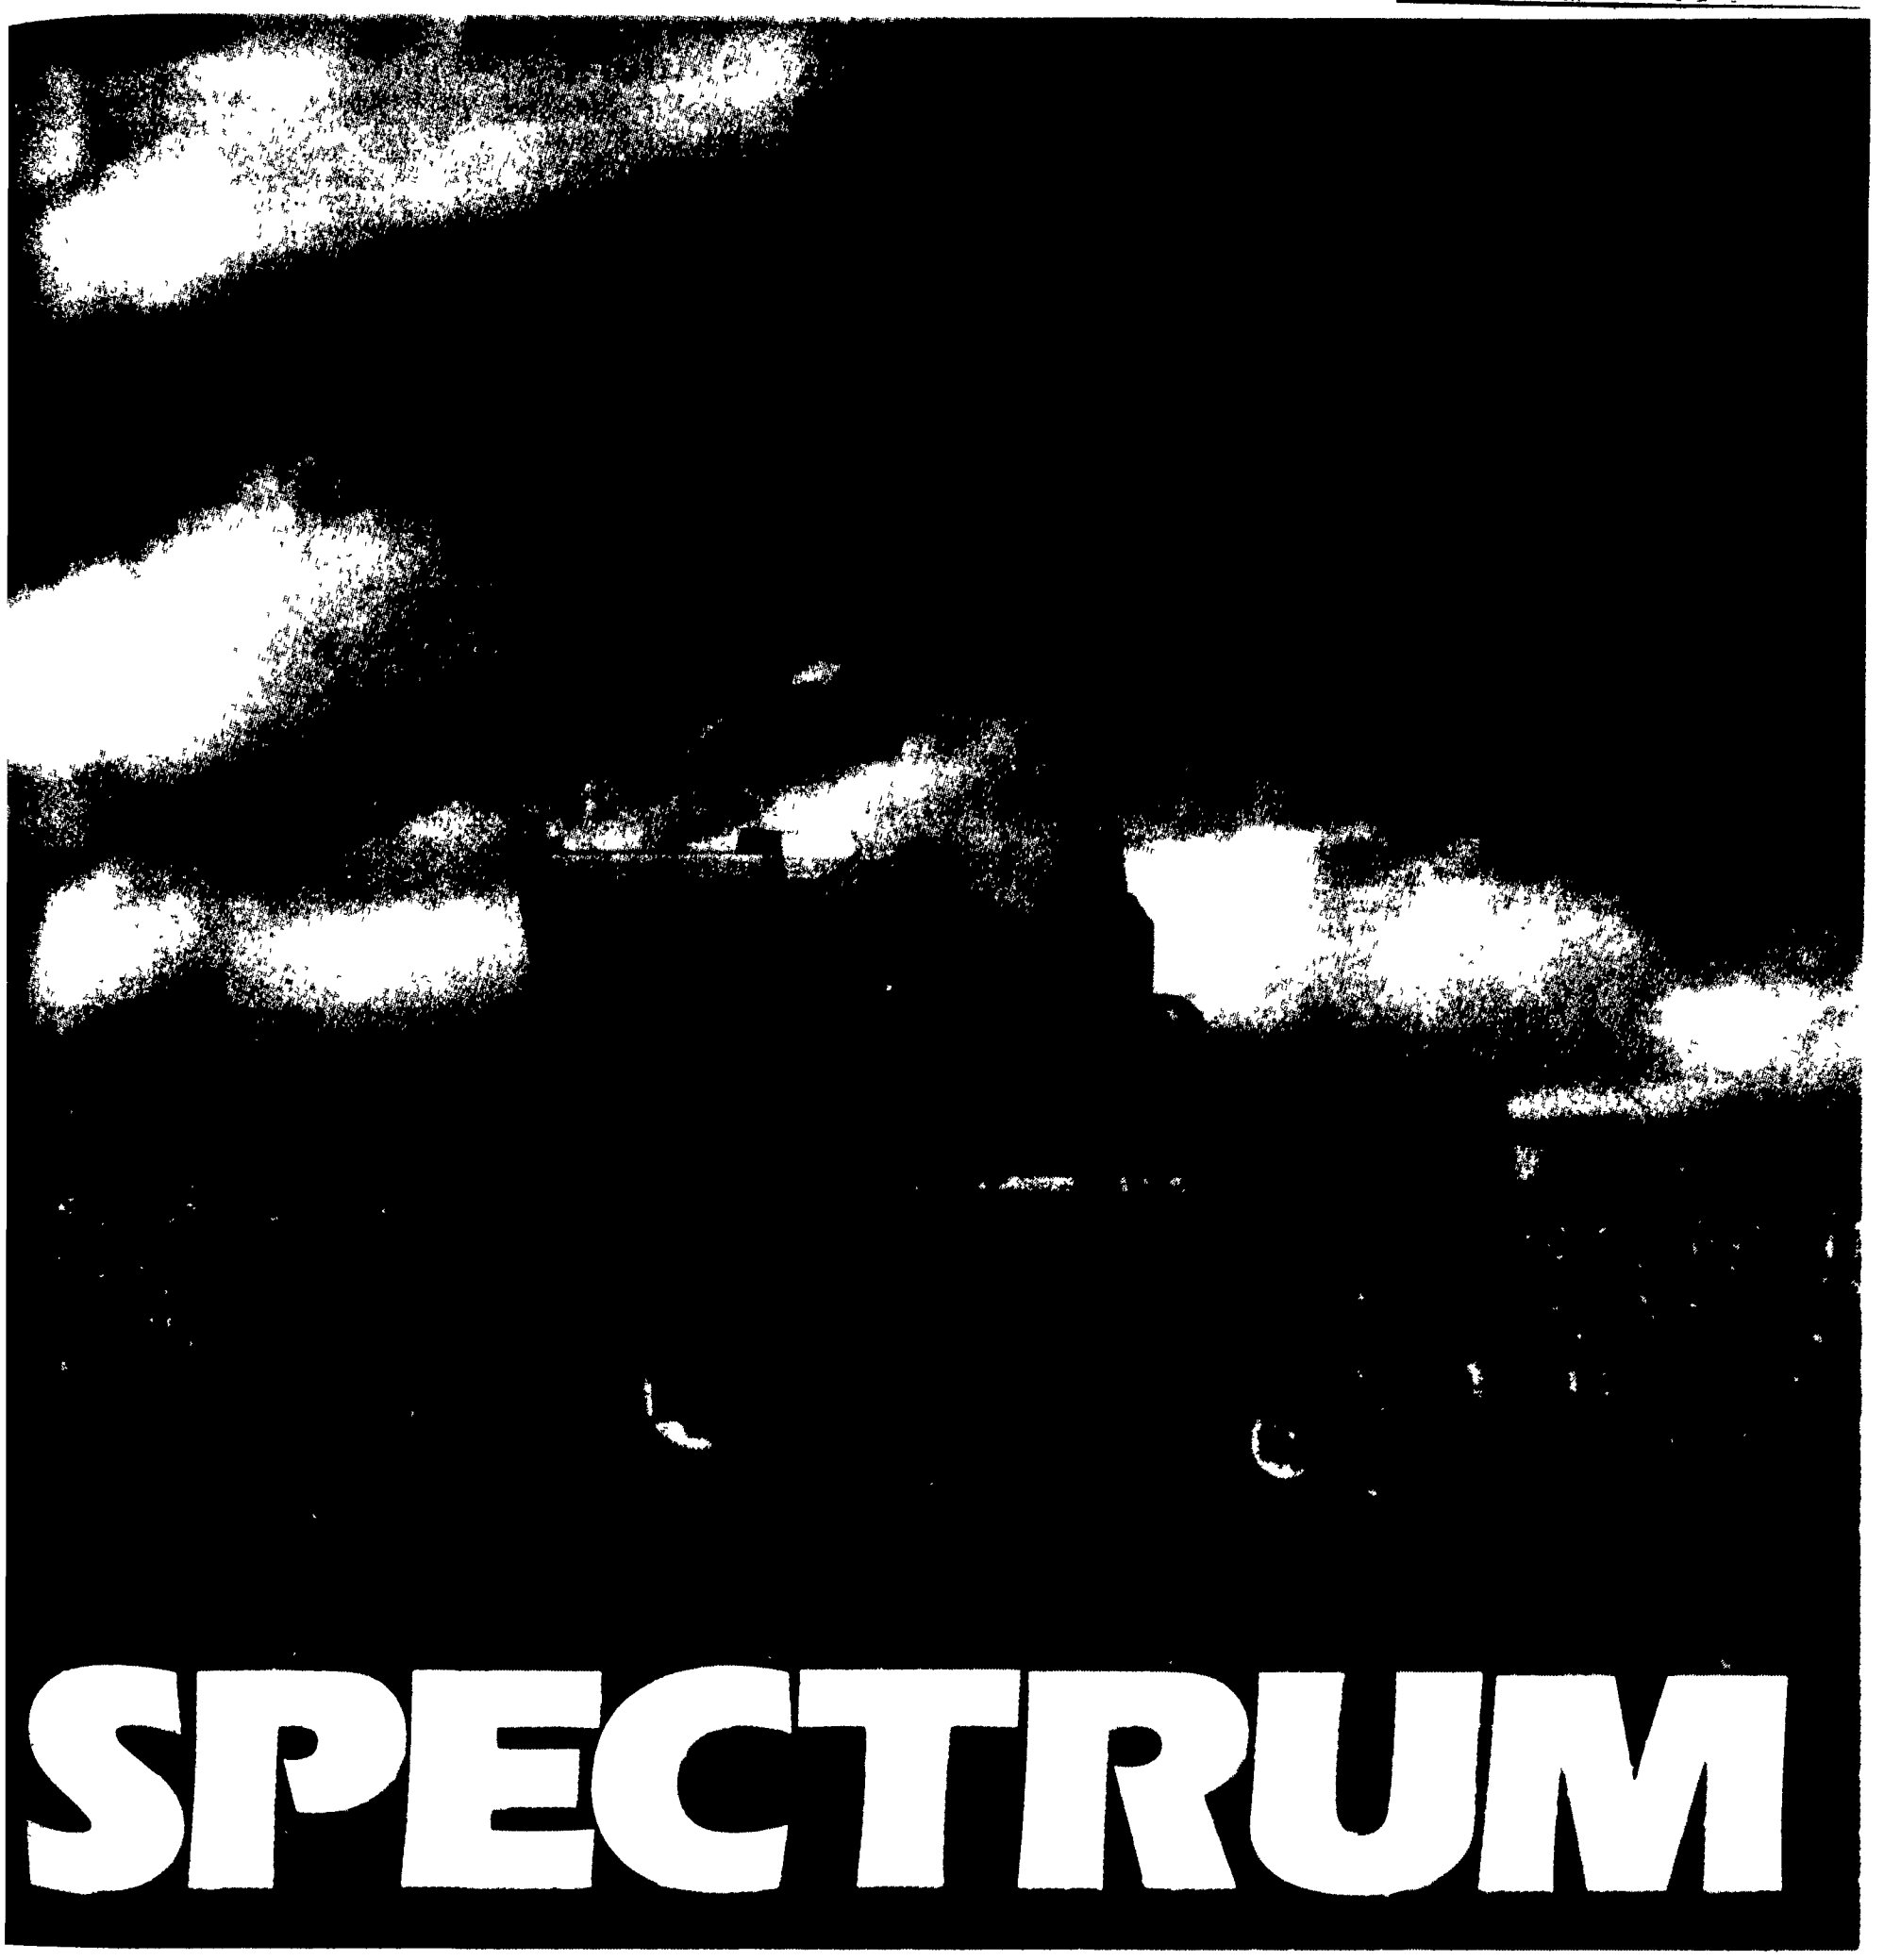
BROADEST

COUNTER® CONTROLS MORE MAJOR CORN PESTS FOR HIGHEST YIELD POTENTIAL.

COUNTER® systemic insecticide-nematicide controls more major corn pests than any other insecticide. Nearly twice as many as some products. And that's critical when you consider the complex of pests that can attack your corn crop. You can't afford to miss an important part of your total insect control.

BROADEST SPECTRUM CONTROL

For more than 10 years, COUNTER has been the undisputed leader in rootworm control. But it also controls a broad spectrum of other pests, including wireworms, white grubs, nematodes and other insects that can attack your crop and reduce yields. More major corn pests than any other product. And COUNTER gives you guaranteed cutworm protection.*



SPECTRUM

HIGHER YIELDS

The greater protection of COUNTER gets your corn off to a fast, healthy start, with stronger, more developed root systems. And that means your crop gets the moisture and nutrients necessary for the best possible yield.

In fact, National Corn Growers Association yield winners have used COUNTER 2-to-1 over the next corn soil insecticide. They must be on to something.

CONSISTENT PERFORMANCE

Tests by major universities in top corn-producing states continue to prove that, applied banded or in-furrow, COUNTER consistently outperforms all other corn soil insecticides by a wide margin. And it delivers outstanding control of corn pests, regardless of years of continuous use. So, you can start with COUNTER and stay with COUNTER. There's no need to periodically take chances with less reliable or unproven products.

Don't risk a performance gap in your total insect control. Get proven, broad-spectrum control, the highest possible yields, and consistent performance. Protect your crop and your investment. With COUNTER insecticide.

To order your free in-furrow kit call 1-800-942-0500.

23.2 percent used chisel and disk tillage and averaged 147.0 bushels per acre. .

For the 96 growers who submitted most-of-production data, the average yield was 140.1 bushels per acre. Their average total cost was $261.20 per acre of $1.92 per bushel.

Farmstead Planting

Bob Graves, Penn State agricultural engineer, offers the following observations to help anyone planning to change a farmstead:

• We build buildings too close -- too close to each other, too close to roads, streams, and property lines and even too close to the ground to allow good drainage of water away from the building.

• We limit access. Access is limited for milk trucks, fire trucks, delivery vehicles, silo filling, and even fresh summer breezes.

• Farmsteads are not static. We are always adding things like silos, grain tanks, buildings, roads, and yards. Have you left enough room?

• Everything is getting bigger. Trucks and farm machinery keep getting longer, wider, and heavier. Does your farmstead plan accommodate this?

As the 1990 building season starts to rev up, think about these points whenever you are involved in changing farmstead facilities.

Drinking Water For Pigs

To design or evaluate the water supply for a swine facility, flow rate (quantity per minute) is more important than quantity per animal when nipple waterers are used.

Use the following flow rates for nipple waterers, based on management groupings:

• 10- to 25-pound pigs - 1 cup per minute.

• 25- to 50-pound pigs - 2 cups per minute.

• grower pigs - 3 cups per minute.

• finishing hogs - 1 quart per minute.

• sows and boars - 1 to 2 quarts per minute.

• lactating sows - ½ gallon per minute.

Livestock Profits Have Been Limited

Strengthened livestock prices in the mid-1980s may have led producers to believe they were making money. But aggregate data on livestock producers, summarized by the USDA's Economics Research Service, indicate otherwise.

When expenses, including cash costs and capital replacement costs, are taken into account, expenses have outrun receipts for most livestock during most of the period between 1972 and 1988. The picture becomes even more alarming when receipts and expenses for the period are translated into constant 1988 dollars.

In 1988 dollars, receipts fell faster than expenses, and many producers experienced losses. Cow-calf producers experienced only three profitable years, and feedlot operators logged profits only once. Farrow-to-finish operators were the second most profitable producers as a group, covering expenses nine times during the period.

Sheep producers were the most profitable as a whole. Aggregate data show that the nation's sheep producers made enough money to cover expenses in 16 of the 17 years.

Bull Test Weigh Period Results

ITHACA, N.Y.— The 99 beef bulls consigned to the 11th Annual New York Bull Test at the Cornell Teaching and Research Center in Harford, NY have established a new level of performance for the 4th weigh period recorded on March 20.

These bulls representing 59 breeders in six states had a record 4th period average daily gain (ADG) of 4.12 pounds. This resulted in a cumulative (112 of 140 days) ADG of 4.28 pounds and their weight per day of age (WPDA) is 3.29 pounds.

William Greene, test director, said, "The 4th weigh period figure clearly depicts the quality of the bulls on test and the maternal genetic abilities of these bulls. With the high number of bulls consigned and the high level of performance, a consignor should be contacting potential buyers."

Leading the 'WEIGH' as top gaining bull for the 4th period is an Angus (Test #95045) consigned by New-Penn Farm, Truxton, NY. This son of Grubbs MacKenzie had a 4th period ADG of 6.29 pounds for a cumulative ADG of 5.84 pounds (high individual cumulative) and a WPDA of 3.24 pounds. The 30 Angus bulls from 13 breeders have a 4th period ADG of 4.09 pounds resulting in a cumulative ADG of 4.38 pounds. Their overall WPDA is 3.26 pounds.

The number two gain spot is shared by a Polled Hereford and a Shorthorn. A Polled Hereford (#95098) son of G&R AJS Raceway had a 4th weigh period ADG of 5.32 pounds. This consignment from Stone Ridge Farm, Livingston Manor, NY, had a cumulative ADG of 5.18 pounds and a WPDA of 3.66 pounds. The 28 bulls from 15 Polled Hereford breeders had an ADG of 4.05 pounds,a cumulative ADG of 4.10 pounds and a WPDA of 3.19 pounds.

Also having an ADG of 5.32 pounds is a Shorthorn (#95001) from Ashwood Farm, Castle Creek, NY. This son of Alexander also has a cumulative ADG of 5.30 pounds and a WPDA of 3.83 pounds. The fourth highest gaining bull for this period is also a Shorthorn (#95091). This son of Ayatollah, consigned by Springbrook Farm, Parish, NY, had an ADG of 5.18 pounds, a cumulative of 5.26 pounds and a WPDA of 3.70 pounds. Cover Crop Meetings Set COLLEGE PARK, Md.— Can legumes provide the nitrogen needed for high grain yields? Which cereal grains are most effective in recycling unused fertilizer nitrogen? What are the best management techniques for fall-seeded cover crops?

The answers to these low-input agriculture questions are available at two on-farm winter legume cover crop meetings in April. The first meeting is April 20 at 8:30 a.m. on Calvin Serman's 400-acre grain farm. Participants will compare the corn grain yields following two kill dates of crimson clover planted in the fall of 1989.

The second meeting is April 26 at 6:00 p.m. at the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station's Beltsville facility, located on Beaver Dam Road on the grounds of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Beltsville Agricultural Research Center. Hairy vetch, crimson clover, and a vetch/crimson mixture were planted here in the fall of 1989.

Dr. Morris Decker, professor emeritus in the agronomy department at the University of Maryland at College Park, will introduce speakers at both meetings. The recipient of a two-year, $105,000 low-input sustainable agriculture (LISA) grant in 1989, Decker will also discuss research data and ongoing research projects at the Agricultural Experiment Station's Poplar Hill facility and Clarksville facility.

Swenson Outlines NFU Farm Bill Position

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A call for the establishment of a 1990 farm bill, which would "sustain" family farmers, natural resources, rural communities, and food supplies, was issued in Washington Wednesday by the president of the National Farmers Union.

Testifying before the Senate Agriculture Committee, NFU President Leland Swenson laid out a multi-faceted farm bill proposal which would include a bushel-based wheat and feed grains program, a two-tiered dairy price support plan, and the repeal of the Findley Amendment.

"The situation today in agriculture and rural America is not acceptable," Swenson told the committee. "We oppose any authority which would allow the secretary of agriculture to lower target prices and loan rates or dairy support prices." Swenson says the discretion given the secretary of agriculture under the Findley Amendment has resulted in "artificially low commodity prices."

Swenson's group is asking that the next farm program include provisions to establish a normal crop acreage base, equalize support prices among all commodities by raising those that have been disproportionately low, and the continuation of the Farmer-Owned Reserve Program.

The farm group also wants multi-year set-asides to allow planting of cover crops which could be harvested during times of natural disaster. That, said Swenson, would alleviate pressure to harvest cover crops from Conservation Reserve Program Land during drought years.

The Farmers Union proposal urges that bases be targeted to bushels and pounds, rather than acres, with limits placed on the amount of output which would be supported. Swenson told the committee the established bases would take into consideration domestic needs, export needs, and reserve requirements.

The farm leader said his group would oppose the application of a "means test" for farm program participation. "Gross income levels from farming, and gross agricultural sales levels, vary significantly per commodity and do not reflect profit capabilities."

Swenson stated that commodity market control has become concentrated into a handful of multi national corporations in recent years, and told the senators that "producers' only economic protection lies in your hands via the structure of the 1990 farm bill."

Yetter Hoe Accommodates Row Spaces To 40 Inches

Yetter rotary hoes are available in sizes from 12 foot to 41 foot and accommodate row spaces up to 40 inches without adjustment. Spoon-billed teeth rake through the ground, shattering crusty soil and dislodging weeds for a positive kill.

PEORIA, Ill. — Twenty-one inch diameter wheels on Yetter rotary hoes are reveted for durability, turn on sealed ball bearings, and are mounted with only one wheel per arm. This permits greater flexibility with less strain on the arms.

Rotary hoes are available in sizes from 12' to 41' and will accommodate row spaces up to 40" without adjustment. Wheels have been designed to permit hoeing between plants and rows without injury to plants. Tension springs may be unhooked and arm and wheel assemblies raised for hoeing bedding crops or tall plants. A protective screen is standard on all models.

Spoon-billed teeth rake through the ground, shattering crusty soil and dislodging weeds for a positive kill. Chemicals are introduced into the weed root zone by the action of the teeth. The result is greater weed control. Row crops and bedded plants can be hoed with equal ease and with no modification to the unit.

Where wind erosion is a problem, the Yetter rotary hoe forms surface pockets that arrest blowing topsoil in one pass.

Wool 'Self-Help' Promo Asset To Ag

DENVER, Colo.— The "self-help" promotion program for lamb and wool was described as a critical asset to American agriculture today and in the future during a meeting of the House Subcommittee on Livestock, Dairy and Poultry recently in Washington, D.C.

Testifying for the American Sheep Industry Association, Executive Director Rodger Wasson lauded the value of the sheep industry's promotion program in pioneering national marketing programs for lamb and wool and putting strong producer education programs into play for sheep producers. Through the National Wool Act, the sheep industry funds its own efforts to better inform the country's 114,000 sheep producers, he said.

The Wool Act provides the sheep industry with a base of support through provisions, including a checkoff on wool incentive payments to fund industry development programs. American sheep producers take a referendum vote every four years to continue the funding.

The timing is this first legislated national checkoff in agriculture was important, he said, since it coincided with a time when the support infrastructure for the shrinking sheep industry was steadily declining.

"Federal and state sheep research, education, economic reports, and supply surveys were steadily diminished. Pharmaceutical, feed, and equipment companies shifted their research and development resources to more lucrative markets," Wasson told the committee. "In this environment, the Wool Act checkoff has been an essential tool for sheep producers to help themselves. Checkoff dollars are now funding market information services, development programs, and producer education to fill the needs of the industry."

Wasson told committee members the program has not been static, but has changed throughout its existence to meet the changing demands of the industry. "Marketing programs have been targeted at the distribution chain, combatting low producer prices which do not reflect the increasing demand for lamb." The key, Wasson said, are the year-long market building programs launched with processors and retailers.

Stiff competition from foreign wools led to the creation of niche markets for American wool, including the development of the trademarked cotton-wool blend fabric called Alamera, Wasson said. "The association has worked a lot in the development area to create the ideas, interest and procedures for new textile products using wool," Wasson said.

"To bring American wool to global standards, an extensive producer-level wool marketing improvement campaign is utilizing the latest in baling equipment and expert wool graders," he said.

Because of funding provided through the nation's sheep producers, the industry is able to provide itself with the kind of excellent educational effort in programs such as the Sheep Industry Development Program, Wasson said. "With a critical shortage of educational resources, these checkoff funded programs and materials are used extensively by universities and the cooperative extension service."

Wasson said genetic evaluation and improvement was addressed with the creation of the National Sheep Improvement Program, a computerizes evaluation system.

"The Wool Act's self-help program has served the industry well for the past 35 years," Wasson said. "Over the years, we've learned that supporting our particular industry is considerably more complicated than simply advertising our products to the consumer and expecting producers to reap the benefits."

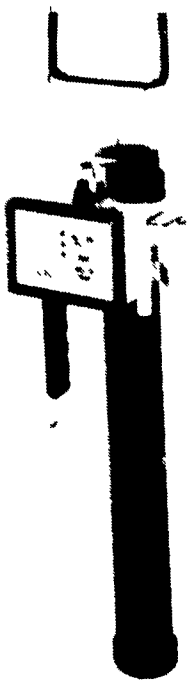
Auto Take-Off Unit Features Pre-Milking Stimulation

ELK GROVE VILLAGE, Ill. — A new portable automatic cluster remover (ACR), designed to increase milk yields and reduce milking time and labor in stanchion barn systems, is now available from Westfalia Systemat.

The Stanchion Barn ACR is a high-technology automatic take-off unit featuring built-in, pre-milking stimulation and adjustable pulsation for consistent milk letdown and better herd health. Designed to increase milk yields and reduce operator's workload, Westfalia's new ACR provides a faster, more efficient milking routine, but still allows the dairyman to give individual attention to his cows in a stanchion barn setting.



This portable automatic cluster remover (ACR) from Westfalia Systemat is designed to increase milk yields and reduce milking time and labor in stanchion barn systems. The ACR is an automatic take-off unit, which features built-in pre-milking stimulation and adjustable pulsation for consistent milk letdown and better herd health.

The 10-pound portable unit conveniently mounts between cows. The operator simply attaches the milker and triggers the ACR. Pre-milking stimulation can be set for 20-, 40-, 60-, or 90- second intervals. In addition, pulsation rates are adjustable at 50, 60, 65, or 70 cycles per minute, depending on the herd's milking requirements.

With its adjustable timed milk-out and strip time, the unit's automatic flow sensor takes over milk monitoring responsibilities and turns traditional stanchion barns into a modern milking system. The ACR's pulsation stop indicator signals the end of milking and switches the pulsator off in the rest phase. The Stanchion Barn ACR's pulsator is available with milk-to-rest phase ratios of 50:50, 60:40, 67:33, or split 50:50 front, 60:40 rear.

Westfalia's new Stanchion Barn ACR also includes a retraction cylinder, electronic control, pulsation hose filters, vacuum shut-off, and mounting hook. In addition, the unit can be operated automatically or manually.

For more information on Westfalia's new Stanchion Barn ACR, contact Richard Larson, Westfalia Systemat, 1862 Brummel Drive, Elk Grove Village, IL 60007, (800) 323-6723.

LTA Allows Soviets To Buy Grain Easier

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S.-Soviet Long-Term Grain Agreement (LTA), agreed upon in principle by U.S. and Soviet negotiators, will provide greater flexibility to the Soviet Union in purchasing U.S. grains for the next five years. The new LTA will replace the current agreement, which expires December 31, 1990.

"The agreement represents a good compromise between the interests of the United States and Soviet Union," said Allen Terhaar, USFGC director of trade servicing, planning, and trade policy. "It is a positive move toward the goal of increasing grain volume and purchasing flexibility for the Soviets. The Soviets are one of our best grain customers. They deserve to get the commodities they want on a reliable, long-term basis."

The new agreement provides for a 1-million-metric-ton (mmt) increase in the minimum annual Soviet purchase amount of U.S. wheat, feed grains, soybeans, and soybean meal to 10 mmt. The agreement calls for annual purchases of at least 4 mmt each of wheat and feed grains; however, it allows the Soviets to substitute up to 750,000 mt of one commodity for the other in a given year, as long as 20 mmt of each commodity is purchased by the end of the agreement.

The language of the new agreement, which calls for purchases of all feed grains (corn, sorghum, and barley), represents additional flexibility in purchasing. It will allow the Soviets to maximize the volume of their purchases in light of their tight foreign currency earnings.

In addition, the feed grains language will allow the United States to compete with other Soviet suppliers of barley and sorghum, such as the European Community and Argentina, potentially increasing the U.S. share of the Soviet market.

ASA Applauds Passage Of Soy Promotion Act

ST LOUIS, Mo. — The American Soybean Association (ASA) praised leaders of the U.S. House of Representatives for passing the Soybean Promotion, Research and Consumer Information Act (HR2209) by a 416-9 vote.

This act creates a nationwide checkoff to expand soybean promotion and research efforts to increase soybean profits.

"This action will provide U.S. farmers the opportunity to expand profits through domestic and export promotion programs, research to uncover new uses, consumer information, and research to cut production costs," said James Lee Adams, a Georgia farmer who is national chairman of the Soybean Promotion and Research Checkoff (SPARC). "Soybean farmers face serious challenges and great opportunities. SPARC will help not just us, but also our children."

The legislation, recommended by ASA and approved by Congress, shows program is:

- Fair to all soybean farmers because everyone invests. and everyone benefits.
- Run by soybean farmers who serve on boards of directors.
- Caps administrative costs at no more than five percent.
- Keeps 50 percent in-state to pinpoint and solve state problems.
- Subject to farmer votes to continue or to change the rate.
- Prohibits checkoff funds from being used to influence government action or policy.

The Senate approved a similar bill (S1838) on November 7, 1989. Technical differences between House and Senate versions must now be resolved. The nationwide checkoff could be in place by fall.

Missouri farmer Don Heil, president of the American Soybean Development Foundation, praised the bill's sponsors, Representatives Dan Glickman (D-KS) and Ron Marlenee (R-MT) for their efforts to "create a good bill that will work in the best interests of farmers.

"This legislation will help U.S. soybean farmers be more competitive and increase profit opportunities by allowing more emphasis on market promotion and research," Heil said. "Promotion is a must, both here and abroad. In the U.S., 85 percent of all consumers cannot identify soy oil as a cooking oil.

"Overseas, we're facing increased competition from other oilseed producers who are investing heavily in promotion and research We've fallen from No. 1 to No. 3 in worldwide soy oil exports and from No. 1 to No. 4 in soybean meal exports. SPARC would give us the resources we need to tap the vast potential of markets such as the Soviet Union, China, Asia and Eastern Europe," Heil said.

SPARC would also provide funding for research that would help U.S. soybean farmers cut production costs, making them more competitive in the world market, Heil noted. Research money could also be used for projects dedicated to finding new uses for soybeans.

Adams and Heil emphatically support establishment of the national checkoff. The SPARC legislation was developed after two years of study and interviews with 3,400 farmers, they noted.

J-STAR Unveils Shredder Pump

FORT ATKINSON, Wis. — J-Star Industries, Inc. recently unveiled its new two-point Nesseth shredder pump featuring a 20"x4", four-blade "starburst" impeller. The impeller operates at 730 rpm and the accompanying shredder plate provides 32 cuts per revolution to help shred bedding and homogenize manure for easy handling.

The new Nesseth pump features an enlarged entry opening to make quick work of your agitation, transfer, and tank filling requirements. The new pump is available in 8', 10' and 12' legnths. Agitation and pump-out functions are controlled easily and safely from the "back side" of the pump.

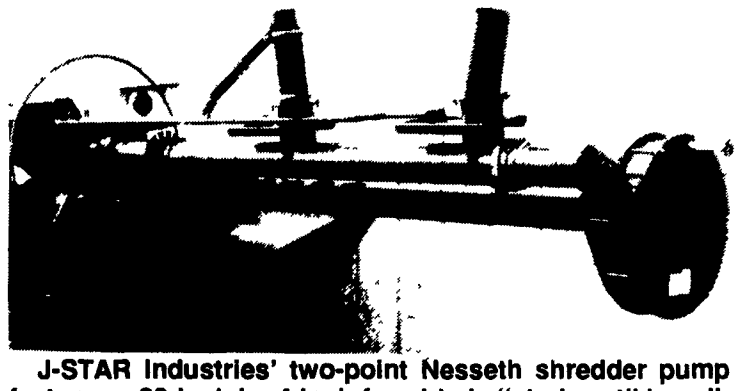
The new two-point hitch design is easy to work with. Tractor hookup is convenient and fast. Category II or III tractors can be used. Insert two pins and connect two hydraulic hoses. The pump is easy to transport and maneuver.

The new lower bearing and seal system eliminates the need for an oil-filled beam for the 1¾" drive shaft and bearings. A Labyrinth seal prevents any foreign material or twine from wrapping around the shaft.

Hardened bevel gears run in oil in the 1:1.35 ration gear box that is splined and connected to the main shaft by a PTO universal joint coupling.

The impeller housing drive shaft and bearings can all be easily serviced by the simple maintenance procedure designed into the new Nesseth pump.

For further information contact Dean Hanke, sales development manager, J-Star Industries, Inc. 801 Janesville Avenue, Fort Atkinson, WI 53538, (414) 563-5521.



J-STAR Industries' two-point Nesseth shredder pump features a 20-inch by 4-inch four-blade "starburst" impeller. The pump features an enlarged entry opening to make quick work of your agitation, transfer, and tank filling requirements.

THE ANSWERS FOR WORKING SMARTER

Kubota's B-Series and L-Series Tractors provide answers for working smarter at general or weekend farming, light construction and landscaping. Kubota tractors are powerful, ranging from 10–49 PTO. They're versatile, too—with quick-attach implements that answer mowing, scraping, tractor/loader/backhoe and tilling needs

Select a compact yet powerful B-Series Kubota for HST transmission, power steering and optional Bi-Speed Turn. A mid-size L Series Kubota offers a variety of transmissions including the new Ever-Clutch and advanced Glide Shift Transmission.

When the question is how to work smarter, Kubota offers a multiple choice.

Kubota Tractor Changes Top Management

OSAKA, Japan — S. Mino, president of Kubota Corporation, announced two significant changes in the top management of its U.S. subsidiary, Kubota Tractor Corporation.

S. Egusa is being promoted to chairman of Kubota Tractor Corporation, and Tomomi Soh will replace him as president of the company.

These changes were announced to Kubota Tractor Corporation's dealer network at the company's annual dealer meeting in Nashville, Tenn.

"With these two experienced people heading Kubota Tractor Corporation, we look forward to an even brighter future for the company," said Mino.

Egusa has served as California-based Kubota Tractor Corpor-tion's president for the past nine years. He began his career with Kubota Corporation in 1949, and was based in Osaka before being assigned to the Compton, Calif.-based company.

Egusa pioneered Kubota Corporation's engine and farm machinery export business and was instrumental in establishing many of its overseas companies. Egusa has led Kubota Tractor Corporation's expansion into diversified product areas.

Soh also has had a long and distinguished career at Kubota Corporation, having started in its Tokyo branch in 1961. He began in the farm machinery sales department, and served at Kubota Tractor Corporation's Compton office from 1973 to 1979. Soh was then transferred to the America and Europe group's export department. For the past five years he served as the president of Kubota Europe and chairman of Kubota Deutschland GmbH.

Meat Board: 'Checkoffs Achieving Goal'

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Meat Board Chairman Leon Locke told a House subcommittee recently that checkoffs are achieving goals set out by Congress and should remain unchanged.

"Producers and consumers alike are benefiting from the checkoff-funded research and product information," said Locke, a cattleman from Hungerford, Texas, who spoke with a broad perspective on checkoffs.

"The National Live Stock and Meat Board, launched in 1922, was funded by the first checkoff in the history of American agriculture. Today, it brings together the entire farm-to-table spectrum of the meat industry," said Locke in testimony before the Livestock, Dairy and Poultry Subcommittee of the House Agriculture Committee.

The subcommittee is conducting oversight hearings on commodity checkoff programs. Locke's presentation gave an overview of the history of the Meat Board, history of meat industry checkoffs, and a look at how the national checkoffs for beef and pork have provided strength and better coordination to market development efforts.

Locke said the conceptual framework of using producer investments at the point-of-sale for commodity promotion, research and information has supported 68 years of Meat Board programs on behalf of beef, pork, lamb, and veal.

"This concept also served as a basis for the legislative beef and pork checkoffs created by the 1985 Farm Bill," said Locke. "And since the development of the national checkoff programs, we have more positive results from beef and pork market development programs.

"We can cite many examples of success which have come from checkoff-funded programs," said Locke. "The Meat Board's first research grant led to Dr. G.H. Whipple's Nobel Prize-winning discovery that liver was a valuable food. Today, such research continues to provide information on the 'nutrient dense' qualities of meat and its value in the human diet."

Locke said the Meat Board draws from the expertise of all industry segments — producer, marketer, packer, processor and retailer — believing that all should be involved in developing programs for the betterment of the industry. Funds from the checkoffs are invested by the Meat Board in programs of research, information, and promotion with one common objective: "building demand."

"Consumers today reach into the meat case more often, because the Meat Board's checkoff-funded research, consumer information, and promotion has reassured them, their parents, and probably their grandparents that whichever meat they choose will be safe and nutritious," said Locke.

DeKalb-Pfizer Releases Improved Seed

DEKALB, Ill. — DEKALB-PFIZER GENETICS has released 14 improved seed products for the 1990 growing season. The product line additions include 9 corn hybrids, 3 soybean varieties, and 2 sorghum hybrids.

"The new commercial releases are targeted for specific areas where their improved performance features are best demonstrated," said Kent Schulze, company president.

In recent years, corn hybrids such as DK535, DK636, and DK689 have done much to enhance the competitiveness of the DEKALB corn product line. "What we are doing now is adding depth to our line up," said Schulze.

"It has been our strategy to thoroughly test new products, releasing only those that outperform existing products," he said. "In other words, it is our responsibility to test products — not the customer's. Before we commercialize a product, our field analysis comparison trial (FACT) testing program has confirmed that the new offering provides farmers with added value."

For early season corn areas — under 95 days in relative maturity — DEKALB-PFIZER introduces DK332, DK372, DK421, and DK451. These hybrids offer high yields in these maturity zones. DK473 is a 97-day hybrid suited for New England. DK570 and DK582 offer top yields for 108-day hybrids with excellent plant health, and will be available in the eastern corn belt and in Mid-Atlantic markets, respectively. The last two corn hybrids — DK643 and DK671 — add depth to the DEKALB-PFIZER line-up in full-season markets.

Two of the company's new soybean varieties — CX210 and CX291 — round out the group II maturity choices in Midwest markets. CX340c adds soybean cyst nematode resistance in a mid-group III maturity.

The new sorghum hybrids will be broadly marketed across the key grain sorghum areas of the U.S. DK40y is a drought tolerant, yellow sorghum and DK56 offers a bright red grain and broad adaptability. Both carry tropical breeding and resistance to major diseases.

All of the 1990 releases from DEKALB will be in limited supply during their introductory years.

"With the DEKALB brand products that are on the market today, we feel we have a highly competitive lineup," said Schulze.

Lancaster Dairymen Tour Franklin County Farms

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — A group of Lancaster County dairymen loaded up on a bus last week and spent a day here seeing how some of their peers do business in another part of the state.

Roger Mills, chairman of the tour committee for the Lancaster Holstein Association, said he originally farmed the lower Franklin County area, but sold that place more than 20 years ago and moved to the Lancaster area. He said the trip was like going home again.

The group visited four Holstein operations ranging in size from a multi-building freestall parlor operation with a herd of more than 200 and plans to double that, to an older-style heavy-beamed tie-stall barn operation that had just started to use a permanent pipeline system.

The lower Chambersburg area is characterized by rolling hills dotted with numerous limestone outcroppings and just the start of the suburbanization that has hit hard in central, south central and southeastern parts of the state.

In this area of the limestone crescent that arcs from Maryland south of Franklin County, up through the Cumberland Valley, Lebanon Valley, and down through the Lehigh Valley, farmland is still the most dominant part of the landscape and Holsteins are the most dominant part of that.

The first operation visited is owned by Clifford Hawbaker, called Hamilton Heights. It is a sixth-generation 234-acre "Century Farm," and the operation also includes 57 additional acres owned, and 190 acres rented.

His 210 milking cows have a cumulative average of 17,939 pounds milk, 635 butterfat. Of those cows, 42 are registered and 132 are young stock

He said he manages by objectives, tries to make the best use of resources and strives for excellence. His tools for managing include using DHIA, the Franklin County Crop Management Association, a private tax consultant, ABC Linear-mate, and an IBM XT computer, with Dairy TRAKPlus, AGRIFAX accounting, Agri-plan ration balance, LOTUS 123 and Display Write programming.

He also uses the cooperative extension services, U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service (SCS) and Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the Holstein Association and Farm Credit.

Hawbaker employees six people: a field and feed man for 13 years, a fulltime milker for seven years, a parttime milk and field hand for eight years, and three part-time workers.

Crops include 210 acres of corn, 180 acres of mixed hay, 50 acres of alfalfa, and 10 acres of small grains.

He said his herd objectives are to breed for a functional-type cow, a dairy cow with the ability to improve the offspring and for longevity. He said he wants first-lactating heifers to produce an average 17,000 pounds of milk and then go on to a second lactation of more than 20,000 pounds.

The layout of the dairy operation includes three large freestall buildings set parallel and staggered to each other, and separated by exercise lots.

A large main dairy building is parallel to the freestalls and is located at one end of the row. In the future, he said he plans to add a row of parallel freestall buildings and exercise lots on the other side of the milking building and build the herd to more than 400 head.

A little farther south is Rice Crest Farms run by Fred and Dale Rice. The operation also has 210 dairy cows, but the two have no plans to add more.

Two specific methods of operating at the Rice farm drew interest from the touring dairymen; the manure system and the bedding system in the lower of two freestall buildings.

The manure system consists of an alley scraper and a gravity fed system to a storage lagoon.

According to Fred, the cows don't mind the slowly moving scraper blades and the cabling.

The bedding system of interest was a sloped bed with about 8 inches of clay. On top of the clay, Fred said a couple of inches of sawdust are lain. On top of that, a heavy duty, canvas duck-like material is set, tacked at the top and draped down over the end. Still yet, about twice a week, the pair place additional sawdust on top of the canvas.

Fred said he's found that "cows want something soft."

Talk between the dairymen about dirt and sand as bedding led to the conclusion that those materials are too much work, even though apparently enjoyed by cows. The canvas, clay and sawdust combination seems to offer the best solution to cow comfort and maintenance, according to Fred.

He said that Mason Dixon Farms experimented with the bedding style and that, while "they do get dirtier," the cows prefer it. He said one cow in particular would not use cement or wood but reacted well to the softer offering.

The alley scraper was installed after Fred read about the system in a farming magazine, he said. The cost for their entire manure system came to only $15,000. A big difference from the cost of other systems recommended at the time, Fred said.

The next farm visited was Gaymere Farms, located nearby. It is a registered Holstein operation since 1960 and in three-way partnership between father Harold Gayman and sons Mark and Grant since 1978.

Working on about 800 acres of land, 400 of which are used for cash cropping, the family operation milks 180 cows (on test) in two different groups, according to Grant.

"We have a low group and a not-so-low group," he said of his milking herd.

The Gaymans have been no-tilling alfalfa for about 7-8 years and no-till all their corn. Grant pointed to the field and showed that they plant a rye crop in the fall for a cover crop for erosion control.

He said last year their biggest problem with milk production, similar to many reports across the state, was forage.

Their herd is all registered and "homebred." He said his father has maintained a closed herd since about 1966.

The outfit milks with a double-four herringbone parlor and also have a freestall alley scraper. He said they also made the alley scraper system for the Rice brothers.

A difference in the manure system, however, is that the Gaymans pump their manure uphill to a storage pit big enough to hold about seven to eight months' worth of waste.

He said the no-till planting has cost just as much as regular tilling, but with the decreased soil erosion, there has been considerable benefits. He said they rotate their corn about every three years and add no additional nitrogen, other than manure, which gets a spring application.

The Gaymans also said they are "max-ed out" with cows.

It takes them four hours to milk, and they milk twice a day.

The Gaymans do their breeding through the ABS GMC program and Youg Sire and have about 20 Very Goods and one Excellent cow and about 70 Good plus.

Their one fulltime, and one part time hired help work regularly, but do the milking every other week. According to Grant, it seems to work out better, switching weeks that way, instead of splitting morning and evening shifts.

The last farm on the tour belonged to Harold Crider, who also is in partnership with two sons, Roger and Rodney, to run Antrim Spring Farm.

A smaller, older-looking operation, quite different from the open gable, well ventilated buildings at the other dairy farms, the Criders have apparently hung onto older ways for most of the more than 30 years of business.

It wasn't untill about 1981 that Harold switched from bucket-hauling to the milk cooling tank to having a portable system. And then, nine days before the tour, he made the big switch to a pipeline system that he said is "just great."

According to Rodney, it cuts about an hour of milking time.

But much of the Crider's dairy business is tied up in breeding. He got into breeding Holsteins in 1946, while still in high school and still has animals that are 11th generation, and Excellents, from that first animal that was a school project.

He has had 25 Excellents and currently has 14 in the herd with production in the low to mid-20,000 pound range.

The farm contains 161 acres and the Criders rent another 75, with which they grow hay and silage corn. Harold said he buys all the grain for their 68 milking cows.

Harold said he's had his herd on testing since 1957 and classified since 1963. He said he had been

Technology Improves Fertilizer Rates

DEKALB, Ill. — "Two diagnostic tools are now available to help farmers achieve optimum fertility rates for corn," said Jim Andersen, regional agronomist for DEKALB-PFIZER GENETICS.

Developed recently by Iowa State University (ISU) researchers, these tools also will enable farmers to minimize excess fertility costs as well as the likelihood of point-source contamination of groundwater. Good news for U.S. farmers, who typically spend about $40 per acre each year on fertilizer.

One of the new tools, a soil-sampling procedure, lets farmers know if they need to apply additional nitrogen to their corn after planting. Andersen said, "Farmers simply take soil samples in mid-May after emergence and provide them to their county extension agent who can have them tested for available nitrogen content."

Results and recommendations are made by university extension agronomists and quickly returned to the farmer. "That allows him to side dress nitrogen, if needed, while the corn plants are still small," he said.

This procedure is particularly helpful to pinpoint nitrogen needs, since applications traditionally have been based on yield goals, soil organic matter, and guesswork.

"The only pitfall farmers need to consider and avoid as if they chisel-plow anhydrous ammonia," said the DEKALB-PFIZER agronomist. "Because anhydrous is applied in a 6-inch to 8-inch zone, it isn't always uniform in the soil where farmers pull their soil sample."

A second procedure, developd by research agronomists at ISU, determines whether farmers applied too much or too little fertilizer. Agronomists discovered there is a direct correlation between the amount of nutrients in corn stalks and what is present in the soil at the end of the growing season. "This information gives farmers a good idea of the type of fertility they'll need for corn the following year," Andersen said.

The procedure consists of taking an 8-inch sample of the stalk at two places — 6 inches and 14 inches above the ground surface. Andersen said that 15 stalk samples are needed to get a representative sample of a given area of a field. The samples are tested and results are then provided to the grower.

For more information on these two diagnostic tools, Andersen recommends that farmers contact their county extension agent to find out if this service is available in their area.

An apparently happy cow rests on a clay and sawdust bed and uses the divider for a head rest as a freestall alley scaper slowly chugs by.

excited when he had his first Very Good cow, that went on to be an Excellent. She was an Ivanhoe daughter.

His herd averages 17,000 pounds and 3.8 percent butterfat.

Harold said he's been using embryo transfer since 1981, and has six to eight cows flushing. And he has been using semen from some different sources, "about half Canadian bull and some Walkway Chief Mark."

He said he also has used study bulls from Atlantic.

A number of counties are sponsoring similar dairy tours this time of year. According to Mills, the only real way to get out and see what is happening on other farms, is to get out and see.

PENNSYLVANIA'S LARGEST KUBOTA DEALER

Wanted: Ticks, Dead Or Alive

CREAMERY (Montgomery Co.) — As spring and summer approach, many Pennsylvanians will spend more time in the woods. If you find a tick while hiking or camping in Montgomery County, bring it to the Penn State Cooperative Extension office located in Creamery on Route 113, one mile south of Skippack.

"You could participate in a survey designed to map the distribution of Lyme disease and other problems caused by ticks," said Tim Fritz, county agent.

Stevens Jacobs, project associate in Penn State's department of entomology, would like to examine the ticks Pennsylvanias find on themselves, their children, or their pets. County offices will forward the ticks, dead or alive. to Jacobs, Dr. Ke Chung Kim, and Dr. Robert Snetsinger, professors of entomology.

"The purpose of this survey is to determine the range and distribution of Ixodes dammini, the deer tick is the main carrier of Lyme disease," Jacobs said. "Other ticks can carry the disease as well, so we want to see any tick someone finds. With a strong response from all counties, we can get a good idea of where Lyme disease risk areas are across the state".

"Your county extension office has kits with vials to hold the tick and a questionnarie asking for information important for the survey, such as where the tick was found and what type of host it had," said Fritz. The kit will be sent to University Park for a free analysis.

Lyme disease is caused by Borrelia burgdorferi, a coiled bacteria or spirochete. Jacobs will determine the species of each tick he receives, but he can only test those ticks that arrive alive to see if they carry the Lyme disease bacteria.

"We'll send the results to our analysis back to the county office and Fritz will contact the person who sent us the tick," Jacobs said, stressing that this analysis is not a medical diagnosis. "We're only surveying the extent of the ticks and the disease spirochetes. We'll let a person know whether or not we found spirochetes in the tick, but we are not here to give medical advice."

Jacobs doesn't want people to actively search for ticks. "But if you find a tick on a person or animal, remove it with a set of fine forceps or tweezers." he said. "Grasp the tick by the mouthparts or as close to the skin of the host as possible and gently pull it straight out." Applying heat or chemical to remove a tick is risky. "That could make the tick regurgitate its stomach contents, increasing the chance of infection," Jacobs said.

The entomologists will be collecting ticks for the next three years, mapping areas of high and low spirochete counts. "We'd like to be able to chart the relative risks of going to Pinchot State Forest versus going to the Allegheny Plateau, for example. Right now that type of information just isn't available."

When the researchers have enough data, they will compare a county with a high incidence of Lyme disease to a county with a low incidence. "We'll examine similar habitats in those two counties to try to determine why one area has a high rate of disease and why the other does not," Jacobs said. The researchers ultimately hope to use this information to develop a program to advise Pennsylvanians on the relative risks associated with outdoor activities in various habitats.

Research Shows Ways To Improve Beef Sales

CHICAGO, Ill. — Cattlemen want to sell more beef — at a profit. A retail meat manager, however, wants to show a department profit, regardless of which meat he sells.

Can both businessmen, at opposite ends of the beef supply pipeline, get what they want? The answer is "yes," according to two beef checkoff-funded studies.

One study found retailers can increase sales and improve meat case profits by 4 percent if they keep their cases well stocked with a variety of beef cuts.

There are so many unknowns in the complex retail store process that meat managers often don't know which factors affect retail meat case profits, the study concluded.

"Many managers told us increased beef sales would not increase profits of the entire fresh meat category," said Sheila Courington, research project manager.

Courington, who is associate director of market research for the Meat Board, says the study tracked actual performance of 10 stores in two separate markets over three weeks. Movement of beef, veal, pork, lamb, chicken, and turkey was checked seven times a day to record the quantity of each item, the price per pound, price featuring and markdowns, and to note items out of stock.

The study found out-of-stocks, on average, exceeded 40 percent on 9 of the 39 beef cuts observed, but were maintained at less than 10 percent on only 5 beef cuts. The study also found when beef inventory is increased, gross margins in beef increase and overall fresh meat case gross margins increase.

"These results may surprise some managers," said Courington. "The study shows that, by increasing beef sales by 10 percent, meat managers can increase their overall profits by 4.3 percent."

Another opportunity to increase beef sales may be to use case-ready meats, a second study has found. Preliminary information from the study, which is still under way, reveals that 1 in 4 consumers has tried case-ready products and 3 out of 4 consumers who try the products are repeat purchasers.

Information already collected at the retail level includes interviews within 23 retail and wholesale companies. The study now is gathering consumer reactions in five market areas where case-ready beef products are offered. This portion of the study will include 2,000 in-store interviews, 500 follow-up telephone calls, and 5 focus groups.

Consumers say they like the consistent quality, tenderness, and extended shelf life of the freezer-ready, prepackaged beef products. More important, while there are several barriers to widespread acceptance of case-ready products, the study is finding that innovative merchandising and marketing can overcome most of these barriers, said Courington.

$1.25 Million To Supplement Checkoff Funding

DES MOINES, IOWA — The National Pork Board, at a regular meeting March 8 in Louisville, KY, appropriated $1.25 million in supplemental producer checkoff funding for several projects.

The supplemental grants are in addition to the $26.25 million already budgeted by the Pork Board for 1990 programs to be implemented through state and national producer-run organizations.

Pork Board President Hilman Schroeder of Sauk City, WI, said the supplemental funding was being provided because hog prices since last fall have been much stronger than initially projected, causing the board's reserve funds to build above levels viewed by the board as necessary.

A breakdown of the supplemental funding approved by the Pork Board at its March 8 meeting:

• The National Pork Producers Council (NPPC) will receive $610,000 to add five additional television target markets to the present 32 metropolitan television markets that will air Pork — The Other White Meat® advertising this year. The additional funding will allow the message to reach an additional 16 million consumers.

• NPPC also will recieve $110,000 in supplemental producer checkoff funding to develop a non-commercial food service program by mid-year. The additional funds will be used to target 50 of the largest non-commercial food service accounts (hospitals, nursing homes, etc.), representing about 40% of the giant food-service industry.

• NPPC and the Pork Industry Group of the National Livestock and Meat Board will share $200,000 in supplemental checkoff funds for the dissemination of information to consumers, health professionals, and producers about new pork nutrient data expected later this year.

• NPPC, in association with the U.S. Meat Export Federation, will receive $135,000 for additional U.S. pork promotion in the Orient and a study of the potential for U.S. pork sales in eastern and western Europe.

• NPPC will receive $145,000 to fund additional research in the animal care, molecular biology, and environmental management areas, and for a producer and consumer information project in the animal welfare area.

• The Pork Industry Group will receive $50,000 for additional work involving nutritional research.

There's a new breakthrough seed treatment for small grains.

BAYTAN 30
FUNGICIDE

Powerful, broad-spectrum protection against powdery mildew, rusts and smuts.

No other seed treatment can deliver more protection against major small grain diseases than new BAYTAN 30.

It's EPA cleared for use on wheat, barley, oats and rye, and university test plots over the past few years have proven that, where disease pressure is moderate to heavy, BAYTAN 30 will consistently produce an exceptional return on investment.

Since BAYTAN 30 is systemic, it is absorbed right into the plant's system, effectively controlling or suppressing seedborne and soilborne diseases for several weeks. Researchers from some production areas have reported that BAYTAN 30 will also effectively suppress take-all.

BAYTAN 30 also provides early season protection against the establishment of foliar diseases such as powdery mildew, leaf and stripe rust, and can be used in conjunction with your foliar fungicide program.

This exciting new seed treatment will be available only on seed sold through certified seed conditioners. So, for more information on BAYTAN 30 and the locations of certified seed conditioners near you, please contact the Gustafson office in Dallas, (214) 986-8877.

When you're up against moderate to heavy disease pressure, there isn't a better answer than new BAYTAN 30 Systemic Seed Treatment from Gustafson.

Thomas is responsible for all U.S. field crops production activities, and for providing production direction and support to the management of Northrup King's overseas affiliate companies.

Dr. Jim Mock has been named vice president of product management, field crops. Mock, previously vice president of field crops research, is responsible for organizing and managing Northrup King's new field crops product management group.

Tips On Applying Poultry Manure To Soil

Herbert C. Jordan,
Associate Professor of Poultry Science

Before May 11, thousands of tons of dry matter poultry manure will be applied to soils in Pennsylvania.

Average values of plant nutrient composition from laboratory tests indicate poultry manure is relatively high in nutrients. For example, fresh poultry manure contains on the average 30-20-10 pounds of N-P_2O_5-K_2O per ton, and dry poultry manure may contain 90-70-40 pounds of N-P_2O_5-K_2O or more.

The plant nutrient content of poultry manure varies widely. However, because of variation in poultry ration, age, and productivity of the animal, moisture content of manure can vary widely. Time in storage may cause wide variation in microbial activity in manure which may increase moisture content of manure or cause toxic gas to form. This can cause significant changes in the plant nutrient content of the manure. Odor increases with number of anerobic microbes. Unidentified factors in poultry manure, allowed to remain warm and wet for 28 days or longer in storage, can cause plant toxicity when applied to cropland.

More poultry manure is being dried and stored in cage houses today than ever before. This is done by controlling leaks in waterers, diverting outside surface water, stirring the manure, and drying it with fans. This reduces the weight of manure hauled to the field three- to sixfold as well as making the material more spreadable. This process also lowers the quantity or alters the quality of ammonia fumes in the house which seems to maintain bird health, growth rate, egg production, fertility, hatchability, and eggshell quality. Drying fresh manure before storage holds it nitrogen value and does not allow anerobic microbes to reproduce and generate odor, toxic gases, and other compounds.

Cropland usable

It is recommended that all poultry farms have a minimum of 2-5 acres of high quality cropland usable for manure disposal per 1,000 head of poultry capacity on the farm. The amount of acreage needed varies with the soil and crop. Useful acreage is interpreted by most farmers as being less than one mile from the barn or poultry house. Nearly all manure on most farms is spread in this area or even a smaller area. These guidelines result in fairly low annual application rates per acre.

A serious problem results in that it is nearly impossible to purchase a manure spreader in Pennsylvania that will apply 1-2 tons (dry matter) of poultry manure per acre as recommended. Most spreaders will spread 4-6 tons (dry matter) per acre at the minimum setting.

Some spreaders have little or no control of how much manure is applied, except for the speed of spreading. DRIVING A TRACTOR AND SPREADER TOO FAST MAIMS OR KILLS TRACTOR OPERATORS. Some new spreaders have hydraulic feed into the paddles that can be reduced for low quantity spreading. Some side-delivery spreaders have adjustable doors, also.

Soils receiving applications of poultry manure should be tested annually to determine build-ups of plant nutrient levels in soils. Excessive applications can cause nutrient imbalance and increase the soluble salt levels in soils, thereby causing crop yields to decrease. This soluble salt problem is usually greatest immediately after spreading. Excessive applications can easily lead to surface and groundwater pollution problems. Soil testing is a useful monitoring tool, and when used in conjunction with manure analyses, can provide guidance in determining appropriate agronomic and environmentally sound application rates. Details about soil and manure analysis can be obtained from any county cooperative extension service office.

Market for manure

The market for poultry manure as a fertilizer has strengthened since 1972 when less than 10 percent of all poultry manure or litter was sold. Now we estimate that 30 percent of all poultry manure is sold from Pennsylvania farms for prices ranging from $3 to $9 per ton for wet or chunky dry manure, to as high as $25 per ton for dry manure (less than 30 percent moisture) in bulk at the farm.

Bagged manure in farm and garden centers commonly sells for prices ranging from 3 to 10 cents per pound, depending on bag size. This is equivalent to 60 to 200 dollars per ton. One cannot accurately guess the plant nutrient content of manure. Thus it should be analyzed to determine its value. Manure analysis mailing kits are available from the county cooperative extension service offices.

The reason for most of the citations for pollution issued by authorities to farmers in Pennsylvania has been because of objectionable odor complaints filed by neighbors. Most of these have been because of wet manure or litter generating toxic gas or odor because it is stored more than 28 days without being dried. Other citations include, but are not limited to, water pollution or dust and feathers as a nuisance.

A few farmers have paid fines for polluting water on or nearby the farm or area where manure is spread. The potential for spread of avian disease agents, including avian flu, is present where fresh manure from an infected flock is spread near non-infected birds.

Using large amounts of manure and high level applications of commercial fertilizer together on the same acre is absolutely not recommended. Manure should be spread at least 30 days before planting time. If crop toxicity appears, extend spreading interval to 2 to 4 years, not annually.

May 1983 - This article was written in consultation with Dr. Ray Shipp and Dr. Doug Beegle, associate professors, extension specialists in agronomy extension.

Committee Approves Budget

CHICAGO, Ill. — A fiscal year budget of $606,000 was approved by the Deli/Prepared Meats Committee at its meeting March 18 held here in conjunction with the Meat Board annual meeting.

Along with heathcare professional, education, and media public relations programs, the budget includes $150,000 for the committee's new National Breakfast Month retail promotion. If successful in September, this pilot project could become an annual event, similar to National Meat Month, according to Bob Nissen, Webster City, Iowa, committee chairman.

The committee also voted unanimously to change its name from the Processed Meats Committee to the Deli/Prepared Meats Committee. According to Nissen, the newly adopted name better reflects the positive image the committee conveys about these products.

PUBLIC AUCTION OF MORRISON'S COVE
130 AC. DAIRY FARM with 2 HOMES
Wednesday,
April 11, 1990
@ 12:00 Noon

LOCATION: Approximately 5 miles Southeast of Martinsburg, Blair County, Pennsylvania, Morrison's Cove.

DIRECTIONS: Take Route 164 South of Martinsburg to first road on left after Atlantic Service Station (Clovercreek Road), go 5 miles east to United Church of Christ, turn right between Church and Cemetery to first farm.

This 49 tie Stanchion dairy bank farm is ready for pipeline and barn cleaners. Dairy has been sold several years ago. There is a 12'x35' steel silo, 30'x110' concrete bottom trench silo, 400 gallon bulk milk tank, corn barn and implement shed. Frame home has aluminum siding and has a life right (call for details). Second home is a brick 2½ story that the owner lives in. There are 4 bedrooms, 2 full baths, eat-in kitchen with dishwasher, range and refrigerator included, family room, and formal dining and living rooms. There is an oil fired hot water baseboard heating system.

Land is approximately 100 AC tillable, 30 woods and pasture. Limestone soil and fields have a gentle slope to buildings which are centrally located on total tract. There is a lovely trout stream running through the farm.

Property will be offered 2 ways with frame home, farm buildings and 130 AC and as a package with both homes, farm buildings and 130 acres.

Terms $50,000 down day of auction and immediate possession of fields and farm buildings. Balance on or before June 1, 1990.

PURINA

Dairy Tips By Dr. John Clark, P.A.S.

Purina Mills Dairy Consultant

MAKE SURE YOUR COWS HAVE ROOM ENOUGH TO EAT

The amount of feeding space needed to comfortably feed animals is determined by the size & number of animals that must eat at the same time. If all must eat at the same time, sufficient room must be provided for all of them to stand at the bunk simultaneously. If the bunk is always full & they can eat any time they're hungry, less space is needed.

Dry matter intake may be reduced drastically if bunk space is limited, especially during times of heat stress or for timid cows. Those that are crowded out will not consume a balanced ration resulting in lower production, reduced income & more problems.

Dairy housing & equipment guidelines recommend between 24 & 30 inches of bunk space for mature cows fed all at the same time. And, 4 to 6 inches per head if they have continuous access to feed at all times.

WHERE WILL YOUR BRED DAIRY HEIFERS BE IN 1991???

If they are on a balanced ration they will have gained 500 more pounds by January 1, 1991 and should be milking well in your herd. That's right, at 1.85 A.D.G. (average daily gain) your heifers still have time to gain 500 more pounds this year. Poorly fed heifers (1.0 A.D.G.) will be 230 pounds smaller and on average will milk 2000 pounds less milk the first year. It doesn't cost to feed heifers right, it PAYS!!! HEIFERS ARE YOUR FUTURE!!!! A balanced ration with Purina D&H Chow or Purina Easy Care Blocks will help you achieve your goals. With Spring work coming consider the labor savings of Easy Care Blocks.

ECONOMICAL - 500 lbs. is twice the feed vs a 240 lb. tub.

COMPLETE - A TOTAL supplement, it has protein, energy, minerals Vitamins, Selenium, and phos specifically for dry cows and dairy heifers.

WEATHERPROOF - rain or sun can't erode it so no waste

FLEXIBLE - can be fed on pasture or dry lot.

AVAILABLE - all heifers and dry cows can get to it, even small ones.

SELF-FED - saves time and labor all season.
